Council Okays Ward Changes

The City Council met Tuesday to approve boundary changes in two voting wards. The boundary change will make ward 4 smaller and more manageable for election officials.

The boundary changes are for ward 3, precinct 1, and ward 4, precinct 1.

Ward 3, precinct 1, was bounded on the west by the Frisco Railroad tracks and on the east by New Madrid Street. The change moves the eastern line from New Madrid Street to Warner. The western boundary was unchanged.

The lines for 4-1 will be Warner to South Ingram instead of South New Madrid to Pine Street.

Both precincts are bounded on the north by Malone Avenue and on the south by the city limits.

City officials will also mark the registration cards of all voters living in the New Madrid County section of town to prevent them from voting in Scott County elections.

A number of New Madrid County residents accidentally voted in Scott County in August and county election officials have been seeking a solution to the problem since.

The council also accepted the low bid of M and O Construction Company of Portageville to do the excavation work for the baseball diamonds at the recreational complex near the airport.

The company bid 34.3 cents per cubic yard of dirt moved. The high bid was $1.50 per yard.

The company will be excavating about 30,000 yards of dirt.

Workshops Planned

JEFFERSON CITY —School bus drivers from Southeast Missouri will be attending child safety workshops this fall in Poplar Bluff on Nov. 29 and Cape Girardeau on Nov. 30.

These one -day workshops --there will be 24 across the state --are sponsored by the State Department of Education and will stress traffic safety, accident prevention, emergency procedures and school bus discipline.

Statistics reveal Missouri's local school districts are responsible for the operation of about 7,500 school busses which transport more than 600,000 youngsters twice daily.

The department of education considers the workshops vital to school bus programs, since accident totals have decreased nine per cent each of the last two years, but total injuries have increased since 1970.

FRED VAN REMORTEL, second from right, director of Economic Development Administration's Rocky Mountain Region officer in Denver, toured three of Missouri's vocational - technical schools Tuesday. FBI To Probe Wheat Deal

Agnew Suggests Wiretap Set Up

ST. LOUIS AP —Vice President Spiro T. Agnew has suggested that somebody set up the wiretapping raid on Democratic headquarters and the tipped authorities in an effort to embarrass the Republican party.

Advancing that as a personal theory while saying he had no evidence of it, Agnew demonstrated that when he goes campaigning -in his new style as in his old -controversy is virtually assured.

On opening day of his 1972 travels for the Republican ticket, Agnew dealt with two of the most controversial items on the campaign agenda, the Watergate wiretapping, which Democrats are blaming on the GOP, and assertions -which he disputed -that big grain dealers profited from advance word of a U.S. wheat sale to the Soviet Union.

Agnew was campaigning today in St. Louis, with his first appearance scheduled at the dedication of a new juvenile detention center.

After the dedication and a St. Louis speech, Agnew was to move on to Columbus, Ohio. third stop on an eight -state campaign tour.

The vice president Tuesday likened Democratic allegations about the wheat deal to Democratic assertions about the Watergate break -in case, saying the opposition raised an "innuendo of impropriety" without demonstrating anything.

Agnew told a news conference in Minneapolis that President Nixon had asked the Federal Bureau of Investigation to look thoroughly into the wheat deal "to see whether anyone has taken any undue profit, due to any misinformation or improperly revealed information on the part of the federal government."

In Washington, a Justice Department spokesman said: "A preliminary review of the matter referred to by Vice President Agnew is under way."

Dealing with the Watergate case, Agnew said that whoever is guilty of involvement in the raid on Democratic national headquarters in Washington June 17 should be punished, "and insofar as they relate to Republican policy -makers, if that can be shown, we have to take the consequences."

But Agnew said he is convinced "that just didn't happen," and that no top level Republican is involved.

A grand jury has indicted seven men, including five seized inside Democratic headquarters, on charges of illegally entering and conspiring to bug the offices. The other two are former White House aides.

Lawrence F. O'Brien, McGovern's campaign chairman, has filed an invasion -of -privacy suit, naming top Republicans.

"I have a personal theory that I can't substantiate any more than Mr. O'Brien can substantiate his wild accusations," Agnew said.

"What I'm saying is that someone set up these people and encouraged them to undertake this caper to embarrass them and to embarrass the Republican party," he added. "I'm saying there could be someone within this group who was not interested in anything other than having them discovered."

Agnew said in a speech prepared for the juvenile center dedication that the real test for the center will come when a delinquent walks out of it at the end of his stay.

"Correction must be prevention," Agnew said, praising St. Louis County efforts to deal with juvenile delinquency.

Agnew said it has become an ideological cliche to speak of the root causes of crime, which symbolizes an approach "that simply doesn't work."

He said the root cause of crime centers on the problem of the individual criminal. "If we are to deal effectively with crime we must begin by dealing effectively with that individual," he said.

"But the notion that we should restructure our society so that the criminal feels more confortable in it is a specious one.

"The valid approach — the belief that the individual criminal should be rehabilitated — reformed, so to speak is the one we are concerned with today," Agnew said.

COOL THOUGHT ON A HOT SUBJECT

As it is with nearly every problem that comes along, there's more talk than action these days about saving the ecology, preserving our natural resources, and conserving power. It is most encouraging, therefore, when a businessman comes along with a very practical and down-to-earth suggestion that could help us in all three areas.

We speak specifically of Mr. Thomas Berg of San Antonio, Texas. Since Mr. Berg is President of a firm that manufacturers room air conditioners (Friedrich Refrigerators, Inc.) one would assume that he would say: "Buy more room air conditioners." Instead, his firm is spreading the message; "Don't buy more than you need; and when you do buy a room air conditioner, make sure that you have the most efficient unit available."

Mr. Berg insists that no one questions the right of Americans to the comfort produced by room air conditioners for working, sleeping, or for daily summer living. But, he adds, people with room air conditioners in the United States are now using approximately 26 billion kilowatt hours of electricity more than necessary at a time when the energy power of this country is limited and brownouts and blackouts threaten many localities. He furthermore figures that these same people could be saving $543 million a year on their electric bills if they bought cooling united with no more capacity than is needed, and by making sure that they bought high efficiency models.

According to the Friedrich people, the efficiency of a room air conditioner can be determined by dividing the number of BTU's (capacity listed on the name plate) by the number of watts (also on the name plate). The higher the resulting figure, the more efficient the unit and the less it will cost to operate. A rating of nine or more indicates that the unit will produce substantial cooling at low cost.

With folks buying these handy coolers at the rate of over five million units a year, thereby committing our over-taxed power systems to provide an overloaded 3½ billion kilowatt hours of electricity a year, it makes sense to buy thoughtfully to conserve the energy supplies this country needs — and to help fight inflation by reducing electric bills.

VISUAL INSULT

The Senate's vote for a two-year moratorium on tearing down billboards can only be interpreted as a craven surrender to the landscape pollution lobby. The excuse that the delay applies only to signs offering "specific information in the interest of the traveling public" is no excuse at all. That definition covers virtually all billboards.

Nor is there any merit in the purported justification that the postponement is needed to allow the development of alternative ways to provide highway information on service stations, restaurants and other services. Such alternative methods already exist — and are being used in some areas — in the form of all-in-one informational centers at rest stops, or small roadside commercial logotypes which inform motorists where they can get their favorite products or services.

After nearly 15 years of delay since the enactment of the first federal billboard control law, the Senate moratorium action, against Administration objections, is nothing more than a vote for continued visual insults to the traveling public.

KNOCKING OFF
THE PRODUCERS

Everyday we read of political candidates, in particular, who crusade to close the tax loopholes and redistribute the wealth by slapping ever-heavier taxes on those who earn a bit more money. Nothing is said about the rewards society receives by permitting enterprising individuals to prosper from constructive use of their talents.

For instance, a news report tells of an inventor who is 62 years old and has worked for 30 years at the "... mundane fitting of pipes and bending of sheet metal ..." in a tireless effort to create a new type of power plant – a gas turbine engine to be used in cars. He believes he has perfected a system that makes the gas turbine engine not only more powerful, but capable of meeting the 1976 air pollution standards right now. But what happens if he succeeds in producing his dream of a pollution - free gas turbine engine at the very time when society and government regulators are demanding clean air. Will he be allowed to keep the rewards of his work or will the tax collector jump on him with both feet the moment he earns an extra dollar?

The irony of the situation is obvious. Everone wants and even demands a better life, but then they proceed to knock off the head of anyone who is smart enough and enterprising enough to help give them the good life they want.

The history books are full of nations that have followed this philosophy to destruction.

LISTEN NOW!

While we listen to the prattly of TV commentators, editorial columnists and political candidates about economics, nothing could shock the complacent consumer more than to drive into his service station and find gasoline prices posted at say $2 a gallon. The fact is that it is time when motorists and everyone else dependent upon the continuing flow of petroleum products should heed the warnings of those who have seen the handwriting on the wall and know what must be done to stave off an irreversible energy shortage crisis.

O. N. Miller, chairman of the board of Standard Oil Company of California, not long ago said in the most explicit way possible, "... that the U.S. is facing a potential energy shortage ... exploration in the U.S. has been discouraged by tax increases, environmental restrictions, and administration of the federal oil-import quota system in a manner that often encourages destructive price cutting in the industry. Deterrents to U. S. exploration can and must be corrected by redirection of government policies and improved prices. When those things occur, domestic exploration will ... surge forward again ... it is not too late for solutions -- but it is, indeed, late enough."

As a practical matter, it is time the American public refused to go along with the easy assumption that only politicians speak for the public interest. The greatest public interest spokesmen at this time are those in the energy industry who are trying to awaken us to the facts of our energy - based life before it is too late -- before prices become playthings of scarcity rather than incentives for greater production.

SEEDS REACT TO
JET SOUND

It's a noisy jet that blows nobody any good.

Four scientists at the University of North Carolina in Greensboro have discovered that the kind of noise produced by a jetliner taking off causes turnip seeds to germinate faster than normally.

The researchers subjected both dry and wet turnip seeds to a level of noise equivalent to that of a 727 revving up 100 feet away on the runway. The noise had no affect on dry seeds, reports Science News. But wet seeds germinated in about 10 per cent less time and had about a 100 per cent higher germination rate than seeds in a quite environment.

One explanation is that the sound waves break down the exterior coating of a seed in some way that lets water and oxygen enter more easily. Another theory is that the waves affect the interiors of cells within the seed.

The research opens up at least two interesting possibilities.

In hot regions of the earth, for example, ground temperature is often so high that seeds planted go into a state of dormancy. Sound irradiation might break up that dormancy and permit two crops a season instead of one.

Sound waves might also be used to make weeds germinate before a field is planted. They could then be destroyed by being plowed under and the desired crop sown in a weed-free field

The scientists admit that broadcasting airport- level noise over the countryside is not an appealing prospect. Work is going forward to see if particular wavelengths or combinations of wavelengths can produce the same effects at lower decibel levels, and also to determine the minimum duration of noise needed.

If the questions are answered favorably, suggests Science News, the day may come when farmers set up loudspeakers to play noise at their crops even as they now play music in their barns to keep the cows contended.

OUR $OLONS ON THE GO

Speaking of spending abroad, Congress made 1971 a record year for foreign travel. Members of both houses and staff spent $1,114,387 in public funds on trips aboard, according to a Congressional Quarterly study of congressional travel, up from $825,118 the previous year.

More than half the membership of Congress — 221 representatives and 53 senators — at some time during the year was abroad on official business.

141 YEARS OF
"MAIN STREET, U.S.A."

Kevin Phillips, native New Yorker, recently visited Paris and wrote a political column headed "The Judgement of Paris,Mo."

In it he described Paris as: "Paris, France and this small Missouri town are worlds apart. Here the phone booth in front of the county courthouse smells of hay and Purina chows, and Main Street looks like a Sinclair Lewis reject".

The editor worked in Paris, France for over six months and as far as he is concerned, he'd rather smell hay than the open latrines on the streets of Paris, France.

Although we thought Phillips reflected accurately the general thinking of people here on the McGovern candidacy, we also think he did not see Main Street as it really is to observant American who have not spent most of their lives in New York and the congested areas of the East.

He failed to realize that in its appearance and its buildings, Main Street of Paris, Mo., is actually a record of 141 years of Middle America, ranging from the days of the pioneers who fought the Indians and often lived off the wild life of the area, down to the present jet-age, and direct call telephones.

It is really "Main Street, U.S.A.", and its history.

It's buildings do present a sort of "coat of many colors", and architectural hodge- podge, but the knowledgeable close observer will see on it examples of the earliest l. .nd-made brick buildings and others that have been erected or remodeled in each decade for the last 141 years.

Instead of wishing we had unifrom, dictated and modern appearance, we ought to appreciate the history of Mid-American town building that is so plainly written in the architecture of these buildings, old and new. Perhaps we could get others such as Mr. Phillips to come to an appreciation of this fact if we'd research the history of each building, its period of architecture and its age, the signifigant events connected with the age in which it was built, and label each building with inscriptions carrying that information.

It would probably be the only town in the world with such a Main Street, and unquestionably would attract wide attention from tourists and many of our home people, and give them considerable pleasure as well as a liberal education in how Mid- America developed.

AN INTERESTING
EXPERIMENT

The philosophy of taking "from each according to his ability," and giving "to each according to his need" sounds humane and has had a substantial following among socialist, communist and idealistic young.

A New York high school teacher conducted an interesting experiment with his students. He suggested to them that they take away 20 grade points from those who made a grade of 95 on a test, giving them to those who made only 55 on the same test. This way, both would receive a passing mark. The brighter or more diligent students would be contributing in accordance with their ability, while the less intelligent -- or less diligent -- students would receive in accordance with their need. The instructor then speculated with his students as to the probable results if he were to actually apply this socialist - communist philosophy. The first result would be that the highly productive students would lose the incentive to work for higher grades. The second result would be that the less productive students would be relieved of any obligation to study or to produce. The teacher observed that, "At that point, in order for anyone to survive, the 'authority' would have no alternative but to begin a system of compulsory labor and punishments against even the low producers ..."

This is precisely what happens in an entire society when productive incentive is taxed to death and the nonproducers ride on the backs of the producers.

ANOTHER STORY

Although the Nixon Administration persists in discounting the nation's unemployment problem by emphasizing the rising number of persons with jobs, the actual Government figures, shorn of their public relations interpretation, tell another story.

Mr. Nixon and his apologists boast that employment during his term has risen more than 4,000,000. In August the figure was 81,970,000 compared to 77,902,000 in the last year of the Johnson Administration. But while jobs are up 5.2 per cent, unemployment is up a staggering 72 per cent, from 2,817,000 in 1968 to 4,857,000 last month.

In other words, under Mr. Nixon, only two of each three additional members of the labor force have been able to find work. That figures out to an unemployment rate for Nixon- era job seekers of 33 per cent. If the 750,000 to 1,000,000 who have dropped out of the job market because they have given up on finding a job (and therefore are not officially unemployed) are considered, the ratio worsens, and so would the overall 5.6 unemployment rate, which is more than half again as high as when the Administration came to Washington nearly four years ago.

Another aspect that the press releases tend not to stress is that the unemployment problem — in terms of numbers — is not confined to blacks and other minorities, even though their unemployment rate is 70 per cent higher than the national average. Actually, there are four whites unemployed for every nonwhite looking for work, a situation that has actually deteriorated under the Nixon Administration, because the ratio in 1968 was slightly less — 3.8 to 1. Another way to stating the same information is to note that minority unemployment under Mr. Nixon has increased 63 per cent, from 590,000 to 963,000, while white unemployment has increased 75 per cent, from 2,226,000 to 3,894,000.

When those figures are translated into individual human lives, the personal despair and the social loss of productivity combine to tell a tragic story of waste and misuse of the nation's most important resource, its people. In spite of the press agentry, President Nixon ought to be held accountable.

THE ETNERNAL WANT

A philosopher has said that it is not so much a matter of what we have as what we do with what we have that makes the difference in this world. This philosophy is illustrated with the following facts:

Longfellow could take a worthless sheet of paper, write a poem on it and make it worth $6,000. That's genius.

Rockefeller could sign his name to a piece of paper and make it worth a million. That's capital.

Uncle Sam can take silver, stamp an emblem on it, and make it worth a dollar. That's money.

A mechanic can take metal that is worth only five dollars and make it worth fifty dollars. That's skill.

An artist can take a 50c piece of canvas, paint a picture on it and make it worth $1,000. That's art.

WAR ENDING

The last of the U.S. ground combat force in Vietnam is coming home. They are coming home with honor even though they were never allowed to win a clear -cut decision of arms in the field. For all too many years, their efforts were curtailed by the failure of the politicians in Washington to unleash all -out attacks by air on the communist forces of the North. Air strikes are severe now but they come as the combat infantryman is withdrawn and his place filled by the South Vietnamese. In recent months, the South Vietnamese soldier has acquitted himself well.

The U.S. Army has had more than its share of troubles since going ashore in Asia in the 1960s. It has been accused of murdering civilians, of wholesale use of illicit drugs and of scandal. The average G.I., however, has fought well and bravely against a clever and resourceful enemy.

If criticism must be showered on our efforts in this war, it should be aimed at the political leaders. They forgot the adage of Gen. MacArthur who believed rightfully that "there is no substitute for victory". Our failure to carry the war to the enemy homeland and deprive him of his war -making potential throttled any chance we had of winning a total decision. History can record it no other way.

To the returning infantryman, we say "well done," you are the one who suffered and fought. Your heads should be held high. You would have been victorious had you not been restrained. HLH

The best laid plans of mice and men, not to mention women, invariably go astray when vacation time rolls along.

No matter how early you start, no matter how many lists you make, something is bound to happen that leaves you with a last-minute flurry of unpacked necessities, unconfirmed reservations and and unsettled nerves.

This year I was determined to beat the system.

Our passports were in order. So were our smallpox vaccination certificates, even though you don't need them these days to get back in the country.

The trains, the planes and the mails all were reported to be in working order. Unlike the year there was a postal strike in Britain. Grudgingly, I placed a transatlantic phone call to make hotel reservations in England only to be told: "Can't you confirm it in writing, please?"

This year, I mailed neatly typed letters — carefully filing the carbons — a full three weeks before departure.

Of course I managed to misaddress one of them, sending it to the wrong address in the wrong city in the wrong county. Somehow those British postmen, now back on the job thank goodness, got the letter on the right track and I received an answer. After a longenough delay to allow for considerable worrying — on my part — and derision — on my husband's.

Then there was the problem of laundry. Anyone who's ever packed for vacation knows that it takes at least a master's degree in mathematics to figure out just when to do the last laundry before leaving. Timing is crucial so the whole family has enough clean clothes to take along and enough clean clothes to wear before departure. Naturally, somebody always winds up with one too few pair of something.

Planning where to go is simple, right? Wrong.

Three weeks before we were to leave our itinerary was set. Then someone suggested another option. Two weeks before departure day we were wavering.

Another friend talked about the crowds. Maybe we should change plans. And what about the weather? One week before leaving we were more uncertain still.

An article in a travel magazine offered further possibilities. Returning coworkers told of marvelous — and cheap — little hotels.

Departure day is one day off. Our destination? Uncertain.

But at least everything's packed. Or is it? And did I turn off the lights? What about telling the mailman to hold our letters?

Next year I must get organized.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — Two miles off the glittering beaches of Capetown, South Africa, is tiny Robben Island, which has become internationally knows as one of the world's most notorious prisons.

This is where the white -controlled South African government puts black political prisoners. Conditions are atrocious. Inmates have difficulty obtaining reading matter or even consulting their clergymen.

When former U.S. Attorney General Ramsey Clark visited South Africa two years ago, he sought permission to visit the tightly -guarded island, but was refused.

To the chagrin of top U.S. embassy officials in Capetown, American Ambassador John Hurd, a tall Texan who has given thousands to the Republican party, has succeeded in visiting the island --to go pheasant hunting.

With a pack of beagles leading the way and two men from the prison to pick up the dead birds, Hurd went shooting with Ben Schoeman, the South African minister of transportation.

Nor is this the first time Hurd has displayed callousness toward the black population in South Africa. He has been known to refer to blacks there as "Nigras." He also fought vigorously, although ultimately unsuccessfully, against the appointment of a black diplomat to the U.S. embassy in Pretoria.

When the South African government --using taxes levied both from its white and black citizens --built a fabulous new opera house for whites only, Hurd horrified even some South African whites by accepting an invitation to attend a gala opening bash.

And when Rep. Charles Diggs, D —Mich., began raising questions about whether Hurd would attend, the State Department discreetly arranged for him to be away from Capetown that day.

When we sought comment on the Robben Island hunt, neither Hurd nor other U. S. embassy officials in South Africa would discuss it. The State Department will say only that they have no "official word" that Hurd went on the mini -safari.

We reached Schoeman by telephone in South Africa and he insisted that the prison help he and Hurd had on their excursion was not prisoners but prison employees. However, reports persist that at least some of the helpers were prisoners.

Footnote: The Nixon Administration first sought to send Hurd to Venezuela as ambassador, but the nomination had to be dropped because Hurd was so deeply involved in the Venezuelan oil business that his appointment would have created a conflict of interest.

— HAMMER AND SICKLE —

The Soviet Union, which is now bargaining with oil man Armand Hammer on one of the biggest private commercial deals in Moscow's history, has good reason to smile on the spry 78 -year -old Hammer.

Dr. Hammer negotiated the multibillion dollar contract for oil, gas, metal, fertilizer and other products from a position of sentimental as well as economic strength.

It has been frequently reported how, 50 years ago, Hammer pulled off a similar if smaller deal with the help of Bolshevik leader V.I. Lenin.

Now we have turned up a letter in which Lenin tells how Hammer's father, Dr. Julius Hammer, helped arrange to get U.S. grain to workers in the Urals.

Lenin spoke sympathetically of both Hammers, father and son, although Armand Hammer syas today his recollection is that his father really had nothing to do with the grain deal.

Lenin had good reason, in any case, to view the elder Hammer with kindly eyes. As a well -to -do physician, Hammer senior was an early financial angel of the newly -formed Communist party in New York. Thus, young Hammer went to Russia for his original 1921 deal with excellent credentials.

Elephant -like, Communists never forget. When Hammer arrived in Moscow again in 1972, the Russian leaders had the red carpet rolled out for him.

Soviet foreign trade minister Nicolai Patolichev even had a special recollection of Armand Hammer as he introduced him to Soviet Premier Alexel Kosygin.

Patolichev recalled that, as a school boy, he used lead pencil's from Hammer's concession factory in Russia. "Now, I've graduated to ball point pencils," he remarked at the meeting between Hammer and Kosygin.

SEATTLE (AP) — Paul W. Heck thought he had adequate protection from burglars. His arsenal included 10 pistols, two carbine rifles, a submachine gun, 10,000 rounds of ammunition. He reported to police that burglars broke in and stole it all, taking five cameras as good measure.

Additional Man Would Solve Party Crisis

Dear Ann Landers: My husband is a highly -placed executive. I worked for nearly 20 years in another organization where I did very well. I quit to take life easier and do the type of home entertaining that Brad feels is vital to his career.

A certain woman who worked as Brad's secretary for five years is causing me some sleepless nights and quiet anguish. He promoted her to Assistant Loan Officer a few months after her husband died. I was very surprised (as well as disturbed) because the man who should have had the promotion was skipped over. Brad said he did it because the "distraught widow" needed more money and an emotional boost. Every now and then Brad will tell me he took "the distraught widow" to lunch because she seemed depressed. (He has no idea how these little lunches depress ME --and I'd never let on.)

We are giving a large party soon and Brad wants to invite this woman. The thought of it burns me to a crisp. Yet if I refuse I might reveal my apprehension which is the last thing in the world I want to do. Please tell me how to play this, Ann. You seem to have your head on straight, which is more that I can say for myself at the moment. ---Kooked Up In Kalifornia

Dear Kal: Invite "the distraught widow" and find an attractive, unattached man to be her escort, Dummy.

Dear Ann Landers: I was in the hospital having my fourth daughter when I read in your column that the male determines the sex of the child. I clipped it out and am saving it for my mother - in -law. When she comes tomorrow I will hand it to her --with pleasure.

The first voice I heard when I came out of the anesthetic was hers. She said, "Don't feel bad, dear. You are still young. Maybe next time you will give us a grandson." I told her there wasn't going to be any "next time," that 35 was not so young ---especially after three Caesarians. I have had it with the joys of motherhood and I let her know it. She looked hurt, as if I had let the family down.

Now that you've made it clear that I am not "to blame" I feel better than I have in years. Bless you. Thank you. I love you, Ann Landers. —— Clarkson Hospital, Omaha

Dear O.: A woman who has produced four daughters needn't feel that she has let anybody down, my dear. Four queens isn't a bad hand in anybody's game. Glad I helped clarify the situation.

Dear Ann Landers: Recently you said the frequently -repeated statement that vodka and gin do not produce hangovers was "a lot of malarky.' You are correct about this, however, please be aware that vodka is plain ethyl alcohol whereas bourbon whisky and some fortified wines contain a number of amyl alcohols called fusels, somewhat similar to the barbiturates. It is a chemical fact of life that ounce for ounce, whiskies, bourbons, wines, iet. are more apt to produce hangovers that vodia –as anyone who has tried them all will tell you.

So watch it, Ann. ---Hung At Hanover

Dear Han: I don't have to watch it, Bub. Tomato juice on the rocks is my drink.

That well -touted beverage that is supposed to leave you "breathless" can also render you senseless. And this, it seems to me, is more important than whether or not you wake up hung -over.

Students Named To Risco H.S. Yearbook Staff

Jane Smelser was named editor; Keith Davidson and Marilynn Kellick, co -editors; Myra Keaster, business manager; and Elton Bates, Dicky Allen, Bill Swiney, Doris Wood, David Crouthers, Debbie Stone, Nancy Cummins, Stanley Miller, David May, Kevin Carlisle, Paulette Vincent and Karen Jones, staff members.

The annual Tigerama Talent Contest and Coronation Ceremony will be Oct. 27.

NEW CHEVROLET NAME PLATE — A distinctive European flavor, both in styling and handling and roadability, highlights the new Chevelle Laguna which is available in two and four-door pillar hardtop models and four-door station wagon models. Urethane impact-resistant front bumper, new grille with single unit power beam lamps are highlights of the Laguna. There is more interior roominess front and rear and 2.5 cubic - feet of additional luggage space. Introduction date for all Chevrolets is Thursday, September 21.

Chevrolet, which sells more cars and trucks than any other manufacturer in the world, in 1973 will offer three product lines that are completely new from the ground up ... the Monte Carlo, the division's personal luxury car; an all-new Chevelle; and a completely restyled line of pickup trucks, Chevrolet's first new pickup truck in six years.

The 1973 Chevrolets, featuring seven car series ... from the top-of-the line Caprice to the versatile Vega ... give America's automobile buyer the greatest choice of styling features and safety innovations ever offered in the division's 62-year history.

In the model year that just ended, Chevrolet broke its all time past sales record. Along the way new sales records were established for the Corvette, the Monte Carlo, the Caprice, the Nova, and the Vega ... which gives some idea of the breadth of Chevrolet's current sales strength.

John Z. DeLorean, a General Motors vice president and general manager of Chevrolet, stated that "the '73 models are substantially improved in roadability, comfort and styling."

"In addition," DeLorean added, "Chevrolet dealers are undertaking an all new service program, called Service Supremacy, which should result in a giant step toward better service.

"The addition of an improved product and improved service to the momentum built in the past year should guarantee a super year for Chevrolet in 1973," he concluded.

The 1973 Chevrolet passenger cars and trucks are scheduled for public introduction on Thursday, September 21.

All told, Chevrolet will offer 47 passenger car models in '73, eight more than in the previous year.

The new Monte Carlo ... one of the industry's strongest candidates for Car-of- the- Year honors ... has outstanding handling and roadability characteristics.

From its new impact resistant bumper and new roofline to its sculptured taillights, the Monte Carlo has redesigned interiors, instrument panel and steering wheel.

Also new is an acoustically - engineered double- panel roof while a power - operated all-metal sliding roof is optional.

Another customer- plus is a new 22-gallon fuel tank.

The full-size standard Chevrolet ... -the industry's top selling car ... offers a new luxury series ... the top- of - the-line Caprice Classic.

The Classic sports a convertible model for the first time along with two and four-door hardtops and a four-door sedan.

Also offered are two and three-seat Caprice Estate wagons which have a 125-inch wheelbase and the popular Glide-Away tailgate.

New station wagon names in 1973 are keyed to comparable Chevrolet series. Thus the former Kingswood becomes the Impala wagon and the Bel Air replaces the former Brookwood station wagon in the Chevrolet lineup.

Both Nova and Camaro have new model entries in 1973.

The Nova hatchback coupe features a lift-away deck and six-feet of flat floor when the rear seat is in a downward position. Utility is the hallmark of this remarkabiey - handling small-family car either for in-town shopping for for country cruising or camping.

The newest member of the Camaro family is the Camaro Type LT coupe, a luxury touring model which has a 145-horsepower, Turbo - Fire 350 cubic inch engine.

New styling and handling highlight, too, Chevelle for 1973 along with the introduction into the line of the Colonnade hardtop design. The Chevelle is offered in three series ... top-of-the line luxury Laguana, popular Malibu and a new base deluxe model.

In addition, the SS option is available on Malibu Colonnade hardtop coupes and Malibu station wagons.

Wheelbases for the Chevelle include 112-inch for coupes, and 116-inch for sedans.

At the same time, new names adorn Chevelle's wagon line-up including the Laguana Estate and Laguana; Malibu Estate and Malibu; and Deluxe.

Two and three-seat wagons are offered in all Chevelle series.

A new, improved Vega offers eight new exterior colors ... four exclusive to this car line. Four Vega models are the hatchback coupe, notchback coupe, Kammback wagon and panel express truck.

America's only production sports car ... the Corvette ... features evolutionary changes which include an impact-resistant front bumper, side guard beams, hide-a-way windshield wipers, a new air induction system for the engine, steel-belted radial ply tires and a new Turbo-Jet 454- cubic - inch V8 power plant.

Chevrolet in 1973 offers a wide variety of new colors. Availability includes 16 paints and seven extra-cost vinyl tops.

All paint and top colors except black (new for the Chevelle) and white are new. Fifty-three color combinations are obtainable with the new paint and vinyl top offerings.

Highlights by car line are as follows:

CHEVROLET:

The industry's leading seller, the full-sized Chevrolet sports a brand new Caprice Classic convertible for the first time along with two roomy, 125-inch wheelbase top-of-the line Caprice Estate station wagons. The new Caprice Classic lineup also offers a coupe, a sport sedan and a four-door sedan.

Two and three-seat wagons also are available in both Bel Air and Impala series.

The popular Impala offers four models including a custom coupe, a sport coupe, a sport sedan and a four-door sedan while the Bel Air series offers a single four-door sedan only. Both Caprice and Impala models offer standard V8 engines while the Bel Air offers both V8 and six- cylinder. The six-cylinder is not available on the Bel Air station wagon.

Styling features on the new Caprice are wider front grille with prominent vertical bars and bright accents, new header panel and fender caps, and a new impact resistant bumper with built-in parking lamps and center license plate mounting.

Inside, the Caprice offers four knit-cloth and vinyl plus one brocade cloth and vinyl choice for coupe and sedan. Three all-vinyl interiors are available on the convertible while a new soft-rim steering wheel has cushioned center for all full-sized Chevy models.

MONTE CARLO:

Sculptured side and rear-quarter panels, a distinctive Landau top, along with revolutionary handling and roadability make the Monte Carlo a top candidate for Car-of-the Year honors.

The Monte Carlo Landau is designed to achieve the ultimate in personal luxury vehicle comfort offering a sturdier frame, a new highly - refined and tuned suspension system, wider wheel treads, new body mounts, new suspension goemetry concept.

The power steering ratio is revised downward to 15.1 from 16.1 of the previous year. At the same time, steering effort is increased from 14.5 inch-pounds to 17 inch -pounds. These latter two revisions increase steering sensitivity and road feel through steering wheel and contribute importantly to the on-center steering feel improvement.

The confident road feel of the '73 Monte Carlo results from an increase in the caster angle of the front wheels. This increased caster angle of five degrees over last year's model gives Monte Carlo greater self-aligning torque.

Available on the Monte Carlo S and Landau models is an individualized body acoustical package, rear suspension stabilizer bar and new GR70 x 15 radial ply tires.

The 1973 Monte Carlo offers American motorists for the first time roadability, handling, and quiteness never before experienced by the driver of a standard-sized American automobile.

CHEVELLE:

New Colonnade two and four-door hardtop coupe and sedan models are offered in the Malibu series. An "SS" package for the Malibu coupe as well as station wagon is offered for the first time.

Station wagons now carry the same names as their sedan and coupe counterparts. Chevelle station wagon models for 1973 are offered in three series ... Laguna and Laguna Estate wagon, Malibu and Malibu Estate wagon and the DeLuxe.

NOVA:

The Nova model line-up in 1973 is increased from two to six models consisting of a new hatchback coupe, a regular coupe and four-door sedan in two series, including a new personal luxury Nova Custom.

A new counter-balanced swing-up rear door exposing a fully - carpeted six-feet of flat floor (27.3 cubic feet) with rear seat in downward position highlights the new custom hatchback coupe. The totally flat floor was achieved through redesign of fuel tank (new 21-gallon capacity) and addition of space-saver spare tire.

A choice of three Turbo-Fire V8 engines is available. The 175 hp four-barrel V-8 with dual exhaust is available for the first time in the sedan and hatchback. This power plant was formerly restricted to the coupe model as part of the optional Super Sport package.

A trailering axle ratio is also available with this engine when Turbo Hydra-matic transmission is ordered.

CAMARO:

The all-new Camaro Type LT coupe is a luxury touring model with special exterior and interior appearance features. Special suspension, wall trim, special LT steering wheel emblem highlight the interiors. LT exterior package includes dual sport-mirrors, hide-a-way windshield wipers, a lower body side molding with accent paint treatment, LT emblems and 14 x 7 Rally wheels.

The Z28 model features a new 245 hp Turbo-Fire 350 V8 engine with hydraulic valve lifters and a new open-element air cleaner for "power - on - demand" sound. Optional air conditioning is available for the first time with this engine.

VEGA AND CORVETTE:

Evolutionary changes highlight changes for 1973 for both these models.

Vega again offers four body styles including hatchback coupe, notchback coupe, Kammback wagon and panel express truck. Vega also offers new front bumper with stronger mounting for improved protection, new Chevy - built three and four-speed manual transmissions with improved shift linkage design and improved emmission control system.

Quieter ride and even greater handling abilities characterize the 1973 Corvette as one of the most sought after true production sports cars in the world.

In addition, two Stingray versions are offered .... a two-passenger coupe and convertible. The convertible comes equipped with standard folding top, while its hardtop is the removable version option - type.

A new Turbo-Fire 350-cubic inch V8 with hydraulic lifters is offered along with the new 454 V8 and automatic Turbo Hydra-matic transmission available on all engine options.

OPEN SATURDAY NIGHTS TIL 7:00 PM

It's 1973, and Chevrolet roofs are opening, seats are swiveling, bumpers are retracting, hatches are flipping up.

Did you ever have so much to talk about that you didn't know what to say first?

We're happy to report that's us for 1973. But since everything must begin somewhere . . .

Isn't it romantic?

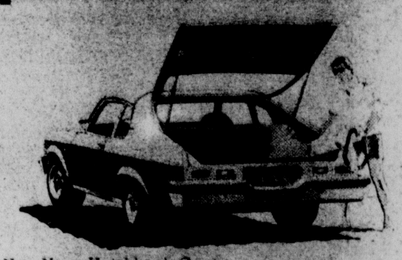
You see that rectangle beaming at you from above? That's a moon-roof. Not to be confused with a sunroof. (Although many people will undoubtedly be caught using it like one.) A power roof is available on Chevelle and Monte Carlo; a manual one on Nova.

Bumpers are exciting?

This year's are something to get stirred up about. One of our new bumpers, for example, is built around twin hydraulic cylinders. So on minor impact, the whole system retracts to cushion the shock.

It's standard on all big Chevrolet, Chevelle and Monte Carlo models. Nineteen different models to choose from.

New Malibu Colonnade Hardtop Coupe.



New Nova Hatchback Coupe.

Look what we hatched

You know us for our little Vega Hatchback. Now dependable Nova has one. Which literally makes it half trunk with the backseat down. It's a feature as practical as Nova itself.

We've been thinking about your legs

One of the few things people asked us to improve in our popular Chevelle was leg room in the backseat. Well, your knees will be pleased with the '73s. There's almost 3½ more inches in the sedans.

So what else is new

Naturally this is only a taste of what's new for '73.

Among other things, we're introducing larger gas tanks for longer cruising range, a new Exhaust Gas Recirculation system, a hatchback for wagons, and a highly refined flow-through power ventilation system.

Plus a reading light for front seat passengers, improved suspension systems, engines that give you performance combined with gas economy, reclining seats and scores of dramatic styling changes.

We invite you to see it all at your Chevrolet dealer's.

(above) Caprice Coupe. Our new uppermost Chevrolet. Its luxury, comfort and quiet ride rival the most expensive cars you can buy.

Hawaii College Held In Mental Hospital

HONOLULU (AP) — The trend toward moving psychiatric patients out of the hospital has given Hawaii some badly needed college space, and students and patients both stand to benefit.

Windward Oahu College, a branch of the University of Hawaii, opened its doors to 529 students Monday on the grounds of the Hawaii State Hospital.

A decade ago, 1,200 psychiatric patients crowded the hospital, but now only about 230 patients are there.

"We hated to see all the space not being used," says Dr. Audrey Mertz, hospital administrator. "There may be some interaction in the future by letting the hospital serve as the place for field work for psychology students, and some patients perhaps taking a few courses," she said.

The state invested $400,000 in renovating five frame buildings for the new campus. Tools, paint cans and drop-cloths scattered around the administration offices remind everyone that face-lifting has been completed on only three buildings.

Community college planner Robert Hara said it is difficult to say how much a new campus of the same size would cost, "but we did save a substantial amount of money."

"It's a little chaotic," had Melvin Sakaguchi, dean of education services. "I can still hear the saws from my office, but it's no big deal. All our people are enthusiastic about getting a college off the ground."

Cooperative programs with the state hospital are still in the future.

"We hope to be exploring these avenues, and get started as soon as possible," Sakaguchi said.

A HIDDEN FOOTBALL STAR

© Field Enterprises, Inc., 1972

The football season is in full swing, but Maumee University is off to a disastrous start. After losing a game (57 to 0) Maumee, understandably, needs plenty of drilling. During one of these intensive practice periods, a ball is accidentally kicke;out of the field.

Leighton Olson, stepson of Colonel Steve Canyon, is passing the place and is asked to toss the ball back. Instead, he dropkicks it for what would have been a perfect three points. When the coaches ask him why he hasn't come out the team, Olson tells them it is because he is too small. But this is NOT the real reason. Oley is forced to face that reason when he is ...

Dear Editor:

Did you know that –

1. There are approximately 25,000,000 handguns in the U.S.A.

2. There are 6,000 homicides per year.

3. Statistics prove that about 3/4 of the homicides are by handguns.

4. Therefore 4,500 homicides are by handguns.

5. Therefore out of 25,000,000 handguns only 4,500 wound up in the hands of murderers.

6. Only .018 percent of the handguns were used for murder.

7. 99.982 percent of all handguns were not used for murder.

Let's be practical – the citizenry should not be disarmed because of the acts of 018 percent of the owners of handguns. Just because a few housand people kill themselves and others in automobiles is no reason for taking automobiles away from the rest of us.

Illegal use of handguns -- not ownership – should be the objective, so that the few murderous "mad dogs" can be put away quickly.

Get this message to your Congressmen and Senators today before they get carried away with all the shouting and disarm us.

Sincerely,
C.C. Moseley,

INTERLUDE

Ride the wind,
bounding waves,
Or countless miles of turn to secluded by-ways.
Let the restless travel on.

Contentment you will surely find,
close by a water fall,
A shady nook, an open book,
The distant song birds call.
A bit of nature to enthrall.

How rewarding if natures wild beauty could be given a free hand.
And not defaced by so called progress of man.

MEMORIES

A poem is just the memories
of things that used to be.
The myster of a winding path,
The shade neath a wayside tree.

Time of changeing seasons,
When the heart was young and gay.
Building up the hopes and dreams,
step by step along the way.

The colorful days of autumn.
The greening up of spring.
The sound of flowing waters.
All in the pattern of woven dreams.

And when comes the golden years,
life seems dearer still.
Just putting together the memories
of a beautiful poem fulfilled.

FLOATING PARKING

DETROIT (AP) — Edmund Craig, 50, a part-time inventor, thinks he has the solution to downtown Detroit's parking problems.

He has designed a floating, multistory parking garage to ease the riverfront car storage squeeze. Primary port for the floating garage would be on the Detroit River, docked near the site of a proposed $126-million domed sports stadium.

"There's no use wasting acres and acres of valuable land on ungodly looking parking lots," Craig said. He said the initial engineering plans call for a three-tiered garage set on pontoons or barge-type supports, accommodating at least 445 cars on each of the three decks.

Rotarians Hear Aussie Exchange Student

Rotary District 609 Gov. Horace Dunagan Jr. of Caruthersville challenged the local club to bring Rotary to more Sikestonians Monday night at Ramada Inn.

Club President Paul Jobe and Thatcher Sciam, governor - elect for 1973, discussed club plans with Dunagan.

Dunagan also challenged the club to sponsor a Rotary Club in Charleston, become a 500 per cent club in Rotary Foundation and to plan an exchange program for students.

Wives of members also met and heard Miss Linn Knox, an 18-year-old exchange student from Sydney, Australia, tell about her homeland.

Miss Knox, sponsored by Jackson Rotary Club, will be in the United States for one year.

Miss Knox told the women that the population of Sydney is three million people and that their culture is very similar to the United States. Sydney, a harbor city, is one of the largest in the world and was founded in 1788 as a New England penal colony.

There are only two seasons in Australia, Miss Knox said, summer and winter. Australians are outdoor people and can always be found in parks around the harbor. Nearly all homes have patios, she stated.

Shopping centers are not common in Australia, but small shops that specialize are. The favorite game in Australia is football but cricket also is played.

Sheep is one of the mainstays of the economy, Miss Knox said, but the country is rapidly switching to mining.

Miss Knox told the women that the educational system is very much ahead of the United States and that most of the students only go to school through the 10th grade because the pace is fast and the students work hard.

The only reason a student goes to school 12 years is to be able to attend the university.

All students wear uniforms and each school has its own color and style, she said.

New Parlor War Games

LONDON (AP) — A new parlor game went on sale in Britain today — you try to win the Vietnam war.

The idea of "The Pentagon Game" is to achieve the domination of Indochina on a squared-off map with counters for four players representing the Americans, the South Vietnamese, the Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese.

You can capture villages, bomb dikes, shuffle civilians around — but you can only bring in Chinese Communist troops if the United States invades North Vietnam.

Three British university graduates devised the game.

One of the inventors, 23-year-old sociologist Kim Cuthbertson, told newsmen: "The game isn't biased politically. It reflects the nasty things everyone is doing."

Siamese kings used to give their enemies white elephants to eat them out of home and fortune.

Co-op President Sees Rate Hike

E. S. Nelson of Wyatt, president of the Scott- New Madrid- Mississippi Electric Cooperative, told members attending the 35th annual meeting of the group held in Sikeston in August that a general rate increase for electrical service will be necessary in the near future to offset constantly escalating costs.

Referring to the cooperative's financial report issued to the members at the meeting, he said:

"I would like to assure each and every one of you that the Board of Directors is making an extended effort to keep the cooperative on a sound financial and business basis.

This isn't to say that there aren't problems — there are. Power bills have increased, labor is much higher, and everything that we buy in the way of materials, transformers, etc. are more costly within our operation.

These items are discussed on a monthly basis at our board meetings. If corrective measures are needed, they are started immediately.

"At the present time our source of power is adequate, however, within three or four years it will be necessary to increase our generation which will be due to the constant increased demand for more power to take care of your future needs. Such plans are now in the making.

"What does this all add up to? As you no doubt know, electric and telephone rates have been on the increase throughout the nation the last several months.

Rural Electric Administration has informed all rural cooperatives that it will be necessary to increase rates from time to time in the near future. So far, we have not had an increase in rates, but we are sure it will be necessary in the near future.

Whatever the rate increase should be, we assure you that electricity will still be the best buy. A penny will buy more usefulness in electricity than anything else.

Rally Cut By Tragedy

By CROCKETT SCOTT

"A rally is a time to sell." ... St. Louis stockbroker

Though the tragedy at the Olympics and the possibility of hostilities in the Middle EAst cut short the brief pre-Labor Day rally, central region and Mid-South stock market analysts see good prospects for a fall rally as election time nears.

War in the Mid-East, of course, would knock out such a prophecy. But if no war develops and the prospects of Mr. Nixon's election appear more certain, the odds favor a rally of considerable magnitude moving through wide areas of the lists; particularly the cyclicals, utilities and the oils, they note.

The fundamentals of the economy are good, and getting better, these analysts remind; and once the investor becomes convinced that the upturn in production is not just a flash in the pan -- that it very well can continue into 1973 -- and possibly much further into the future, then a rally is due.

Much of the analysts' enthusiasm comes from the recent meeting of top economists at Williamsburg, Va., where the word of a string economy continuing into next year was in general concurrence.

That inflation would be with us along with prosperity in 1973 should not be too much of a drag, believe the analysts; as inflation is a way of life.

The prediction from Williamsburg is that gross national product next year will be $1,259 billion, a jump of 9.3 per cent above the anticipated total of $1,152 billion for 1972.

Retail sales and new car sales also are encouraging, say the analysts; and despite a sluggish stock market, there are indications that the market very possibly could turn to the upside. One indication is that some of the laggard over the counter stocks after months of dormancy are beginning to show a little life.

An example is the Mid-South insurance firm of Cook, Treadwell & Harry which has gained nearly a couple of points in the last fortnight.

Another is the Houston abstract firm which also sells title insurance, Stewart Information Services. It too has tacked on a couple of points in the past several weeks.

Paine Webber Jackson & Curtis, Inc., 140 Broadway, New York, N.Y. 10005, has a study available on the trucking industry prepared by transportation analysts Howard L. Conklin and Jon L. Weller.

They note that both individual investors and institutions have exhibited more interest in trucking equities during 1971 and 1972; that by year end 1971 a total of 41 trucking firm shares were in public hands, up from 30 in 1960; and that shares outstanding advanced to 80.6 million from 26.1 million with aggregate market value rising to $1.8 billion from $302.3 million.

The study suggests there may be opportunities for investment in the trucking firms which exhibit consistent revenue and earnings growth. Your SEC registered representative's counsel should be sought in the process of making a selection.

For the consideration of the long-term investor, D. A. Davidson & Co., Davidson Building, Great Falls, Mont. 59401, has a study on Harvest Industries, a firm in business since 1946, and publicly held since 1960, with about 70 per cent of sales in animal feed and animal care supplies.

The study tabs what it calls the fragmented animal feed and nutrition business as "ripe for an expanding aggressive concern such as Harvest Industries," and notes that its management anticipates an approximate seven per cent annual increase in the animal feed and nutrition market and a six to eight per cent increase in sales from new products.

Estimates for thycurrent fiscal year sales of approximately $17 million, compared to $13.9 million last year with next expected to be 70 cents a share, up from 47 cents in 1971.

MR. AND MRS. CHARLES HATLEY of Cottonboll Inn at the Interstate 55 interchange in Marston attended Best Western Motels' orientation seminar for owners and operators of 34 member motels. The 46 attendees were guests of Best Western at the chain's Phoenix, Ariz., home office last week.

Boyer Returns From Seminar

Phil Boyer of Ralph E. Boyer Contractor Inc. of Sikeston recently returned from a five- day seminar held in Raleigh, N.C.

The construction management seminar, conducted by The Fails Management Institute in Raleigh, was the first of a series of uniquely programmed seminars for young men in the field of construction.

More than 50 young men representing 24 states, attended the workship held on the campus of North Carolina State University.

The course included segments on the construction industry: past, present, and future, construction economics and balance sheet analysis as well as estimating and a few sections devoted to analyzing each student's personal management skills, talents and capabilities.

In addition there were sections presented on interstatement analysis, company organization and the closely- held corporation to give the student a greater working knowledge of the management skills necessary for the formation of future leaders in the construction industry.

The seminar is the first in a three- year program.

Hearnes Dedicates Memorial

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (AP) — A memorial, consisting of a seven-foot obelisk shaped like the Washington Monument, has been dedicated at the Freedom Foundation in Valley Forge to the 54 Missourians who have been awarded the medal of honor.

The memorial, surrounded by dogwood trees, shrubs and plants indigenous to Missouri, was dedicated by Gov. Warren E. Hearnes in brief ceremonies Saturday. About 250 persons attended.

There are two meditation benches beside the memorial and a flagpole for the state flag is nearby. The obelisk, which has the state seal on one side and a tablet with the 54 names on the other, is made of Missouri carthage granite. The benches are marble.

Missouri is the 14th state to set up a memorial. The foundation hopes that memorials for all states, Puerto Rico and the District of Columbia will be completed by 1976.

The foundation, located in this Philadelphia suburb where General Washington and his revolutionary troops wintered, has set aside 50 wooded acres to honor the nation's medal of honor winners.

The $10,000 necessary to install the memorial and insure its perpetual care was raised by a state Medal of Honor commission.

Bond Pledges Women To Fill State Jobs

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Christopher Bond, Republican candidate for governor, pledged today that women "will be actively recruited for top level jobs" in his administration if he is elected.

"Women do at least 90 per cent of the work involved in helping a candidate campaign," Bond told a luncheon audience of the Kansas City Women's Chamber of Commerce.

In his state auditor's office, Bond said, women hold top jobs and get the same pay as men.

"There is scarcely a field of endeavor in which women are not providing leadership today and Missouri must utilize that talent to provide better public services for its citizens," he said.

"Highly qualified women throughout our state serve in professional fields ranging from banking and medicine to education and government. Women who can provide such expertise must be recruited to work for Missouri."

Arrest Suicide

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — William Evans was supposed to be dead, but police arrested him anyway.

Last Tuesday, police said, Evans parked a rented car on the city's Highland Park Bridge and left a suicide note inside, apparently to throw off detectives who were on his trail.

But after a tip from an informant, police arrested Evans Monday.

He was charged with auto theft, forging auto titles and stealing credit cards and jailed in lieu of $9,000 bond to await a hearing.

Patrol Finds New Traffic Excuses

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Missouri highway patrolmen say they are getting some imaginative excuses when they stop drivers.

The patrol's public information office gave these examples today:

"I was just trying to get to the rest area before I had an accident."

"I just had my tires balanced and I wanted to see at what speed they would vibrate."

"My carburetor doesn't work right at any lower speed."

"My muffler is bad and I was trying to stay ahead of the traffic so the noise wouldn't bother them."

Ghostly Masterpiece

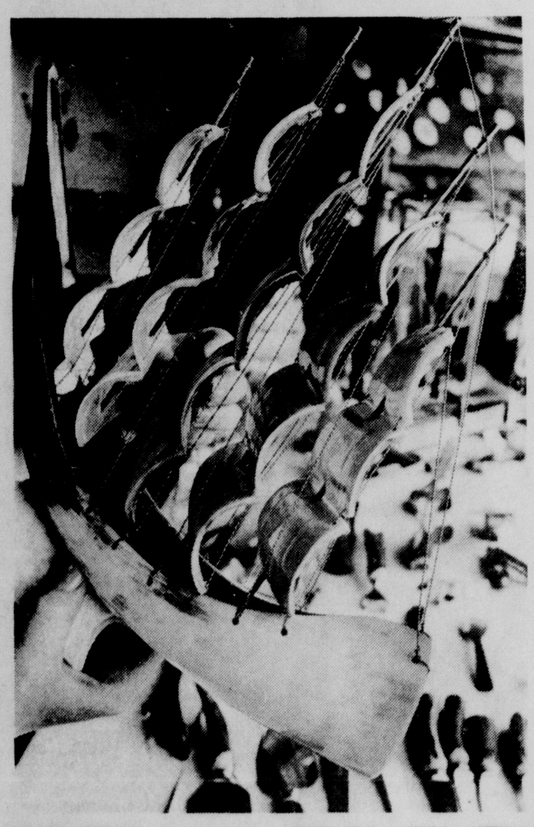
An Ancient Art



is alive and thriving in Scotland, where craftsmen still carve horn and bone into intricately beautiful objects such as the full-rigged galleon, top left, from the shop of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Fraser in Braemar, Aberdeenshire. Above, the Fraser's work table and raw materials and, left, Mrs. Fraser adding a freshly crafted horn-mounted lamp to the window display.

1. In Memoriam

In Memory Of Our Son and Brother (Rickie Lee Holyfield)

Just when his days seemed the brightest
Just when all hopes seemed best
God came and took him from us
to his home of eternal rest.

Dear God forgive a selfish tear
A selfish wish that he was still here
There are others that we know
But he was ours, we loved him so,
It broke our hearts to give him up,

But he did not go alone,
For part of us went with him
the day God called him home.
Our hearts still ache with loneliness,
Our eyes shed many tears,
And God you know how much we still miss him,
At the close of one (1) sad year.

September 17, 1971

2. Card of Thanks

Words cannot express our gratitude to the many friends and loved ones for their concern and thoughtfulness during our bereavement at the loss of our loved one, Rev. Joseph Jilbert.

We especially want to thank Rev. Louis W. Chaney officiating minister, Mr. David Bain, pianist, Mr. and Mrs. John Newberry, singers, the pallbearers, the McMikle Funeral Home, those who sent food, cards, flowers, memorial contributions and all who assisted in any way.

May God bless everyone of you.
Mrs. J. Jilbert and Family

Coach Speaks To Kiwanians

Sikeston High School's new head football coach, Pete Cirrantano, was guest speaker at the Kiwanis Club meeting Tuesday night at Ramada Inn.

Cirrantano, a graduate of Northeast Missouri State Teachers College in Kirksville, became familiar with the Southeast Missouri area while playing football. He has had five years of coaching experience, including one and one- half years as an assistant at Arkansas State University in Jonesboro.

"I think Sikeston is a great community," he said, "and my associations here have been fantastic."

Cirrantano' philosophy is "to work at it" and these boys are "working at it", he said. His teaching technique is to discipline and teach self-respect.

Cirrantano told the club that the team is young, but "we should be there in three years."

The team won the first game against Farmington and lost the second outing at Perryville. This Friday.'s game will be against Charleston in the home opener.

His very name comes from the Roman word "plumberius," which means a worker in lead, pipe having been made chiefly from that material in the days of Rome's glory.

Oldsmobile Story

LANSING, Mich. -- Oldsmobile Division's 1973 lineup feautres a new compact car, completely redesigned Cutlass models and a long list of engineering advancements.

From its compact Omega to the luxurious 98 and Toronado, Oldsmobile spans the automobile market with 27 models, two more than in 1972. All 1973 Oldsmobiles will be in dealer showrooms September 21.

Following are highlights of the 1973 lineup:

OMEGA

Oldsmobile's new entry, the Omega, is built on a 111 - inch wheelbase and has an overall length of 197.5 inches. It is offered in three body styles ... a two- door coupe, a four- door sedan and a hatchback coupe that has a rear door that opens upward to reveal a flat carpeted load floor extending from the front seat to the rear end when the rear seat back is folded down.

Front and rear bumpers are rigidly mounted to meet new requirements. The bumpers protect the car's safety systems in front - end barrier impacts up to five miles per hour and rear barrier impacts up to 2.5 mph.

The Omega's standard engine is the 250 cubic - inch six - cylinder and the 250 V-8 four- barrel is optional. Other Omega options include power drum and pwer disc brakes, variable ratio power steering and Turbo Hydra - matic transmission.

CUTLASS MODELS

All intermediate Cutlass models have been completely redesigned for 1973. The design of these cars is new and contemporary, but still readily identifable as Oldsmobiles.

The intermediate lineup features seven models... two Vista Cruisers, two Cutlass Supremes, one Cutlass 'S' and two Cutlass models. The F - 85 nameplate has been discontinued.

The front ends of these cars feature single seven- inch headlamps in place of dual lights. These single sealed beam units have more candle power on low beam than last year's dual headlight system.

The new energy - absorbing front bumper meets the five mph barrier impact requirements. Grilles are hinged at the bottom and retract with the bumper during a low- speed impact. The Cutlass and Cutlass 'S' have rectangular pattern dual grilles, while the Supreme and Vista Cruiser have a dual vertical bar design.

Rear - end design of the 1973 Cutlass models is new. Large vertical taillamps are mounted in the body, except on the Vista Cruiser where four bumper - mounted lamps are used. The Cutlass Supreme has a specific taillamp.

The rigid rear bumper on all Cutlass models meets the 2.5 mph barrier impact requiremtnt.

The 1973 Vista Cruiser is built on a 116 - inch wheelbase, with an overall length of 219.3 inches, one inch longer than last year. The roof glass dome is replaced by the "Vista Vent," a section of moveable tinted glass over the front seat. The "Vista Vent" is optional on Cutlass, Cutlass 'S' and Cutlass Supreme colonnade hardtop coupes.

The Vista Cruiser, available in two - and three - seat models, features a lift- open tailgate with a fixed window.

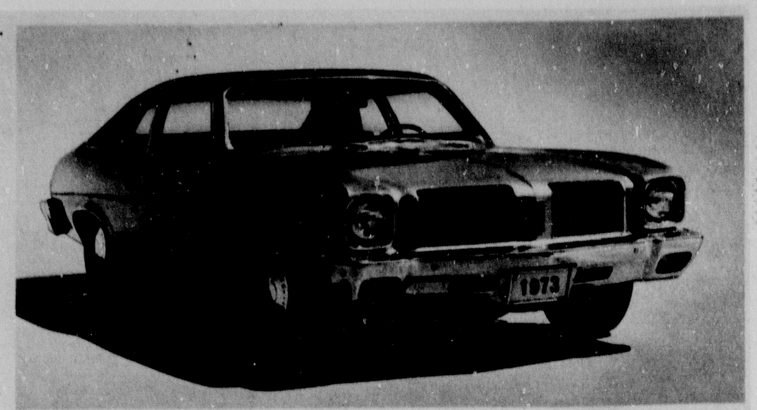
Two special packages, the Salon and 4-4-2, are optional for 1973.

The Salon is available with the Cutlass Supreme colonnade hardtop sedan. Many exceptional features comprise the Salon package to create a highly personalized car combing the comfort and appearance of a domestic car with the favor of a European road car.

The Salon option includes contoured, reclining front seats, steel-belted radial whitewall tires, front and rear stabilizer bars, a front compartment console, and a headlight dimmer switch actuated by a turn - signal lever.

The 4-4-2 is optional on the Cutlass and the Cutlass 'S' colonnade hardtop coupes. The package includes a specific grille, hood louvers, side striping, hood and deck lid striping. The specially adapted suspension includes front and rear stabilizer bars, higher rate springs and shock absorbers.

Front disc and rear drum brakes are standard on all intermediates. Power brakes are optional on all models except the Vista Cruiser where they are standard. Variable - ratio power steering is also optional.



1973 Oldsmobile Omega Hatchback Coupe

88'S AND 98'S

Sixteen models are offered in Oldsmobile's 1973 88 and 98 lineup, including a new addition ... the Regency sedan. Introduced as a limited option on the 98 last year, the Regency has become a full - fledged model in 1973.

Among the special features of the Regency are extra-luxurious interior trim and upholstery, a 60/40 front seat and a specific clock.

Design modifications are evident in all new 88's and 98's. Hoods and fenders on these cars have been revised, and front end panels and parking lamps are new.

Also new is a hydraulic front bumper system with more impact- absorbing capabilities than last year's system. This bumper is built to protect the safety systems in a five mile per hour barrier impact in conformance with federal standards.

The 88's and 98's have new dual grilles that are hinged at the bottom and retract with the bumper on impact into the front end panel.

At the rear, the 88's have revised deck lids and rear quarters and new taillamps. A new rear bumper with integral vertical taillamps enhances the 98 models. Rear bumpers on the 88's and 98's are rigidly mounted.

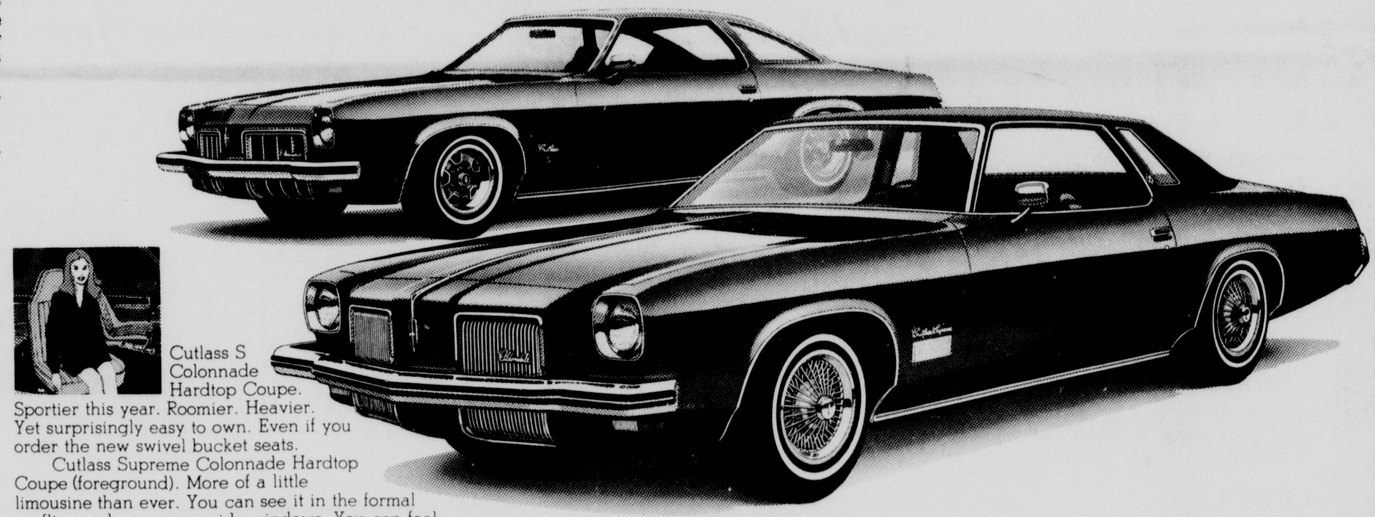
Oldsmobile for '73
Cutlass. It's two new cars.



Cutlass S Colonnade Hardtop Coupe. Sportier this year. Roomier. Heavier. Yet surprisingly easy to own. Even if you order the new swivel bucket seats.

Cutlass Supreme Colonnade Hardtop Coupe (foreground). More of a little limousine than ever. You can see it in the formal roofline and new opera side windows. You can feel it in the spacious, quiet interior. And even in the ride we've patterned after our bigger Oldsmobiles.

Delta 88—with a new grille that swings out of harm's way.

For '73, we've made the Delta 88 tougher than ever. The Swing-Away Grille (pictured at left) is just one way. It's teamed with an improved hydraulic front bumper system: if the bumper gets tapped, the grille swings out of the way. We pound the seats 100,000 times, and drive the Delta 88 thousands of hard miles, to test durability. All to make sure it's more than just big, comfortable and smooth-riding—not just another pretty car.

Omega. The new compact Olds at a compact price.

It's a whole new kind of Olds. And the lowest-priced of all. Omega is a compact —but one with big-car thinking built in. It's nearly 500 pounds more car than some smaller compacts. Its wheelbase is longer, 111 inches, for a smooth ride. And you can feel the difference on the road. A deluxe interior with new "wet-look" vinyl trim is standard. So is full carpeting. And a 250-cu.-in. engine. Coupe, 3-door hatchback or sedan, it's a lot of Olds for the money.

See the '73 Toronado, Ninety-Eight, all the new ones at your Olds dealer's showroom now.

PP&K Registration For 8-13 Year Olds

Registration has begun for the 1972 Punt, Pass and Kick Competition in the showroom of Sikeston Motor Company.

In making the announcement, Clint Elledge, president of the dealership, said: "We're looking forward to a big local PP&K competion in Sikeston. We hope all the boys 8-13 years of age in this area will come in to register and take part."

Elledge pointed out that PP&K -- throughout its six levels of competition -- is free of charge, and that a boy need only have a parent or his guardian accompany him to the showroom to register.

"Our competition here will have first, second and third place trophies for boys in each of the six age groups, or 18 trophies in all," said Elledge.

"Increasing each boy's chances of winning is the fact that he competes only against other boys in his own age group," said the Ford dealer.

"Of course, there is no body contact in PP&K. It's punting, passing and place kicking for distance and points, just as the name says. First place winners in each age group in our competition will go on to the zone competition. And from there, top winners go on up the ladder through district, area, division and national finals," he said.

"This year, the national finals will be held in Dallas, Tex., at the Pro Bowl Game, Jan. 21. Finalists get an all-expense- paid trip to Dallas for themselves and their parents, plus a special tour of fabulous Dallas, a banquet of champions celebration, and the chance to meet some of the top players and coaches in professional football. Naturally, we hope some of our Sikeston PP&K winners will make it all the way to the finals," Elledge said.

The Ford dealer further explained that each boy upon registering receives a free P&K Tips Book. In the 1972 edition, there are competition tips by NFL stars Dave Lewis, Roger Staubach and Garo Yepremian plus allround suggestions from Coaches of the Year Don Shula and Tom Landry. The Tips Book also includes complete PP&K rules and helpful conditioning exercises for contestants.

PP&K registrations will close Sept. 29.

This is the 12th anniversary year for PP&K. From its inception, the youth activity has been sponsored by the Ford Dealers of America and the National Football League. In that time more than eight million boys have take n part in PP&K.

Rain Assists Boston

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The winner of this mad, mad, mad American League East pennant chase obviously will be the team that manages to play fewer games than the others in the final two weeks of the baseball season.

Boston was back on top of the pack today, thanks to some friendly clouds that dumped enough moisture on Fenway Park to force postponement of Tuesday night's scheduled game against Baltimore. The rainout meant the Red Sox couldn't lose—something Detroit and New York did quite thoroughly.

Detroit, which had taken the lead the night before thanks to an open date on the schedule, dropped a doubleheader to Cleveland 3-2 and 6-4 to slip into a second place tie with Baltimore, one-half game behind Boston. Fourth place New York lost to Milwaukee 7-2, but with the Tigers losing twice, the Yankees actually gained a half game on Detroit and remained 2½ games out of first place, now occupied by the Red Sox.

Elsewhere in the AL, Minnesota topped Texas 5-3, Kansas City trimmed California 7-2 and Chicago took Oakland 8-7 in 15 innings.

In the National League, Pittsburgh dumped New York 5-1, clinching a tie for the NL East title, Cincinnati reduced its magic number in the West to four by beating San Francisco 5-4, Montreal thumped Chicago 7-2, Houston downed Atlanta 53, St. Louis edged Philadelphia 2-1 in 10 innings and San Diego topped Los Angeles 5-2.

Bill Parsons throttled New York on six hits and George Scott and Johnny Briggs tagged consecutive homers for the Brewers. And, believe it or not, the Brewers felt the pennant pressure every bit as much as the Yanks.

"There's really more pressure on us than on New York, Boston, Detroit and Baltimore," said Scott, "because we don't want to be on a last place club the rest of our careers. Every win means something for us, if only for morale next spring."

The loss didn't do much for the Yankees' morale. New York still figures it has a break in the schedule with 10 of 12 remaining games against Cleveland and the Brewers, the East tail-enders.

Of course, after what happened to Detroit, the Yankees may have second thoughts over how soft a touch the Indians may be.

Steve Dunning did in Detroit in the opener, cracking a home run and scattering nine hits before Ed Farmer came out of the bullpen to nail down the victory.

After beating Mickey Lolich in the opener, the Indians completed the sweep as Graig Nettles tagged his 17th homer of the year in the nightcap.

Willie Horton accounted for three Tiger runs with an eighth inning homer.

Cesar Tovar hit for the cycle, a single, double, triple and homer, with the homer coming in the bottom of the ninth inning to move Minnesota past Texas.

Bobby Darwin tagged a tworun homer for the Twins.

Kansas City got six-hit pitching from Monty Montgomery to defeat California. Montgomery also contributed a double and a run-scoring single to the 15-hit Kansas City attack.

Paul Schaal had three hits for the Royals and Cookie Rojas and Lou Piniella added two apiece.

The A's and White Sox played a marathon, going through 15 innings, 51 players, and 4 hours, 51 minutes before Chicago won.

It took a home run by Jorge Orta to win it for the Sox after the A's had come from behind twice—once on a two-out, tworun single by Joe Rudi in the ninth inning and the other time on a two-run 13th inning homer by Dave Duncan.

It turned into a battle of attrition at the end and the Sox eventually left the A's clean out of troops. With two men on in the bottom of the 15th and two out, Oakland Manager Dick Williams had only one available player to pinch hit for pitcher Gary Waslewski. The last man was another pitcher, Ken Holtzman, and when he struck out, the marathon was over.

The vital victory kept Chicago's flickering West hopes alive. The White Sox are four games back and Oakland's magic number remains nine.

How To Ruin A Good Story

HERMITAGE —Come on, Steven X. White, you old cold -water -thrower, you!

Steve White is conservation agent for Pomme de Terre Lake. Maybe that's what gives him the facility for taking the wind out of a guy's sails.

Twice in July, White took a good story and ruined it. Once was when a local landowner showed up with plaster casts of prints which he was sure were those of a large cat. "Looked like some kind of dog tracks to me," White said.

Then some people showed up at the Corps of Engineers office at the lake with a bird which they thought was a cross between a rare duck and a turkey.

"Their rare bird looked like a cross between a mallard and a tame Muscovy," White says.

Geez! He probably thinks Santa Claus is a guy who lost his razor. Probably doesn't even believe in trolls. It's much more fun to be somebody who says, "I know what I know. Don't confuse me with facts."

Barnum's Beginning

P. T. Barnum, the world's most famous showman, began his career in 1835, with the purchase and exhibition of Joyce Heth, a Negro woman weighing only 46 pounds, alleged to have been George Washington's nurse and reported to be over 160 years old.

1973 PONTIAC

Pontiac for 1973 features a new sporty intermediate, fresh new styling and continued engineering improvement in energy - absorbing bumpers and emission control.

There are 33 models in the new Pontiac lineup including 13 full-size Pontiacs, two Grand Am and seven LeMans intermediates, four Firebirds, six Venturas and the Grand Prix.

The addition to the intermediate line is the stunning new Grand Am which incorporates classic styling with unique ride and handling characteristics. A distinctive body - colored front bumper and flexible rubber-like urethane front end panel combine functional styling with engineering to give an improved bumper system.

On most 1973 models, Pontiac has front bumpers which exceed the requirements of the Federal bumper standards by being completely self- restoring in a five- mile- per hour barrier test.

The new bumper system on the front of all full-size and intermediate Pontiacs and the Grand Prix features a new energy- absorbing unit mounted to the frame that can compress up to three inches and return to normal position when the force is removed.

This unit utilizes heavy telescoping steel chambers, pressurized gas and hydraulic fluid to absorb the impact.

Protective rub strips and bumper guards are available.

The new rear bumper on all Pontiac full-size and intermediate - size cars except Safaris is backed up with a high strength steel-boxed beam reinforcement. The bumper is supported with flexible steel bars to form a spring system.

Extensive changes have been made on the 1973 engines to meet more stringent exhaust emission standards with no reduction in engine performance or driveability. In fact, overall driveability and fuel economy will, in most instances, be significantly better.

A new EGR (exhaust gas recirculation) system helps reduce oxides of nitrogen to 1973 standards. This system introduces exhaust gas into the air fuel mixture in the intake manifold, when required, lowering peak combustion temperature with consequent reduction of NOX.

A new carburetor choke designed contributes to substantial reduction in hydrocarbon and carbon monoxide emissions. On the initial cold start the choke is on strong for improved driveability, but is pulled off more rapidly as the engine warms up for improved emission control and fuel economy.

Also new for 1973 is a duct system directing cold air to the carburetor. This increases maximum engine power and allows greater spark advance with a consequent increase in fuel economy.

The standard Pontiacs feature an all new front end with the grilles for 1973 extending the full width of the front, wrapping around the leading edge of the fenders.

The luxurious Grand Ville is offered as a two-door formal hardtop coupe, a convertible coupe and a four-door formal hardtop sedan. Grand Villes are built on a 124-inch wheel base (127-inch for Grand Safari) with an overall length of 224.8 inches. The Grand Safari wagon is available in two or three-seat models.

The Bonneville is offered as a two-door hardtop coupe, a four-door hardtop sedan and a four-door sedan.

Built on a 124- inch wheelbase (127-inch for the Safari), the Catalina is offered in five body styles - two - door hardtop, four-door hardtop, four - door sedan and the two and three-seat Safaris. The Catalina convertible and Catalina Brougham series have been discontinued. All full-size Pontiacs measure 224.8 inches long (except the Safari 228.8).

The Grand Prix carries through an interpretation of Pontiac's traditional front end split center theme.

The 1973 model is 2 1/2 inches wider and four inches longer than last year's model with a 116-inch wheelbase, and is 216.6 inches long.

Immediately noticeably in profile is a new fixed quarter window which blends with the classic styling and improves visibility. A distinctive "GP" emblem is included in this rear quarter window.

In the rear, the "boat tail" theme is accented by a pronounced rear crease extending through the rear window.

The stunning new Grand Am highlights the 1973 intermediates from Pontaic. This new sporty luxury car is offered as a two-door hardtop (112-inch wheelbase) and four-door hardtop (116-inch wheelbase).

The fixed rear quarter window on the Grand Am coupe features body-colored or top-colored louvers.

One of the most distinctive features of the Grand Am is its outstanding roadability. Use of steel belted radial tires with a specially tuned suspension provide a smooth ride and outstanding handling.

The intermediates have an all-new appearance with larger glass area and thinner corner pillars giving improved visibility all around while affording improved roof strength, tight body and glass fits and reduced wind noise.

Other intermediates are:

LeMans - Two-door coupe, four-door sedan and two and three-seat Safari.

LeMans Sport Coupe.

LeMans Custom Safari - Two and three- seat wagons.

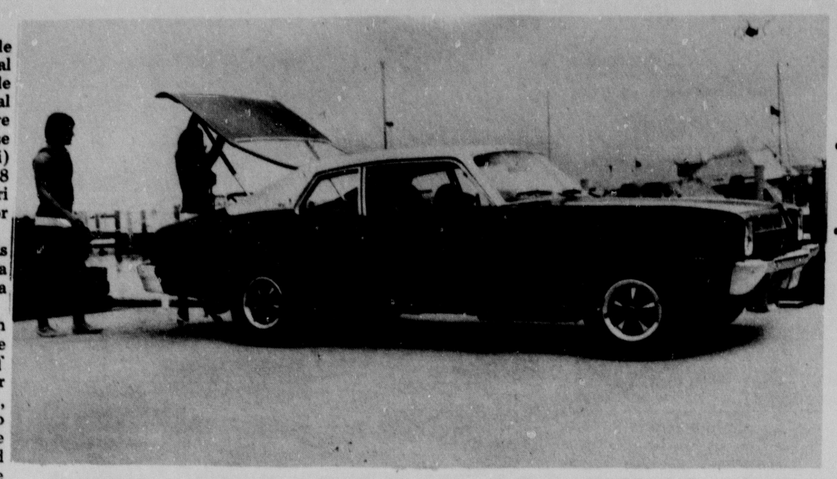
The GTO - offered as an option on LeMans coupe and LeMans Sport Coupe.

Luxury LeMans - Two-door hardtop and four-door sedan.

Distinctive Firebird styling is highlighted by a new grille and front bumper for 1973.

Available in a two-door fastback coupe, this line comes in four models: Firebird, Espirit, Formula and Trans Am. All are built on a 108-inch wheelbase and measure 192.1 inches long.

A new improved Endura bumper has a four-inch thick foam center section with increased structural support to meet bumper standards.



FUNCTIONAL VENTURA HATCHBACK — The new Ventura Hatchback Coupe features a folding rear seat and a rear hatchback panel with a telescopic spring-loaded lift mechanism. Included is a space saver spare tire with an aerosol canister stowed under the floor. The compact economy Ventura is also offered as a two-door coupe, four-door sedan, in a new Custom series, and as an optional Sprint.

The compact economy Ventura is offered as a two-door Hatchback Coupe, a two-door coupe and a four-door sedan on the standard Ventura and the new Ventura Custom.

The optional Ventura Sprint comes in either a two-door Hatchback Coupe or a two-door coupe, and has its own distinctive sporty front end.

All Venturas are built on a 111-inch wheelbase.

The new Ventura Hatchback Coupe features a folding rear seat and fully-trimmed sidewalls in the cargo area. Included is a space saver spare tire with an aerosol canister stowed under the floor. The rear hatchback panel has a telescopic spring - loaded life mechanism.

Two new major options are offered for 1973. Radial ply tires are standard on the Grand Am and Grand Prix SJ, and are available on Formula and Trans Am Firebirds, the Bonneville and the standard Grand Prix.

The new 455 super duty engine is available on the Formula and Trans Am Firebirds, the LeMans coupes, Grand Am coupe and Grand Prix. This power plant provides excellent performance capability, improved driveability and cold weather operation, and improved durability during high rpm operation.

Inside, there are significant changes and improvements on the 1973 models.

The intermediates feature all new trim and instrument panels. The Grand Am sports new wide wale corduroy cloth trim.

Standard on the Grand Am and available on the Grand Prix are new seats that provide adjustable support on the driver's back.

The Grand Prix has new bucket or bench seats with a new "cockpit" theme in the instrument panel.

The Grand Prix and Grand Am introduce a new modular instrument panel wiring concept that results in greater reliability and ease of service.

Real "cross fire" mahogany wood accents the instrument panels and consoles on the Grand Am and Grand Prix, and also door panels on the Grand Prix.

The Grand Prix and Grand Am have a new turn signal dimmer. By pulling the turn signal lever horizontally, the driver is able to dim or brighten the headlights.

Wood inserts on Catalina door panels are new on that series.

The Bonnevilles highlight the luxurious Keswick cloth as new trim.

On the Grand Ville, three dimensional simulated wood carvings accent the door panels and instrument panel.

On the LeMans series, servicing of the instrument panel has been made much easier. The lower door panel comes off easier for window alignment and servicing the life mechanism.

The LeMans Safaris feature a new one-piece liftgate, manually - operated and hinged at the top. A remote liftgate release is available.

All 1973 Pontiac models will utilize computer selected springs. This procedure results in springs being selected specifically for a given vehicle according to body style, model and options.

A unitized ignition system is standard on the Gran Prix SJ and is optional on all four - barrel engines except the SD 455 engine. This system provides for extended spark plug life, a maintenance - free distributor, hotter longer spark plug fire and better cold and damp weather starting. Unitized ignition combined with the maintenance - free battery (standard on SJ) and an integral alternator (standard on all Pontaic V-8 models) provide essentially a maintenance - free electrical system.

Shock absorbers, both front and rear, have been revised on the Grand Prix, Pontiac, LeMans and Ventura series for improved ride balance.

Rowe Named NFL Star

ST. LOUIS (AP) — "If you're uptight and worried, you're not going to be able to think about the game of football," said mustachioed Bob Rowe, the Defensive Player of the Week in the National Football League.

Rowe, conceding he's the worrying type, discarded the pattern Sunday and led the St Louis Cardinals to a 10-3 victory over the Baltimore Colts in an NFL opener.

"One of my big things is having confidence in myself," said the 6-foot-4, 260-pound tackle, who deflected one Baltimore field goal try and blocked two others.

In addition, the 27-year-old product of Western Michigan contributed four unassisted tackles including one of the Colts' Johnny Unitas that help stymie a last-minute Baltimore threat.

"I just decided this is my year," said Rowe, the Cards' second-round draft choice in 1967. "This is my sixth year, and obviously I'm capable of playing in the league. Now's the time to play football.

"I just felt that I was good enough to make the ball club, and I had to prove to myself and to the coach that I was when I came to camp. I'm a worrier. I worry about whether I'm doing a good enough job and whether I'm doing my part."

Rowe, who in the Cards' final pre-season game recovered three Chicago Bears fumbles, began doing his part by deflecting a Jim O'Brien field goal attempt in the second quarter from the St. Louis 30.

His helmet was in the way that time, and later in the period his hand knocked away a 47yard O'Brien try. In the third quarter, with St. Louis leading by its final margin, Rowe cleanly blocked still another kick from the Cards' 38.

Baltimore was really not through, however, until Rowe sacked Unitas for a five-yard loss as the Colts were driving from the Cards' 30 in the game's final two minutes.

Rowe, two years a part of a Cards front four which shut out three straight opponents, called an adaptation to Coach Bob Hollway's zone defenses a major factor in his resurgence.

"I'm learning Coach Hollway's philosophy of getting off the line quickly," he said. "Ours was a reading defense under coaches (Dick) vVoss and (Charley) Winner. Now we try to explode.

"The zone's a hard defense for a quarterback to crack, because he has to hold the ball longer.

Grid Picks

NEW YORK (AP) — UCLA, already having beaten one college football giant with an opening-game upset of Nebraska, goes for another Saturday night when the Bruins take on Michigan's defending Big Ten Conference champions in Los Angeles.

The triumph over Nebraska hinged on five turnovers—three fumbles and two interceptions— and UCLA's Pepper Rodgers is hopeful of more of the same.

"To beat Michigan we need turnovers," he says. "Bo Schembechler has got to play some people who will give us the ball.

"Talk about Michigan not making errors," he went on, harking back to films of the Wolverines' 7-0 victory over Northwestern last weekend, "there was a fumble and I think Bo sent him to Siberia. The player left the game and I didn't see him return."

The highlight of this young season has been the return of ... UCLA.

Southern California at Illinois—Illinois' Bob Blackman is one USC alumnus who may want to fire the Trojans' coach this weekend—for winning. Southern Cal.

Oregon at Oklahoma—The Ducks waddle into Oklahoma's Wishbone this weekend and UCLA's next week. The Ducks will snap, not the Wishbone. Oklahoma.

Nebraska at Army—Army has a 73-6-3 record in opening games. Last year, though, the Cadets lost to Stanford and this year they'll lose to ... Nebraska.

Notre Dame at Northwestern—The last Northwestern coach to beat Notre Dame was Ara Parseghian. The last Notre Dame coach to beat Northwestern was Ara Parseghian. He did it by a 50-7 score last year and the Wildcats are sharpening their claws for revenge. Upset special for the week ... Northwestern.

Miami, Fla. at Texas—Better late than never for the Longhorns to open their season. Texas.

Washington at Purdue—Boilermakers are boiling after losing to Boiling ... er, Bowling Green. But they also may be looking ahead to Notre Dame. Washington.

grid quiz 5

by Dave Nelson, executive secretary, NCAA Football Rules Committee

A UCLA wide receiver on first down and 10 yards to gain runs directly at a USC defender who blocks the receiver before a forward pass is thrown. The receiver, in an attempt to protect himself from the block, uses his hands to push the defender. The pass is incomplete.

The official should:

1. Penalize UCLA 15 yards from the spot of the contact for offensive pass interference.

2. Penalize UCLA 15 yards from the spot of the snap for offensive pass interference.

3. Declare second down and 10 yards to go.

Answer: Number 2. Penalize UCLA 15 yards from the spot of the snap for offensive pass interference.

Rule: (7-3-8) Interference by Team-A or Team-B players is prohibited from the time the ball is snapped until it is touched by any player.

Rule: (9-3-3) The hand may not be used to deliver a blow, grasp, push, or pull an opponent by the teammate of a runner.

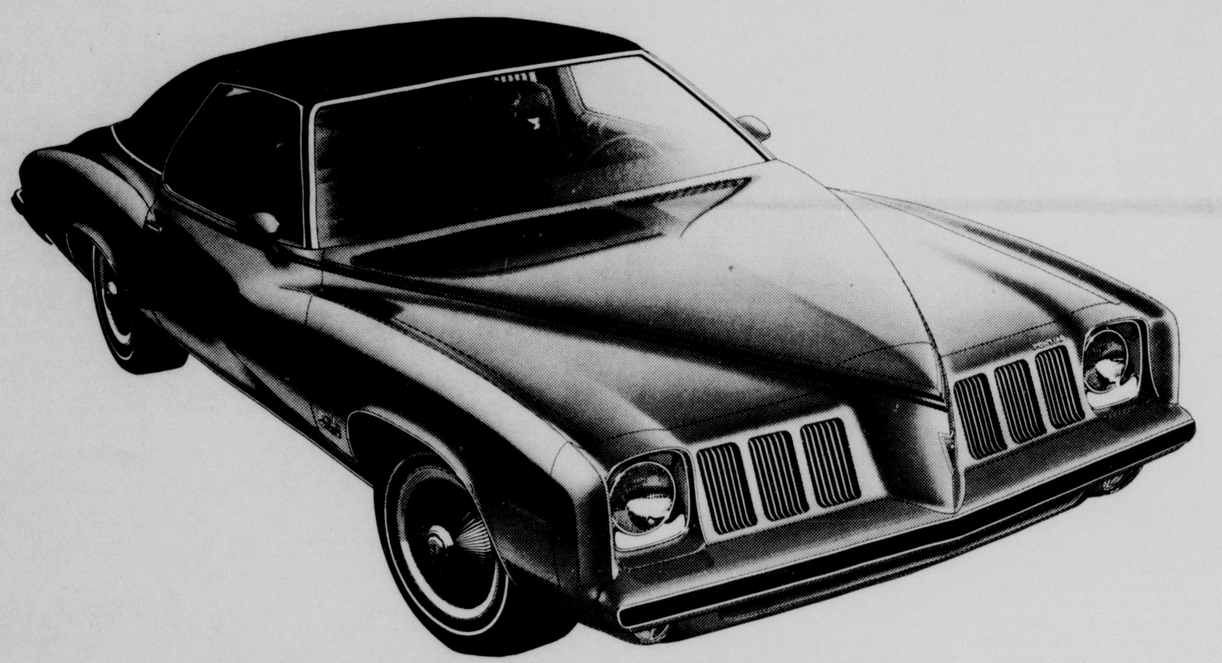
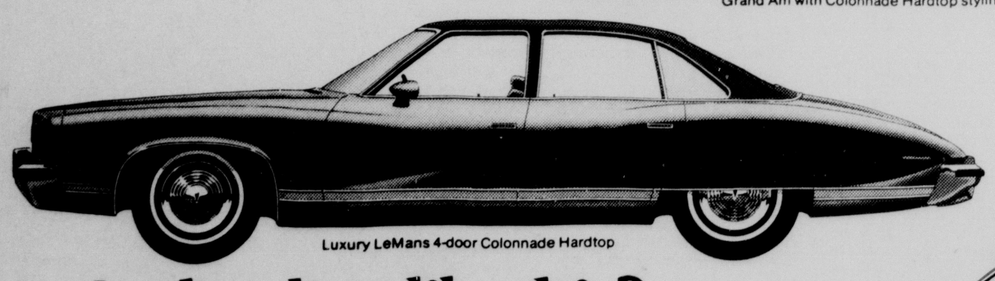
Who in America would introduce a new car like this?



Grand Am with Colonnade Hardtop styling



Luxury LeMans 4-door Colonnade Hardtop

Grand Prix Hardtop Coupe

And a classic like this?

Only Pontiac would.

Pontiac introduces the first Grand Am. It has the feel of a Grand Prix. The handling of a sports car. The characteristics you've admired in fine road cars. That could make it the newest American car ever.

The 1973 Luxury LeMans has been totally restyled. With great benefits. Improved bumpers. Excellent visibility. A strong, new roof.

The classic Grand Prix is designed around a single principle. Spare nothing, compromise nothing, the driver is all-important. You'll understand when you get behind the wheel.

Pontiac has more news, too. New comfort for Catalina, Bonneville and Grand Ville. A new low-priced Ventura Hatchback. For our Firebirds, stronger bumpers, nicer interiors. Shouldn't you see a Pontiac dealer? Soon?

A Story To Chew On

AURORA —Maybe the fellow was an artist, a rare individual with untapped talent, a poetic soul striving to break free.

Then again, maybe he was just drunk.

Artist Vincent Van Gogh cut off his ear in a moment of pique. Lawrence County conservation agent Keith Johnson recently met a man who threatened the same thing --only it was Johnson's ear he was after.

"Bob Walsh (Table Rock Lake supervisor of agents) and I were taking out of Table Rock late one night," Johnson says, "when we noticed two fellows fishing and drinking quite a bit. They weren't having much luck fishing and apparently got disgusted, for they threw their cans into the lake.

"We checked them and arrested them for littering. On the way to jail, one said he was 'mean enough to bite my ear off.'

"He then said that I'd probably charge him with disfigurement if he did that, so while he was at it, he might as well bite my nose off, too.

"Fortunately for me, I didn't let him do it and he was put in jail. When he left, he was $36 lighter as a result of a littering fine and, as far as I know, he hadn't bitten anyone's ear off."

Shooting Event Scheduled

MARSHALL —The Missouri State Rifle and Pistol Assn. will have its first Shooters Fair and Gun Show Sept. 30 at the Buck Snort Rifle Range near here.

The gun show, beginning at 9 a.m. both Saturday and Sunday, will be at the National Guard Armory in Marshall. The Buck Snort Range grounds are east from Highway 65 on Highway UU 3.2 miles to end of blacktop, then follow signs.

Among the many scheduled events will be the Missouri Bowhunters tournament at 9 a.m., shooting demonstrations, retriever dog demonstrations and a turkey shoot.

Other Species Score

JEFFERSON CITY — The bass has ruled the Master Angler roost long enough if applications for the Department of Conservation angling award are any indication.

Normally, the applications are for bass, but in the latest bunch there is only one largemouth bass which exceeds the rigorous minimum qualifying weight.

Most of the applications are for big fish which are not considered sport fish - - until you get one on the end of a fishing line. J. Don Beare of Ballwin caught a 14-pound bowfin at Duck Creek to qualify as a Master Angler.

Kenneth Ray Rogers, Cairo, joined the club with a two-pound, 15¼-ounce bullhead, caught in a farm pond near Higbee. The 21:11 buffalo Bill Sanders of Independence took at the Pomme de Terre dam qualified him, as did the 21:04 drum Johnny Robert Bruffett of Forsyth caught on Bull Shoals.

Mrs. Cleo Pickett, Springfield, missed a state record with her 33 pound drum, caught on Bull Shoals, because the fish (which originally weighed 37½ pounds) shrank below the listed record of 34 pounds before she had it authenticated.

Even more depressing for Mrs. Pickett is word from South Dakota which says that in 1971 Alvin Williams of Yankton, S.D., caught a 36.08 drum from the Missouri River in South Dakota which is the official world record -- so Mrs. Pickett's fish, had it been authenticated fresh- caught, would have topped the listed world record.

Sunfish anglers defied summer doldrums to qualify with big bluegill. Kenneth Ridgway, Clark, caught one 2:02 in a farm pond. Robert Helms, Savannah, caught a two-pounder in a farm pond, Alan Grayson, Steelville, took one 1:08 in a farm pond, and Timothy Sullivan, seven years old, Florissant, caught a one pounder at Hunnewell Wildlife Area.

Opie Nichols, Jefferson City, qualified with a 2:08 crappie caught on Lake of the Ozarks, while Jack Saar, Jefferson City, did it with a 2:08 crappie, also caught on Lake of Ozarks.

David Gould, Blue Eye, caught an eight-pound rainbow trout on Lake Taneycomo to qualify and Grant Spinning, Garden City, qualified with an 8:09 largemouth bass.

There were three outstanding smallmouth bass qualifiers: Russell Jacobs, Higginsville, with a 4:08 trophy caught on the Gasconade River; James Larramore, Lesterville, with one 4:04, caught on Black River; and Paul Wylie, Jefferson City, with one 3:12 caught on the Gasconade.

Minimum weights in pounds, by species, for Master Angler awards are: largemouth bass 8, smallmouth 3, spotted or Kentucky 4, striped 30, white 3, bluegill 1, bowfin 10, buffalo 20, carp 20, blue catfish 40, bullhead 2, channel cat 12, flathead 40, crappie 2.5, freshwater drum 20, gar 10, goggle-eye or rock bass 1, Kokanee salmon 2, muskellunge 15, paddlefish 50, northern pike 10, redhorse sucker 3, green sunfish 1, longear sunfish 1, redear sunfish 1, brown trout 7, rainbow trout 7, walleye 9.

Applications are available from most Department of Conservation field personnel or from department headquarers, North Ten Mile Drive, Jefferson City, Mo. 65101.

What's The Law

The Case Of The Practical Joker

By Jack Strauss LL. B.

Timmy and Tommy entered a small grocery store and, waving a .38 caliber pistol under the unflinching nose of the proprietor, Timmy demanded his money or his life. With a shrug of his shoulders, the shopkeeper advised Timmy to start shooting because he had no money, whereupon, Tommy shrugged his shoulders and left the store.

With such lackluster participation, Timmy decided to forget the whole thing and left also. But three days later he was picked up by the police and was charged with attempted robbery.

"That's the fella', all right." the shopkeeper told the judge. "He came into my store acting like he was Jesaee James."

"I can't be convicted without some proof that I intended to rob him," was Timmy's answer, "and there is no such proof. The fact is, the whole thing could have been a practical joke"

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you convict the practical joker of attempted robbery?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that Timmy's actions were sufficient proof under the circumstances that he intended to rob the storekeeper. Pointing a gun at the proprietor and demanding his money left no other reasonable inference.

The laternate inference urged by Timmy, that he might have intended only to perpetrate a practical joke, concluded the judge, is best answered by the comment Molly used to make on the "Fibber McGee and Molly" show in the '30s: "Tain't funny McGee."

FRENCH BALLET

NEW YORK (AP) — The Ballet Theatre Contemporain of France will perform in the United States next November, the first French dance company to perform here since Roland Petit brought a company in 1954 and 1958.

Mme. Francouse Adret, director of the four-year-old company, made the announcement at the French Cultural Services office that the company of 33 dancers will appear in New York, New Orleans, Miami and Atlanta. Mme Adret said: "If we have a success, we will come back to more cities next year.

The company was formed under Andre Malreaux, minister of culture, with the idea of export in mind, and is supported by the French government.

Is Content Country Singer

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — You won't have to look far to find singer Carl Smith—he's the one who looks like a ranch hand, sitting underneath a big tree with his wide-brimmed hat beside him. He's communing with nature.

"I'm very contented," he smiled, brushing the long hair back from his brow. "I live the life of Riley, truthfully. I just do what I want to do."

Wearing blue jeans, a teeshirt and tennis shoes, Smith, a giant in country music, admited, "I have ambition, but I don't have any ambition to be the No. 1 cat in the country—too much trouble."

"I was there once and it's a lot of aggravation," he grinned, glancing at his wife, Goldie, who at one time was the top female singer in country music.

During the past few years, Smith, 45, has cut down on personal appearances and now only goes on the road on weekends.

The Maynardville, Tenn., native spends every free minute around his 500-acre farm in Williamson County, chatting with the ranch hands, working with his horses, playing with his three children. Sometimes he drives the 20 miles to Nashville to cut another record but that's almost guaranteed to be a hit.

"I'd like to be rich and unknown and retired," he confided before breaking into easy laughter.

Looking back over 22 years as a recording artist, Smith conceded he wouldn't do anything any other way, at least, "nothing I can talk about."

"Career-wise, I didn't think I would have changed anything. I've been very consistent. I've been very fortunate really. Things could have been better but they sure as hell could have been worse," he quipped.

He attributes his success to "guts," then gets serious long enough to say, "I have never understood why anybody would buy a ticket to see me and I have never understood why anybody would buy one of my records. It amazes me."

But when asked whether he would, he laughed, "Yeah, cause I'm pretty good."

"I don't particularly want an audience to remember anything—I just want them to forget everybody except me that was on the show."

Smith, who wants to be remembered as a "pretty good ole boy," said he hasn't changed in years.

"Musically, I've changed the style of my records in the last year by going to orchestration.

"During the years I've been recording I've done a little bit of everything from rock 'n roll to bluegrass to straight country and western rwing, but I never had done this.

"I'm not really experimenting now — I'm just doing something I wanted to do."

Smith has never been too caught up in other facets of the music business. "I'm not the kind to be in the publishing business for example, because

New Lawn Mower Is Safe, Cheap

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A pair of ungainly yardbirds have done all the lawn mowing at Jack Armstrong's house for almost four months, and for next to nothing.

But this is not for everyone. You have to be director of a zoo, and it has to have some baby ostriches.

There was great joy at the Kansas City Zoo this spring when an Ostrich egg was successfully hatched. Armstrong moved the baby to his home for safe-keeping, since two-year-old ostriches are worth about $1,000. Armstrong also got a hatchling from another zoo to keep it company.

It was late in May that the zoo director discovered what efficient lawn trimmers he has. They crop right up to walks and walls, around trees and under the shrubbery.

Natural lawn care has not been an unmixed blessing. Ostrich droppings are just about what you'd expect from the world's largest birds.

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police was organized in 1873 as the North-West Mounted Police and today serves as a civil force maintained by the Canadian government I'm too critical of material."

"To be a producer or publisher, you've got to have a broader vision that what I've got," he said.

"When I listen to a song, I listen to it for myself and I don't picture anybody else doing it," he said. "If I don't like it for myself I don't picture anybody else doing it." He said he's missed some good songs because of that. And he counts on his fingers such songs as "Crying in the Chapel" and "These Hands."

Parks Will Charge Fees After January 1

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — After Jan. 1 it will cost money to get into any of Missouri's 56 state parks and historical sites, state Parks Director Joseph Jaeger Jr. said today.

The state Parks Board, trying to raise $30.2 million for a five-year capital improvements program, announced it will institute user fees next year.

Admittance to parks now is free.

Camping fees of $2, $2.50 and $3 will remain the same, a park board spokesman said.

Permits for year-round use for any park will be $10 apiece and will go on sale Dec. 1. An annual permit for a specific state park will be $3. A one-day permit, which would allow entrance to any number of parks during a 24-hour period, will cost $1.

The permits can be purchased after Dec. 1 from any state park or historic site office, at the Brookfield, Festus and Lebanon regional offices, the Columbia Historical Survey office or the Central office in Jefferson City.

Additional facilities are needed to meet a growing demand, Jaeger said.

The state parks can expect a 64 per cent increase in attendance during the present decade, Jaeger said. This would mean that by 1980 nearly 23 million persons would visit Missouri's state parks.

The proposed capital improvements program includes $5.5 million for campground developments, $2.1 million for concession development and $1.1 million for historical restoration.

"With the state's present fiscal outlook, it is simply impractical to expect that the needed revenue for state parks will come from the legislature," Jaeger said.

"The people who use the state parks will have to be the ones who help support them."

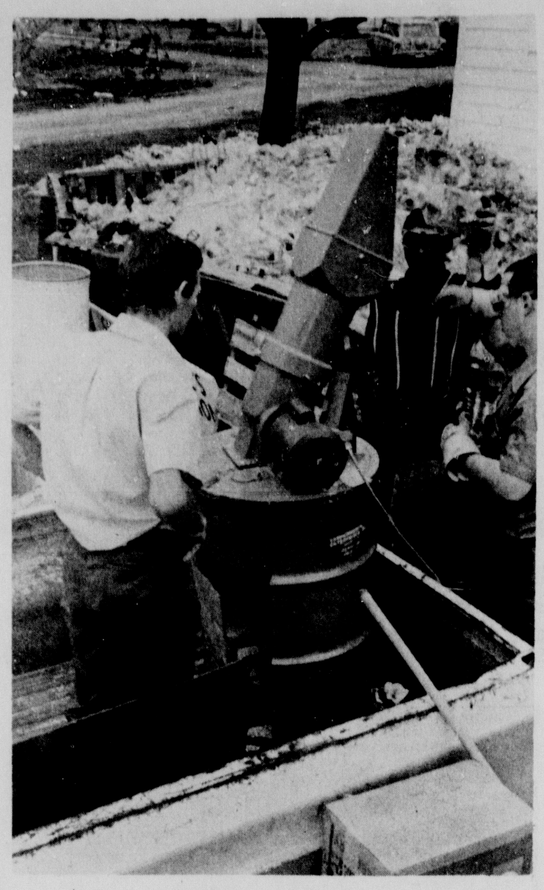
Coffee Corner by Cherie

How often I've heard people say, "Oh, I love my children at this age so, I wish they'd never grow up!" — and what if they didn't? Then, your child might be one of many in a sixty mile radius who is being taught ways in which to help himself earn a place in our society at the Community Shelter Workshop.

I am not much on some of our local or federal planned programs, but this group of handicapped people seemed so happy and so interested and so involved in what they were doing that I think any of you would be enthusiastic about this program.

I was asked this week to please write something in the "Corner" about the glass recycling program out at the Shelter; because the gentleman thought that through a column such as mine the women might be reached. Therefore, I promised to look into it, and today I went to see for myself what it was all about. I saw kindergarten age children in adult bodies ranging in ages from sixteen to fifty-six working at various jobs and all appearing to be as well groomed and cared for, and just as happy as those kindergarten children whose bodies fit their age. This is what impressed me and made me go away from this Workshop feeling good instead of being depressed as I was so afraid I would be. I had before me a group of people who were learning, who were working, and who were also getting a chance to be with others like themselves with which they could communicate and feel free with, instead of being by themselves or with adults who could never quite understand their problems. I talked with Mrs. Fredra King, a supervisor of the workshop, for a few minutes, and she said, "If I could only write, oh I could tell people how these young - old adults have come to us knowing nothing, and how much we've taught them," and I could tell just by looking at her when she said this and by watching her actions with these people how much this program and the results really meant to her.

One of the jobs these children (I know they aren't, but again they are, and if you don't mind I prefer to think of them as such), do is glass recycling. Our Jaycees bought the Workshop this machine, and the boys feed glass bottles into it, it comes out crushed, they box the crushed glass, it's sent to a plant where it's melted down and made into bottles again, and for doing this, the boys get paid so much per pound of glass. This will eliminate those broken bottles around your trash can, cause the city dump not to fill up as fast, and believe me, give you a wonderful feeling when you arrive at the Workshop with your load of bottles for the youngsters to take. We ask only that you rinse out the bottles and remove the lids — don't worry about the labels, they don't matter. They are also taking Stag beer cans and recycling those too; but just that brand only please. You may take your bottles out to the Shelter anytime and leave them (it's located behind the public kindergarten out by the airport), but if you go between eight and five, Monday thru Friday, the boys will unload them for you. Put a big plastic trash bag out and simply drop your bottles in and when that's full drive out and leave them where they'll do some good. Handicapped people deserve a chance, and remember, this could strike anyone of you at anytime — and what if YOUR child didn't grow up?



BONNARD NEWELL of Gray Ridge supervises the glass crushing operation at the sheltered workshop. Marvin Barker of Charleston, center, drops a bottle into the crusher as Wilson Crutcher of Essex grabs another clear bottle to crush. The machine can crush over 500 pounds per hour, depending on the condition of the bottles.

Senate Approves Crime Compensation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has approved legislation to compensate victims of crime and the "good Samaritans" who go to their rescue.

The amendment was attached to an omnibus crime bill which passed the Senate by a 74-0 vote Monday. The bill also would make it a federal crime to kill a policeman or fireman.

The bill now goes to a SenateHouse conference to resolve differences.

Arguing for adoption of his proposal, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said government for too long has neglected the victims of violent crimes and others injured while trying to aid them.

In an unusual parliamentary tactic, Mansfield's $15-million plan was passed twice—the first time on its merits and the second time attached to the House-passed omnibus crime measure.

Mansfield said he hoped by this maneuver to get his proposed compensation bill before House-Senate conferees for possible passage this Congress. The House has taken no action on the compensation plan.

The bill would pay victims for medical and burial expenses, loss of earnings and support, therapeutic costs and child-care expenses to enable one parent to work. Victims would not be repaid for property losses but intervenors—the so-called good Samaritans— would be.

The administration reportedly opposes the bill as being premature.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., DN.C., said it would further burden the taxpayer who he said "is innocent in this, too."

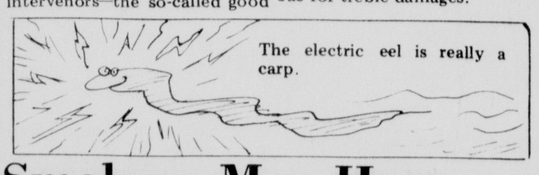
Another amendment to the omnibus crime package would make it a federal crime to kill, injure or assault a policeman, fireman or judicial officer because of his official position.

The vote was 46 to 23 in favor of the proposal by Sen. Richard S. Schweiker, R-Pa.

Another provision would establish a federally subsidized group-life insurance plan for state and local policemen, firemen and other public-safety officers. The cost was put at $22 million annually.

Sen. Roman L. Hruska, RNeb., also won passage of an amendment to extend until June 30, 1974, the Omnibus Crime Control Act of 1968, at an estimated cost of $1.74 billion for the extra year.

Two other crime bills passed by the Senate Sept. 5 were wrapped into the omnibus bill. One would authorize a $50,000 payment to dependents of policemen, firemen and other law-enforcement officers slain on duty. The other would make available antitrust-type civil remedies to victims of theft and racketeering, allowing them, for instance, to sue for treble damages.



Smokers May Have Back Seat In Planes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans, who are smoking more now than at any time in the last four years, may soon have to take a back seat on U.S. airlines.

Americans 18 and over will average 204 packs of cigarettes apiece this year, the most since 1968, the Agriculture Department predicted Monday. That's a two-pack increase over last year.

The average is for all Americans over 18, both smokers and nonsmokers.

Meanwhile, the Civil Aeronautics Board Monday proposed a new rule to require segregation of smokers to the rear of the aircraft on all airlines, including charter and local service lines.

The CAB said it will wait until Nov. 3 before making a final decision on the rule, and will receive comments on it until that time.

Most trunk airlines already segregate smokers, while charter and local service lines usually do not.

Consumer advocate Ralph Nader has asked that smoking be banned on planes on grounds it is hazardous.

The Federal Aviation Administration ruled that smoking by passengers was not hazardous, but noted that more than 60 per cent of nonsmoking passengers complained that smoking by others was a nuisance.

NIXON'S MAKE BELIEVE

The world of make believe is with us in full force now the presidential race is on. We are asked to believe on presidential imprimatur that inflation, crime and unemployment are well under control.

Mr. Nixon really takes us all for functional illiterates on the Vietnam question. He says, for example, that he will never abandon our prisoners of war (as if McGovern were proposing this) but as long as he continues the war he is not only abandoning them, he is endangering their lives and is daily adding to their number.

He says he will not join our enemies and impose a Communist government on our allies. Does anybody seriously question that the South Vietnamese people would prefer any form of government to being "democratically' bombed to death? What really is the difference between the Thieu government and that of the North except that Thieu masquerades as a democratically elected leader? It is time we admitted we have never had any overriding concern with the welfare of the South Vietnamese people, only with a continuing military liaison with its government.

And the President is at his pious best when he assures us he will not stain the honor of the United States by abandoning our ally. Is the Nixon Administration the only place in the world that is unaware that the stain, not to say the abomination, is already in full view of the world as we bomb this backward little country with the fury of men gone mad? The world would applaud our leaving this ravaged country to settle its own problems. We would not be forsaking an ally, only a military protege who has governed cruelly and undemocratically and then only by our pleasure and sponsorship.

And lastly, it is incomprehensible to me that Mr. Nixon can urge us to think of the Tanyas in China, Russia and America (don't know how we got on the list) "as we proudly meet our responsibilities for leadership in the world" and be oblivious of the thousands upon thousands of Tanyas we have personally created in Vietnam.

PEANUT BRITTLE ICE CREAM — Adapted from a recipe given almost 50 years ago by Dr. George Washington Carver.

Dr. Carver's Peanut Brittle Ice Cream

By Cecily Brownstone
Associated Press Food Editor

A marvelous way to treat ice cream was suggested almost 50 years ago by George Washington Carver, who gained national fame because of his scientific research at Tuskegee Institute. Dr. Carver in his 1925 bulletin, "How to Grow the Peanut and 105 Ways of Preparing it for Human Consumption," wrote:

"Make a quart of lemon or vanilla ice cream by the usual rule; when this is half frozen, take out the dasher and add 1/2 pound of peanut brittle or two or three bars of peanut candy previously put through the meat chopper."

In preparing this great dessert we used vanilla rather than lemon ice cream, the bought kind rather than the homemade. And peanut brittle instead of peanut candy bars went in. We also embellished the peanut brittle ice cream with a bittersweet chocolate sauce. If you try this idea we think you'll enjoy it as much as our tasters did.

PEANUT BRITTLE ICE CREAM WITH BITTERSWEET CHOCOLATE SAUCE

1/2 gallon vanilla ice cream
1 1/2 cups crushed peanut brittle, about 10 ounces
Bittersweet Chocolate Sauce, see below

Let ice cream stand at room temperature until it softens enough to scoop out easily — 10 to 15 minutes, depending on hardness of ice cream and temperature of room.

Scoop out ice cream by large spoonfuls and place in a large mixing bowl. After several scoops, sprinkle some of the peanut brittle over the ice cream. Continue scooping and sprinkling until the ice cream is all in the bowl. Stir just enough to barely mix, then return ice cream to container. Refreeze.

Top servings of the ice cream with Bittersweet Chocolate Sauce. If you are planning to serve all the ice cream at one time and want more chocolate sauce, make up two batchs of the recipe, but don't double it.

Makes 16 servings of the ice cream.

Note: To crush peanut brittle, place pieces of the brittle in a plastic bag. Arrange bag so that more than one thickness of bag covers brittle. Lightly pound with a mallet or the side of a meat tenderizer to break up to peanut size.

BITTERSWEET CHOCOLATE SAUCE

1/2 cup water
3 squares (3 ounces) unsweetened chocolate
3/4 cup sugar
1/4 cup butter
1 teaspoon vanilla

Into a small saucepan pour the water; add chocolate. Place over low heat to melt chocolate, stirring constantly. Gradually add sugar, stirring to dissolve sugar after each addition. Continue to cook, stirring, for 5 minutes. Remove from heat. Add butter and vanilla and stir until butter is melted. Set pan aside to cool completely; do not stir during cooling.

If sauce is to be served within a couple of hours, leave at room temperature. If made farther ahead, pour into a glass jar, cover tightly and refrigerate. Remove from refrigerator an hour or two before serving time and place in a pan of hot water (off heat) to soften. Or remove from refrigerator at serving time and place jar of sauce in a small pan of warm water; stir sauce over low heat until it softens.

Makes about 1 1/2 cups.

Go Pennsylvania Dutch

SMOKED HAM, a favorite of Pennsylvania Dutch folks, inspired the recipe for this Ham Loaf. Serve with spiced fruits, an ideal accompaniment for the meat.

The Pennsylvania Dutch have always had the courage to be themselves. Their way of life is simple, and they cannot be budged from their principles. These "plain people" make good use of their rich farmlands to produce the foods that laden their tables. They hold closely to the belief that food is God's reward for hard labor.

These friendly, warm-hearted folks love to eat! Their food is solid fare, more practical than imaginative, but always good. And there's plenty of its.

Over the years many tasty dishes have been perfected by Pennsylvania Dutch housewives through the blending of the traditional cooking from their ancestral homelands with their own home- grown products.

Smoked ham is one favorite of the Pennsylvania Dutch.

This recipe for Ham Loaf gets its tangy, spicy flavor from Apple Cider Vinegar and Mild Mustard. It will be a favorite of yours, too!

HAM LOAF

1-1/2 pounds ground pork
1 pound ground smoked ham
1 cup soft bread crumbs
1 cup milk
2 eggs
1 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
1/2 cup apple cider vinegar
1/2 cup water
1 tablespoon mild mustard

Heat oven to 350 degrees F. Combine first 5 ingredients; shape into a loaf (12" x 4" x 2") in baking pan (13" x 9" x 2"). Blend sugar and remaining ingredients; pour over loaf. Bake 2 hours, basting occasionally. Spoon excess fat from drippings; serve remaining sauce over ham loaf. Makes 8-10 servings.

Sweets and sours are served at almost every meal. Try this recipe for Spiced Fruit. It makes an ideal accompaniment for the ham loaf. cSPICED FRUIT

*1 can (1 pound 13 ounces) peaches or pears
1/4 cup apple cider vinegar
1/2 teaspoon whole cloves
1 (3-inch) cinnamon stick

Drain fruit reserving syrup. Add vinegar, cloves and cinnamon stick to fruit syrup; simmer 10 minutes. Add fruit; simmer an additional 5 minutes. Cover; refrigerate overnight to blend flavors. Serve chilled as a meat accompaniment or on the relish tray.

*1 can (1 pound 14 ounces) apricots may be substituted.

NOTE: Fruit will keep up to one month in refrigerator. Remove spices at the end of the second week.

NOBEL SOUGHT PEACE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The founder of the most renowned peace prize wanted to make war so horrible man would never take up arms again.

Alfred Nobel, whose annual prizes are financed by a fortune based on his invention of dynamite, once said:

"I wish I could produce a substance or invent a machine of such frightful efficacy for wholesale destruction that wars should thereby become altogether impossible."

The Swedish inventor and semi-recluse put his brooding thoughts that way to an Austrian noblewoman, Bertha von Suttner, a life-long friend and champion of peace movements during the period of aggressive imperialism that led up to World War I.

Army's senior outside end, Ed Francis of West Haven, Conn., caught 23 passes last season.

Reading Is A Fundamental Right

SEN. RALPH YARBOROUGH (D-Texas) is a leading spokesman in the U.S. Senate for a national campaign to improve reading skills. Here he writes about the importance of reading as a key to success in modern society.

Recently released test scores from the federal government's Office of Education show that both America's future strength and is, their reading is so poor that they cannot take driver's

Throughout the country, some 10 million children are severely deficient in reading.

Moreover, the most recent information indicates that 18 million adults in this country are functionally illiterate. That about a "Right to Read" program which James Allen, U.S. Commissioner of Education, announced in October, 1969.

At the time, he pledged that $200 million would be invested in a far- reaching program to teach America's children to read.

But it soon became clear that the Administration's rhetoric once again would outdistance its performance. The "Right to Read" was largely an illusion. It soon turned out that most of the promised funding would go to other programs.

Almost three years have passed since this ambitious concept was announced. Dr. Allen, its main proponent and an outstanding educator, was forced to leave the Administration when he criticized the invasion of Cambodia and the handling of racial problems here at home. In the meantime, his dream of a right to read for every American has become a game of educational politics.

National Reading Improvement Act of 1972

To make up for these past failures, I have introduced a bill into Congress entitled the National Reading Improvement Act of 1972, and I am hopeful that positive action will be taken on it very quickly.

Among other things, my bill would:

— Establish a coordinating office within the Office of Education to oversee the various reading improvements programs for adults and children.

— Authorize the U.S. Commissioner of Education to make contracts with state governments to develop reading programs for adults and children, and to improve on those that already exist.

— Authorize funds for the training and retraining of teachers involved in these programs, and authorize funds for the acquisition of teaching materials.

— Authorize the National Institute of Education to conduct research on the use of new technology in reading programs.

I am hopeful that this legislation — which is real, not an illusion — will receive careful consideration by Congress and by the organizations which represent teachers and parents. For every American, the right to read is one of the most fundamental, and one which this bill should begin to provide.

The grave problem of unemployment among Vietnam era veterans was starkly outlined recently at a "Veterans Information Day" in Washington that I attended alongwith a number of other Senators and Congressmen.

The program, held under the auspices of groups including the Veterans Administration and the National Committee — Jobs for Veterans, helped highlight the fact that far too many of our young men have been unable to find jobs when they have returned from overseas to the nation they served so well.

While some progress has been made in getting jobs for these men during the past year, the unemployment rate for returning veterans still is nearly 9%, meaning that over 300,000 vets across the country are jobless.

In Missouri the picture is marginally better, with a veterans unemployment rate of 8%. If we are to maintain their respect and make good use of the valuable services veterans have to offer, we are going to have to make it a top priority to find meaningful jobs for them.

'We Need A Doctor,' Missouri Town Writes

COLUMBIA, Mo. – "This city is in need of additional medical facilities, thus we the undersigned, a group of interested and concerned citizens of Dixon and surrounding community, having knowledge of the sincerity, desire and intent of Richard L. Breeden to procure the degree of medical doctor."

And there are the signatures of 990 citizens of Dixon, Iberia, Crocker and Swedeboro in rural south Central Missouri, "requesting favorable consideration" of Richard Breeden's application to medical school.

A letter from the Pulaski County Development Council accompanied the petition to the dean of the School of Medicine at the University of Missouri- Columbia. It explained that the council had conducted a county- wide survey and found that medical needs topped the list of concerns of the citizens. The community (population 1,473) now has one medical doctor 65 years of age and one osteopathic physician.

"The concern of my community coincides with my desire to practice medicine," 21- year- old Richard Breeden said, admitting that he is proud, yet a little embarrassed by the petition and his community's support. "The people of Dixon have placed an extraordinary amount of faith in me; I cannot disappoint them."

Richard Breeden is one of the 110 entering medical students at UMC this year, selected by the admissions committee fr575 Missouri and 950 out- of- state applicants.

But it was not just because his community backed him that he was accepted. Personal attributes, motivation, grades and likelihood of completing the difficult course are all taken into consideration in interviewing and assessing every Missouri applicant.

Breeden is representative of many of the new students. A 1972 graduate of the University (Columbia campus) in pre-med studies, his scholastic potential ranks him in the upper seventh percentile in quantitative ability. He had a 3.14 (out of4) cumulative grade point average although he worked throughout his college career, with the exception of his first semester.

His working hours ranged from 15 to 35 hours a week and he held jobs, at various times, as a keypunch operator, waiter, lab technician, physics tutor and Latin tutor. During summer vacations, he worked in a shoe factory, as a waiter, salesman for a potato chip company and ambulance driver. His father is a budget analyst, his mother a "housewife." He is the youngest of four children.

While the majority of the new medical students are in the 21-22 age bracket, 20 of them are 25 or older. Three are 35. In the over-30 category is Lynn Leigh, from Parma in the Missouri Bootheel.

"Financially, I was a success, but I wasn't enjoying my work," Leigh explained, "and whether who was the only M.D. in our community of 1,100 for 40 years, had something I wanted: a high degree of responsibility and trust. He did something I want to do. He practiced until he was 83."

So Leigh, now 31, who had received his degree in business administration at UMC in 1963, gave up his successful insurance and real estate business. Married and the father of two young children, he re- entered UMC last year to take chemistry and other science courses he needed before applying to medical school.

Mary Ann Crow, 21, comes from Hopkins, a village in Nodaway County in northwest Missouri. Valedictorian of her high school class and player on the all- conference girls' basketball team, she enrolled at Northwest Missouri State College. There she achieved a 3.44 average in science and 3.70 in non- science courses.

"In my small town there were always sick people who had no type of medical care available to them," Mary Ann said, emphasizing her desire to become a physician.

Not all of the 110 students come from small towns. The largest group is from St. Louis city and county, consistent with the percentage of population in the urban areas of Missouri.

Sixteen of the entering students are women, including a former nun who taught biological sciences to high school students. And there's an exuberant ex- cocktail waitress who was self- supporting throughout her undergraduate years; besides waiting tables she also has been a laboratory technician and research assistant – sometimes holding two or three jobs at a time.

One student has completed a doctor of philosophy degree, nine have masters' degrees and 36 attended graduate schools and have accumulated some hours following the bachelor's degree.

Only one three- year undergraduate non- degree applicant was accepted; he had a straight 4- point average at Washington University.

Another student, 29, was a college flunk- out 10 years ago but during seven years' Army service has acquired almost enough hours for a bachelor's degree, along with a mature approach to life. "I had no purpose in going to college when I was 18," he confided. "Now I am positive about what I want to do with my life."

A majority of the new medical students come from families with parents engaged in sales, clerical, labor and farm work and will need loan and scholarship aid, Dr. M. J Rosenholtz, assistant dean for admissions, noted. He added that an astonishingly large number express interest in family practice in rural Missouri when they complete their schooling.

"Missouri definitely needs these kinds of physicians," Rosenholtz said, "but our admissions committee is also looking for those students who will become the future teachers in medical schools, and for the those future scientists- researchers necessary to solve the problems of prevention and cure of disease."

Last Moon Flight In December

WASHINGTON (AP) — American astronauts are scheduled to make their last lunar landing in the Apollo series of space flight exploration on Dec. 11, the space agency says.

It will be the sixth moon visit by man and will also represent the longest stay yet on the moon's surface. And it will be the first night launching of manned spacecraft.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Monday the evening launch hour was scheduled to make possible a lunar landing at the desired sun angle just south of the moon's Taurus mountains and Littrow crater.

Taurus–Littrow, a combination of mountain-dotted highlands and valley-riven lowlands, was labeled by NASA as a keystone site to fill in major gaps in the developing model of the moon. The site was selected on the basis of Apollo 15 orbital photography and on the recommendation of Apollo 15 astronaut Alfred M. Worden.

The Saturn V rocket is scheduled to blast off from Cape Kennedy, Fla., at 9:53 p.m. EST Dec. 6. The lunar landing is scheduled for 2:55 p.m. EST, Dec. 11.

Mission commander will be Navy Capt. Eugene A. Cernan, 38, a veteran of 264¾ hours in space. His two companions - civilian geologist Dr. Harrison H. Jack Schmitt, 37, the lunar module pilot, and Navy Cdr. Ronald E. Evans, 38, command module pilot-will be making their first space flight.

Cernan and Schmitt are scheduled to make three seven-hour ventures onto the moon's surface. They also will use the lunar rover, as did the astronauts on Apollo 16.

Allotments Mailed To Schools

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — An allotment of $84,974,118 of state aid to schools under the school foundation program was mailed to county treasurers Friday.

It was the first of four distributions of state aid for this school year. Others will come in December, March and May.

The legislature boosted state aid to schools to $339 million this year and the September payment is about 28 per cent of that.

Last year the September allotment was $84,007,369 or about 29 per cent of the $294 million appropriated.

Sr. Citizens To Have Day At Mid-South Fair

MEMPHIS — Senior citizens will have their special day at this year's Mid- South Fair. It is Friday, Sept. 29, and during the hours of 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., all senior citizens will be admitted free to the grounds.

And that's not all. Once inside the grounds, the oldsters will have plenty to do and see. Probably the biggest project is the senior citizens talent show and all performers who would like to enter the contest are urged to contact Mrs. Helen Dixon, Memphis Park Commission, 2599 Avery, Memphis, phone number 324-3515.

A total of 75 candidates will make up the field for the 1972 Miss Youth Personality Contest at the Mid- South Fair.

The lucky girl will be selected on Sunday, Sept. 24, and she will immediately assume her pleasant duties of co- hosting with Miss Mid- South Fair, Ellen Jarrett, at various Fair activities.

The Mid- South Fair's Drug Awareness Poster Contest, open to anyone between the ages of 11 and 17 inclusive, will close its entry list on Thursday, Sept. 14.

Cash prizes totaling $100 will go to the first three winners in each of the two age groups (11-14 and 15-17). There will also be 10 honorable mention ribbons with free admission tickets to the fair.

Winning posters will be exhibited during the fair, Sept. 22-30, in the Drug Awarenss Exhibit at the Youth Center.

Posters can be of any size or medium and should be taken or mailed to The American Red Cross, Memphis Area Chapter, 1400 Central Ave., Memphis 38104. All posters become the property of the Mid- South Fair. The contest and the Drug Awareness Exhibit are sponsored by Plough, Inc.

Council Okays Ward Changes

The City Council met Tuesday to approve boundary changes in two voting wards. The boundary change will make ward 4 smaller and more manageable for election officials.

The boundary changes are for ward 3, precinct 1, and ward 4, precinct 1.

Ward 3, precinct 1, was bounded on the west by the Frisco Railroad tracks and on the east by New Madrid Street. The change moves the eastern line from New Madrid Street to Warner. The western boundary was unchanged.

The lines for 4-1 will be Warner to South Ingram instead of South New Madrid to Pine Street.

Both precincts are bounded on the north by Malone Avenue and on the south by the city limits.

City officials will also mark the registration cards of all voters living in the New Madrid County section of town to prevent them from voting in Scott County elections.

A number of New Madrid County residents accidentally voted in Scott County in August and county election officials have been seeking a solution to the problem since.

The council also accepted the low bid of M and O Construction Company of Portageville to do the excavation work for the baseball diamonds at the recreational complex near the airport.

The company bid 34.3 cents per cubic yard of dirt moved. The high bid was $1.50 per yard.

The company will be excavating about 30,000 yards of dirt.

Charleston Board Votes Increases

CHARLESTON — A resolution increasing the water and sewer service rates and merchant licenses was approved by a three- to- two vote Tuesday night by the City Council.

Councilman Lyman Beasley and Dr. Lowell Nicholas voted against the proposal which will bring a one- dollar increase to the present four- dollar water rate, and a 25- cent increase to the present one- dollar sewer service charge.

Business occupation licenses will be based on a one- dollar per $1,000 growth income with a minimum growth of $10 and a maximum charge of $1,000. City attorney W. Clifton Banta Sr. will prepare the ordinance for adoption for next month's council meeting.

City Manager Richard Martin was authorized to submit an application for a $300,000 matching funds grant to the Department of Housing and Urban Development for improvements in the city water system and an application to the state and environmental protection agency for an 80- per cent $320,000 matching funds grant for sewer improvement.

A drawing of the bronze plaque for the City Hall was approved. The plaque will be purchased for $130 through the Enterprise- Courier.

Cost estimates from sign companies for the maintenance of the governor's sign at the east and west approaches to the city will be presented next month by City Manager Richard Martin.

Martin informed the council that Molly French Garden Club has offered its assistance in planning the landscaping for the City Hall.

Cost estimates for shrubs and trees is to be presented to the council for approval.

Steve Archulete, local artist, will display some of his works to the council at next month's meeting. Dr. Lowell Nicholas said that four businesses had agreed to purchase one painting each for the City Hall.

Trailer permits were approved for Kirk Durbin, Susie Lane, Pinkie Lee and Woodrow Smith.

Two applications for the sale of liquor by the drink were approved.

Verlin Uthoff and Bo French were granted the licenses, providing their establishments meet city ordinances. An application from Joker Warren for a license for Storming bull was tabled.

Jail Terms Set Aside For Three

CHARLESTON —Circuit Judge Marshall Craig set aside his order of July 31 whereby three East Prairie youths were each sentenced to two -year terms in the state penitentiary for stealing and two years for burglary and denying probation.

Judge Craig ordered Felix Ray Jr., Frederick Clyne Williams and James Harlen Owens Jr., each placed on two -year probation on condition they obey the law, pay court costs and make restitution of $250 each.

The three were found guilty of breaking into Winchester Chevrolet Co. in East Prairie and stealing tool boxes and tools.

Stanley Chessor of East Prairie had a five -year sentence stayed on a felony charge of forgery. He was placed on probation and ordered to make restitution of $276.24, obey the law, pay court costs, abide by the rules of his probation officer and refrain from use of intoxicants and drugs unless prescribed by a physician.

Stanley Lee Davidson of East Prairie and Jimmy Wilson of Anniston entered voluntary pleas of guilty to stealing and were each sentenced to six months in jail.

Davidson received credit for seven days and Wilson received credit for 104 days served in jail since the time of their arrest on June 3.

Workshops Planned

JEFFERSON CITY —School bus drivers from Southeast Missouri will be attending child safety workshops this fall in Poplar Bluff on Nov. 29 and Cape Girardeau on Nov. 30.

These one -day workshops --there will be 24 across the state --are sponsored by the State Department of Education and will stress traffic safety, accident prevention, emergency procedures and school bus discipline.

Statistics reveal Missouri's local school districts are responsible for the operation of about 7,500 school busses which transport more than 600,000 youngsters twice daily.

The department of education considers the workshops vital to school bus programs, since accident totals have decreased nine per cent each of the last two years, but total injuries have increased since 1970.

FBI To Probe Wheat Deal

Agnew Suggests Wiretap Set Up

ST. LOUIS AP —Vice President Spiro T. Agnew has suggested that somebody set up the wiretapping raid on Democratic headquarters and the tipped authorities in an effort to embarrass the Republican party.

Advancing that as a personal theory while saying he had no evidence of it, Agnew demonstrated that when he goes campaigning -in his new style as in his old -controversy is virtually assured.

On opening day of his 1972 travels for the Republican ticket, Agnew dealt with two of the most controversial items on the campaign agenda, the Watergate wiretapping, which Democrats are blaming on the GOP, and assertions -which he disputed -that big grain dealers profited from advance word of a U.S. wheat sale to the Soviet Union.

Agnew was campaigning today in St. Louis, with his first appearance scheduled at the dedication of a new juvenile detention center.

After the dedication and a St. Louis speech, Agnew was to move on to Columbus, Ohio. third stop on an eight -state campaign tour.

The vice president Tuesday likened Democratic allegations about the wheat deal to Democratic assertions about the Watergate break -in case, saying the opposition raised an "innuendo of impropriety" without demonstrating anything.

Agnew told a news conference in Minneapolis that President Nixon had asked the Federal Bureau of Investigation to look thoroughly into the wheat deal "to see whether anyone has taken any undue profit, due to any misinformation or improperly revealed information on the part of the federal government."

In Washington, a Justice Department spokesman said: "A preliminary review of the matter referred to by Vice President Agnew is under way."

Dealing with the Watergate case, Agnew said that whoever is guilty of involvement in the raid on Democratic national headquarters in Washington June 17 should be punished, "and insofar as they relate to Republican policy -makers, if that can be shown, we have to take the consequences."

But Agnew said he is convinced "that just didn't happen," and that no top level Republican is involved.

A grand jury has indicted seven men, including five seized inside Democratic headquarters, on charges of illegally entering and conspiring to bug the offices. The other two are former White House aides.

Lawrence F. O'Brien, McGovern's campaign chairman, has filed an invasion -of -privacy suit, naming top Republicans.

"I have a personal theory that I can't substantiate any more than Mr. O'Brien can substantiate his wild accusations," Agnew said.

"What I'm saying is that someone set up these people and encouraged them to undertake this caper to embarrass them and to embarrass the Republican party," he added. "I'm saying there could be someone within this group who was not interested in anything other than having them discovered."

Agnew said in a speech prepared for the juvenile center dedication that the real test for the center will come when a delinquent walks out of it at the end of his stay.

"Correction must be prevention," Agnew said, praising St. Louis County efforts to deal with juvenile delinquency.

Agnew said it has become an ideological cliche to speak of the root causes of crime, which symbolizes an approach "that simply doesn't work."

He said the root cause of crime centers on the problem of the individual criminal. "If we are to deal effectively with crime we must begin by dealing effectively with that individual," he said.

"But the notion that we should restructure our society so that the criminal feels more confortable in it is a specious one.

"The valid approach — the belief that the individual criminal should be rehabilitated — reformed, so to speak is the one we are concerned with today," Agnew said.

COOL THOUGHT ON A HOT SUBJECT

As it is with nearly every problem that comes along, there's more talk than action these days about saving the ecology, preserving our natural resources, and conserving power. It is most encouraging, therefore, when a businessman comes along with a very practical and down-to-earth suggestion that could help us in all three areas.

We speak specifically of Mr. Thomas Berg of San Antonio, Texas. Since Mr. Berg is President of a firm that manufacturers room air conditioners (Friedrich Refrigerators, Inc.) one would assume that he would say: "Buy more room air conditioners." Instead, his firm is spreading the message; "Don't buy more than you need; and when you do buy a room air conditioner, make sure that you have the most efficient unit available."

Mr. Berg insists that no one questions the right of Americans to the comfort produced by room air conditioners for working, sleeping, or for daily summer living. But, he adds, people with room air conditioners in the United States are now using approximately 26 billion kilowatt hours of electricity more than necessary at a time when the energy power of this country is limited and brownouts and blackouts threaten many localities. He furthermore figures that these same people could be saving $543 million a year on their electric bills if they bought cooling united with no more capacity than is needed, and by making sure that they bought high efficiency models.

According to the Friedrich people, the efficiency of a room air conditioner can be determined by dividing the number of BTU's (capacity listed on the name plate) by the number of watts (also on the name plate). The higher the resulting figure, the more efficient the unit and the less it will cost to operate. A rating of nine or more indicates that the unit will produce substantial cooling at low cost.

With folks buying these handy coolers at the rate of over five million units a year, thereby committing our over-taxed power systems to provide an overloaded 3½ billion kilowatt hours of electricity a year, it makes sense to buy thoughtfully to conserve the energy supplies this country needs — and to help fight inflation by reducing electric bills.

VISUAL INSULT

The Senate's vote for a two-year moratorium on tearing down billboards can only be interpreted as a craven surrender to the landscape pollution lobby. The excuse that the delay applies only to signs offering "specific information in the interest of the traveling public" is no excuse at all. That definition covers virtually all billboards.

Nor is there any merit in the purported justification that the postponement is needed to allow the development of alternative ways to provide highway information on service stations, restaurants and other services. Such alternative methods already exist — and are being used in some areas — in the form of all-in-one informational centers at rest stops, or small roadside commercial logotypes which inform motorists where they can get their favorite products or services.

After nearly 15 years of delay since the enactment of the first federal billboard control law, the Senate moratorium action, against Administration objections, is nothing more than a vote for continued visual insults to the traveling public.

KNOCKING OFF
THE PRODUCERS

Everyday we read of political candidates, in particular, who crusade to close the tax loopholes and redistribute the wealth by slapping ever-heavier taxes on those who earn a bit more money. Nothing is said about the rewards society receives by permitting enterprising individuals to prosper from constructive use of their talents.

For instance, a news report tells of an inventor who is 62 years old and has worked for 30 years at the "... mundane fitting of pipes and bending of sheet metal ..." in a tireless effort to create a new type of power plant -- a gas turbine engine to be used in cars. He believes he has perfected a system that makes the gas turbine engine not only more powerful, but capable of meeting the 1976 air pollution standards right now. But what happens if he succeeds in producing his dream of a pollution - free gas turbine engine at the very time when society and government regulators are demanding clean air. Will he be be allowed to keep the rewards of his work or will the tax collector jump on him with both feet the moment he earns an extra dollar?

The irony of the situation is obvious. Everone wants and even demands a better life, but then they proceed to knock off the head of anyone who is smart enough and enterprising enough to help give them the good life they want.

The history books are full of nations that have followed this philosophy to destruction.

LISTEN NOW!

While we listen to the prattly of TV commentators, editorial columnists and political candidates about economics, nothing could shock the complacent consumer more than to drive into his service station and find gasoline prices posted at say $2 a gallon. The fact is that it is time when motorists and everyone else dependent upon the continuing flow of petroleum products should heed the warnings of those who have seen the handwriting on the wall and know what must be done to stave off an irreversible energy shortage crisis.

O. N. Miller, chairman of the board of Standard Oil Company of California, not long ago said in the most explicit way possible, "... that the U.S. is facing a potential energy shortage ... exploration in the U.S. has been discouraged by tax increases, environmental restrictions, and administration of the federal oil-import quota system in a manner that often encourages destructive price cutting in the industry. Deterrents to U. S. exploration can and must be corrected by redirection of government policies and improved prices. When those things occur, domestic exploration will ... surge forward again ... it is not too late for solutions -- but it is, indeed, late enough."

As a practical matter, it is time the American public refused to go along with the easy assumption that only politicians speak for the public interest. The greatest public interest spokesmen at this time are those in the energy industry who are trying to awaken us to the facts of our energy - based life before it is too late -- before prices become playthings of scarcity rather than incentives for greater production.

SEEDS REACT TO

It's a noisy jet that blows nobody any good.

Four scientists at the University of North Carolina in Greensboro have discovered that the kind of noise produced by a jetliner taking off causes turnip seeds to germinate faster than normally.

The researchers subjected both dry and wet turnip seeds to a level of noise equivalent to that of a 727 revving up 100 feet away on the runway. The noise had no affect on dry seeds, reports Science News. But wet seeds germinated in about 10 per cent less time and had about a 100 per cent higher germination rate than seeds in a quite environment.

One explanation is that the sound waves break down the exterior coating of a seed in some way that lets water and oxygen enter more easily. Another theory is that the waves affect the interiors of cells within the seed.

The research opens up at least two interesting possibilities.

In hot regions of the earth, for example, ground temperature is often so high that seeds planted go into a state of dormancy. Sound irradiation might break up that dormancy and permit two crops a season instead of one.

Sound waves might also be used to make weeds germinate before a field is planted. They could then be destroyed by being plowed under and the desired crop sown in a weed-free field

The scientists admit that broadcasting airport- level noise over the countryside is not an appealing prospect. Work is going forward to see if particular wavelengths or combinations of wavelengths can produce the same effects at lower decibel levels, and also to determine the minimum duration of noise needed.

If the questions are answered favorably, suggests Science News, the day may come when farmers set up loudspeakers to play noise at their crops even as they now play music in their barns to keep the cows contended.

OUR $OLONS ON THE GO

Speaking of spending abroad, Congress made 1971 a record year for foreign travel. Members of both houses and staff spent $1,114,387 in public funds on trips aboard, according to a Congressional Quarterly study of congressional travel, up from $825,118 the previous year.

More than half the membership of Congress — 221 representatives and 53 senators — at some time during the year was abroad on official business.

141 YEARS OF
"MAIN STREET, U.S.A."

Kevin Phillips, native New Yorker, recently visited Paris and wrote a political column headed "The Judgement of Paris,Mo."

In it he described Paris as: "Paris, France and this small Missouri town are worlds apart. Here the phone booth in front of the county courthouse smells of hay and Purina chows, and Main Street looks like a Sinclair Lewis reject".

The editor worked in Paris, France for over six months and as far as he is concerned, he'd rather smell hay than the open latrines on the streets of Paris, France.

Although we thought Phillips reflected accurately the general thinking of people here on the McGovern candidacy, we also think he did not see Main Street as it really is to observant American who have not spent most of their lives in New York and the congested areas of the East.

He failed to realize that in its appearance and its buildings, Main Street of Paris, Mo., is actually a record of 141 years of Middle America, ranging from the days of the pioneers who fought the Indians and often lived off the wild life of the area, down to the present jet-age, and direct call telephones.

It is really "Main Street, U.S.A.", and its history.

It's buildings do present a sort of "coat of many colors", and architectural hodge- podge, but the knowledgeable close observer will see on it examples of the earliest l. .nd-made brick buildings and others that have been erected or remodeled in each decade for the last 141 years.

Instead of wishing we had unifrom, dictated and modern appearance, we ought to appreciate the history of Mid-American town building that is so plainly written in the architecture of these buildings, old and new. Perhaps we could get others such as Mr. Phillips to come to an appreciation of this fact if we'd research the history of each building, its period of architecture and its age, the signifigant events connected with the age in which it was built, and label each building with inscriptions carrying that information.

It would probably be the only town in the world with such a Main Street, and unquestionably would attract wide attention from tourists and many of our home people, and give them considerable pleasure as well as a liberal education in how Mid- America developed.

AN INTERESTING
EXPERIMENT

The philosophy of taking "from each according to his ability," and giving "to each according to his need" sounds humane and has had a substantial following among socialist, communist and idealistic young.

A New York high school teacher conducted an interesting experiment with his students. He suggested to them that they take away 20 grade points from those who made a grade of 95 on a test, giving them to those who made only 55 on the same test. This way, both would receive a passing mark. The brighter or more diligent students would be contributing in accordance with their ability, while the less intelligent -- or less diligent -- students would receive in accordance with their need. The instructor then speculated with his students as to the probable results if he were to actually apply this socialist - communist philosophy. The first result would be that the highly productive students would lose the incentive to work for higher grades. The second result would be that the less productive students would be relieved of any obligation to study or to produce. The teacher observed that, "At that point, in order for anyone to survive, the 'authority' would have no alternative but to begin a system of compulsory labor and punishments against even the low producers ..."

This is precisely what happens in an entire society when productive incentive is taxed to death and the nonproducers ride on the backs of the producers.

ANOTHER STORY

Although the Nixon Administration persists in discounting the nation's unemployment problem by emphasizing the rising number of persons with jobs, the actual Government figures, shorn of their public relations interpretation, tell another story.

Mr. Nixon and his apologists boast that employment during his term has risen more than 4,000,000. In August the figure was 81,970,000 compared to 77,902,000 in the last year of the Johnson Administration. But while jobs are up 5.2 per cent, unemployment is up a staggering 72 per cent, from 2,817,000 in 1968 to 4,857,000 last month.

In other words, under Mr. Nixon, only two of each three additional members of the labor force have been able to find work. That figures out to an unemployment rate for Nixon- era job seekers of 33 per cent. If the 750,000 to 1,000,000 who have dropped out of the job market because they have given up on finding a job (and therefore are not officially unemployed) are considered, the ratio worsens, and so would the overall 5.6 unemployment rate, which is more than half again as high as when the Administration came to Washington nearly four years ago.

Another aspect that the press releases tend not to stress is that the unemployment problem — in terms of numbers — is not confined to blacks and other minorities, even though their unemployment rate is 70 per cent higher than the national average. Actually, there are four whites unemployed for every nonwhite looking for work, a situation that has actually deteriorated under the Nixon Administration, because the ratio in 1968 was slightly less — 3.8 to 1. Another way to stating the same information is to note that minority unemployment under Mr. Nixon has increased 63 per cent, from 590,000 to 963,000, while white unemployment has increased 75 per cent, from 2,226,000 to 3,894,000.

When those figures are translated into individual human lives, the personal despair and the social loss of productivity combine to tell a tragic story of waste and misuse of the nation's most important resource, its people. In spite of the press agentry, President Nixon ought to be held accountable.

THE ETNERNAL WANT

A philosopher has said that it is not so much a matter of what we have as what we do with what we have that makes the difference in this world. This philosophy is illustrated with the following facts:

Longfellow could take a worthless sheet of paper, write a poem on it and make it worth $6,000. That's genius.

Rockefeller could sign his name to a piece of paper and make it worth a million. That's capital.

Uncle Sam can take silver, stamp an emblem on it, and make it worth a dollar. That's money.

A mechanic can take metal that is worth only five dollars and make it worth fifty dollars. That's skill.

An artist can take a 50c piece of canvas, paint a picture on it and make it worth $1,000. That's art.

WAR ENDING

The last of the U.S. ground combat force in Vietnam is coming home. They are coming home with honor even though they were never allowed to win a clear -cut decision of arms in the field. For all too many years, their efforts were curtailed by the failure of the politicians in Washington to unleash all -out attacks by air on the communist forces of the North. Air strikes are severe now but they come as the combat infantryman is withdrawn and his place filled by the South Vietnamese. In recent months, the South Vietnamese soldier has acquitted himself well.

The U.S. Army has had more than its share of troubles since going ashore in Asia in the 1960s. It has been accused of murdering civilians, of wholesale use of illicit drugs and of scandal. The average G.I., however, has fought well and bravely against a clever and resourceful enemy.

If criticism must be showered on our efforts in this war, it should be aimed at the political leaders. They forgot the adage of Gen. MacArthur who believed rightfully that "there is no substitute for victory". Our failure to carry the war to the enemy homeland and deprive him of his war -making potential throttled any chance we had of winning a total decision. History can record it no other way.

To the returning infantryman, we say "well done," you are the one who suffered and fought. Your heads should be held high. You would have been victorious had you not been restrained. HLH

The best laid plans of mice and men, not to mention women, invariably go astray when vacation time rolls along.

No matter how early you start, no matter how many lists you make, something is bound to happen that leaves you with a last-minute flurry of unpacked necessities, unconfirmed reservations and and unsettled nerves.

This year I was determined to beat the system.

Our passports were in order. So were our smallpox vaccination certificates, even though you don't need them these days to get back in the country.

The trains, the planes and the mails all were reported to be in working order. Unlike the year there was a postal strike in Britain. Grudgingly, I placed a transatlantic phone call to make hotel reservations in England only to be told: "Can't you confirm it in writing, please?"

This year, I mailed neatly typed letters — carefully filing the carbons — a full three weeks before departure.

Of course I managed to misaddress one of them, sending it to the wrong address in the wrong city in the wrong county. Somehow those British postmen, now back on the job thank goodness, got the letter on the right track and I received an answer. After a longenough delay to allow for considerable worrying — on my part — and derision — on my husband's.

Then there was the problem of laundry. Anyone who's ever packed for vacation knows that it takes at least a master's degree in mathematics to figure out just when to do the last laundry before leaving. Timing is crucial so the whole family has enough clean clothes to take along and enough clean clothes to wear before departure. Naturally, somebody always winds up with one too few pair of something.

Planning where to go is simple, right? Wrong.

Three weeks before we were to leave our itinerary was set. Then someone suggested another option. Two weeks before departure day we were wavering.

Another friend talked about the crowds. Maybe we should change plans. And what about the weather? One week before leaving we were more uncertain still.

An article in a travel magazine offered further possibilities. Returning coworkers told of marvelous — and cheap — little hotels.

Departure day is one day off. Our destination? Uncertain.

But at least everything's packed. Or is it? And did I turn off the lights? What about telling the mailman to hold our letters?

Next year I must get organized.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — Two miles off the glittering beaches of Capetown, South Africa, is tiny Robben Island, which has become internationally knows as one of the world's most notorious prisons.

This is where the white -controlled South African government puts black political prisoners. Conditions are atrocious. Inmates have difficulty obtaining reading matter or even consulting their clergymen.

When former U.S. Attorney General Ramsey Clark visited South Africa two years ago, he sought permission to visit the tightly -guarded island, but was refused.

To the chagrin of top U.S. embassy officials in Capetown, American Ambassador John Hurd, a tall Texan who has given thousands to the Republican party, has succeeded in visiting the island -to go pheasant hunting.

With a pack of beagles leading the way and two men from the prison to pick up the dead birds, Hurd went shooting with Ben Schoeman, the South African minister of transportation.

Nor is this the first time Hurd has displayed callousness toward the black population in South Africa. He has been known to refer to blacks there as "Nigras." He also fought vigorously, although ultimately unsuccessfully, against the appointment of a black diplomat to the U.S. embassy in Pretoria.

When the South African government --using taxes levied both from its white and black citizens --built a fabulous new opera house for whites only, Hurd horrified even some South African whites by accepting an invitation to attend a gala opening bash.

And when Rep. Charles Diggs, D —Mich., began raising questions about whether Hurd would attend, the State Department discreetly arranged for him to be away from Capetown that day.

When we sought comment on the Robben Island hunt, neither Hurd nor other U. S. embassy officials in South Africa would discuss it. The State Department will say only that they have no "official word" that Hurd went on the mini -safari.

We reached Schoeman by telephone in South Africa and he insisted that the prison help he and Hurd had on their excursion was not prisoners but prison employees. However, reports persist that at least some of the helpers were prisoners.

Footnote: The Nixon Administration first sought to send Hurd to Venezuela as ambassador, but the nomination had to be dropped because Hurd was so deeply involved in the Venezuelan oil business that his appointment would have created a conflict of interest.

— HAMMER AND SICKLE —

The Soviet Union, which is now bargaining with oil man Armand Hammer on one of the biggest private commercial deals in Moscow's history, has good reason to smile on the spry 78 -year -old Hammer.

Dr. Hammer negotiated the multibillion dollar contract for oil, gas, metal, fertilizer and other products from a position of sentimental as well as economic strength.

It has been frequently reported how, 50 years ago, Hammer pulled off a similar if smaller deal with the help of Bolshevik leader V.I. Lenin.

Now we have turned up a letter in which Lenin tells how Hammer's father, Dr. Julius Hammer, helped arrange to get U.S. grain to workers in the Urals.

Lenin spoke sympathetically of both Hammers, father and son, although Armand Hammer syas today his recollection is that his father really had nothing to do with the grain deal.

Lenin had good reason, in any case, to view the elder Hammer with kindly eyes. As a well -to -do physician, Hammer senior was an early financial angel of the newly -formed Communist party in New York. Thus, young Hammer went to Russia for his original 1921 deal with excellent credentials.

Elephant -like, Communists never forget. When Hammer arrived in Moscow again in 1972, the Russian leaders had the red carpet rolled out for him.

Soviet foreign trade minister Nicolai Patolichev even had a special recollection of Armand Hammer as he introduced him to Soviet Premier Alexel Kosygin.

Patolichev recalled that, as a school boy, he used lead pencil's from Hammer's concession factory in Russia. "Now, I've graduated to ball point pencils," he remarked at the meeting between Hammer and Kosygin.

SEATTLE (AP) — Paul W. Heck thought he had adequate protection from burglars. His arsenal included 10 pistols, two carbine rifles, a submachine gun, 10,000 rounds of ammunition. He reported to police that burglars broke in and stole it all, taking five cameras as good measure.

Ann Landers

Additional Man Would Solve Party Crisis

Dear Ann Landers: My husband is a highly -placed executive. I worked for nearly 20 years in another organization where I did very well. I quit to take life easier and do the type of home entertaining that Brad feels is vital to his career.

A certain woman who worked as Brad's secretary for five years is causing me some sleepless nights and quiet anguish. He promoted her to Assistant Loan Officer a few months after her husband died. I was very surprised (as well as disturbed) because the man who should have had the promotion was skipped over. Brad said he did it because the "distraught widow" needed more money and an emotional boost. Every now and then Brad will tell me he took "the distraught widow" to lunch because she seemed depressed. (He has no idea how these little lunches depress ME --and I'd never let on.)

We are giving a large party soon and Brad wants to invite this woman. The thought of it burns me to a crisp. Yet if I refuse I might reveal my apprehension which is the last thing in the world I want to do. Please tell me how to play this, Ann. You seem to have your head on straight, which is more that I can say for myself at the moment. ---Kooked Up In Kalifornia

Dear Kal: Invite "the distraught widow" and find an attractive, unattached man to be her escort, Dummy.

Dear Ann Landers: I was in the hospital having my fourth daughter when I read in your column that the male determines the sex of the child. I clipped it out and am saving it for my mother - in -law. When she comes tomorrow I will hand it to her --with pleasure.

The first voice I heard when I came out of the anesthetic was hers. She said, "Don't feel bad, dear. You are still young. Maybe next time you will give us a grandson." I told her there wasn't going to be any "next time," that 35 was not so young ---especially after three Caesarians. I have had it with the joys of motherhood and I let her know it. She looked hurt, as if I had let the family down.

Now that you've made it clear that I am not "to blame" I feel better than I have in years. Bless you. Thank you. I love you, Ann Landers. ——— Clarkson Hospital, Omaha

Dear O.: A woman who has produced four daughters needn't feel that she has let anybody down, my dear. Four queens isn't a bad hand in anybody's game. Glad I helped clarify the situation.

Dear Ann Landers: Recently you said the frequently -repeated statement that vodka and gin do not produce hangovers was "a lot of malarky." You are correct about this, however, please be aware that vodka is plain ethyl alcohol whereas bourbon whisky and some fortified wines contain a number of amyl alcohols called fusels, somewhat similar to the barbiturates. It is a chemical fact of life that ounce for ounce, whiskies, bourbons, wines, iet. are more apt to produce hangovers that vodia --as anyone who has tried them all will tell you.

So watch it, Ann. ---Hung At Hanover

Dear Han: I don't have to watch it, Bub. Tomato juice on the rocks is my drink.

That well -touted beverage that is supposed to leave you "breathless" can also render you senseless. And this, it seems to me, is more important than whether or not you wake up hung -over.

NEW CHEVROLET NAME PLATE — A distinctive European flavor, both in styling and handling and roadability, highlights the new Chevelle Laguna which is available in two and four-door pillar hardtop models and four-door station wagon models. Urethane impact-resistant front bumper, new grille with single unit power beam lamps are highlights of the Laguana. There is more interior roominess front and rear and 2.5 cubic - feet of additional luggage space. Introduction date for all Chevrolets is Thursday, September 21.

Chevrolet, which sells more cars and trucks than any other manufacturer in the world, in 1973 will offer three product lines that are completely new from the ground up ... the Monte Carlo, the division's personal luxury car; an all-new Chevelle; and a completely restyled line of pickup trucks, Chevrolet's first new pickup truck in six years.

The 1973 Chevrolets, featuring seven car series ... from the top-of-the line Caprice to the versatile Vega ... give America's automobile buyer the greatest choice of styling features and safety innovations ever offered in the division's 62-year history.

In the model year that just ended, Chevrolet broke its all time past sales record. Along the way new sales records were established for the Corvette, the Monte Carlo, the Caprice, the Nova, and the Vega ... which gives some idea of the breadth of Chevrolet's current sales strength.

John Z. DeLorean, a General Motors vice president and general manager of Chevrolet, stated that "the '73 models are substantially improved in roadability, comfort and styling."

"In addition," DeLorean added, "Chevrolet dealers are undertaking an all new service program, called Service Supremacy, which should result in a giant step toward better service.

"The addition of an improved product and improved service to the momentum built in the past year should guarantee a super year for Chevrolet in 1973," he concluded.

The 1973 Chevrolet passenger cars and trucks are scheduled for public introduction on Thursday, September 21.

All told, Chevrolet will offer 47 passenger car models in '73, eight more than in the previous year.

The new Monte Carlo ... one of the industry's strongest candidates for Car-of- the- Year honors ... has outstanding handling and roadability characteristics.

From its new impact resistant bumper and new roofline to its sculptured taillights, the Monte Carlo has redesigned interiors, instrument panel and steering wheel.

Also new is an acoustically - engineered double- panel roof while a power - operated all-metal sliding roof is optional.

Another customer- plus is a new 22-gallon fuel tank.

The full-size standard Chevrolet ... -the industry's top selling car ... offers a new luxury series ... the top- of - the-line Caprice Classic.

The Classic sports a convertible model for the first time along with two and four-door hardtops and a four-door sedan.

Also offered are two and three-seat Caprice Estate wagons which have a 125-inch wheelbase and the popular Glide-Away tailgate.

New station wagon names in 1973 are keyed to comparable Chevrolet series. Thus the former Kingswood becomes the Impala wagon and the Bel Air replaces the former Brookwood station wagon in the Chevrolet lineup.

Both Nova and Camaro have new model entries in 1973.

The Nova hatchback coupe features a lift-away deck and six-feet of flat floor when the rear seat is in a downward position. Utility is the hallmark of this remarkabley - handling small-family car either for in-town shopping for for country cruising or camping.

The newest member of the Camaro family is the Camaro Type LT coupe, a luxury touring model which has a 145-horsepower, Turbo - Fire 350 cubic inch engine.

New styling and handling highlight, too, Chevelle for 1973 along with the introduction into the line of the Colonnade hardtop design. The Chevelle is offered in three series ... top-of-the line luxury Laguana, popular Malibu and a new base deluxe model.

In addition, the SS option is available on Malibu Colonnade hardtop coupes and Malibu station wagons.

Wheelbases for the Chevelle include 112-inch for coupes, and 116-inch for sedans.

At the same time, new names adorn Chevelle's wagon line-up including the Laguana Estate and Laguana; Malibu Estate and Malibu; and Deluxe.

Two and three-seat wagons are offered in all Chevelle series.

A new, improved Vega offers eight new exterior colors ... four exclusive to this car line. Four Vega models are the hatchback coupe, notchback coupe, Kammback wagon and panel express truck.

America's only production sports car ... the Corvette ... features evolutionary changes which include an impact-resistant front bumper, side guard beams, hide-a-way windshield wipers, a new air induction system for the engine, steel-belted radial ply tires and a new Turbo-Jet 454- cubic - inch V8 power plant.

Chevrolet in 1973 offers a wide variety of new colors. Availability includes 16 paints and seven extra-cost vinyl tops.

All paint and top colors except black (new for the Chevelle) and white are new. Fifty-three color combinations are obtainable with the new paint and vinyl top offerings.

Highlights by car line are as follows:

CHEVROLET:

The industry's leading seller, the full-sized Chevrolet sports a brand new Caprice Classic convertible for the first time along with two roomy, 125-inch wheelbase top-of-the line Caprice Estate station wagons. The new Caprice Classic lineup also offers a coupe, a sport sedan and a four-door sedan.

Two and three-seat wagons also are available in both Bel Air and Impala series.

The popular Impala offers four models including a custom coupe, a sport coupe, a sport sedan and a four-door sedan while the Bel Air series offers a single four-door sedan only. Both Caprice and Impala models offer standard V8 engines while the Bel Air offers both V8 and six- cylinder. The six-cylinder is not available on the Bel Air station wagon.

Styling features on the new Caprice are wider front grille with prominent vertical bars and bright accents, new header panel and fender caps, and a new impact resistant bumper with built-in parking lamps and center license plate mounting.

Inside, the Caprice offers four knit-cloth and vinyl plus one brocade cloth and vinyl choice for coupe and sedan. Three all-vinyl interiors are available on the convertible while a new soft-rim steering wheel has cushioned center for all full-sized Chevy models.

MONTE CARLO:

Sculptured side and rear-quarter panels, a distinctive Landau top, along with revolutionary handling and roadability make the Monte Carlo a top candidate for Car-of-the Year honors.

The Monte Carlo Landau is designed to achieve the ultimate in personal luxury vehicle comfort offering a sturdier frame, a new highly - refined and tuned suspension system, wider wheel treads, new body mounts, new suspension goemetry concept.

The power steering ratio is revised downward to 15.1 from 16.1 of the previous year. At the same time, steering effort is increased from 14.5 inch-pounds to 17 inch -pounds. These latter two revisions increase steering sensitivity and road feel through steering wheel and contribute importantly to the on-center steering feel improvement.

The confident road feel of the '73 Monte Carlo results from an increase in the caster angle of the front wheels. This increased caster angle of five degrees over last year's model gives Monte Carlo greater self-aligning torque.

Available on the Monte Carlo S and Landau modes is an individualized body acoustical package, rear suspension stabilizer bar and new GR70 x 15 radial ply tires.

The 1973 Monte Carlo offers American motorists for the first time roadability, handling, and quiteness never before experienced by the driver of a standard-sized American automobile.

CHEVELLE:

New Colonnade two and four-door hardtop coupe and sedan models are offered in the Malibu series. An "SS" package for the Malibu coupe as well as station wagon is offered for the first time.

Station wagons now carry the same names as their sedan and coupe counterparts. Chevelle station wagon models for 1973 are offered in three series ... Laguna and Laguna Estate wagon, Malibu and Malibu Estate wagon and the DeLuxe.

NOVA:

The Nova model line-up in 1973 is increased from two to six models consisting of a new hatchback coupe, a regular coupe and four-door sedan in two series, including a new personal luxury Nova Custom.

A new counter-balanced swing-up rear door exposing a fully - carpeted six-feet of flat floor (27.3 cubic feet) with rear seat in downward position highlights the new custom hatchback coupe. The totally flat floor was achieved through redesign of fuel tank (new 21-gallon capacity) and addition of space-saver spare tire.

A choice of three Turbo-Fire V8 engines is available. The 175 hp four-barrel V-8 with dual exhaust is available for the first time in the sedan and hatchback. This power plant was formerly restricted to the coupe model as part of the optional Super Sport package.

A trailering axle ratio is also available with this engine when Turbo Hydra-matic transmission is ordered.

CAMARO:

The all-new Camaro Type LT coupe is a luxury touring model with special exterior and interior appearance features. Luxury seats and sidewall trim, special instrumentation, and special LT steering wheel emblem highlight the interiors. LT exterior package includes dual sport-mirrors, hide-a-way windshield wipers, a lower body side molding with accent paint treatment, LT emblems and 14 x 7 Rally wheels.

The Z28 model features a new 245 hp Turbo-Fire 350 V8 engine with hydraulic valve lifters and a new open-element air cleaner for "power - on - demand" sound. Optional air conditioning is available for the first time with this engine.

VEGA AND CORVETTE:

Evolutionary changes highlight changes for 1973 for both these models.

Vega again offers four body styles including hatchback coupe, notchback coupe, Kammback wagon and panel express truck. Vega also offers new front bumper with stronger mounting for improved protection, new Chevy - built three and four-speed manual transmissions with improved shift linkage design and improved emmission control system.

Quieter ride and even greater handling abilities characterize the 1973 Corvette as one of the most sought after true production sports cars in the world.

In addition, two Stingray versions are offered .... a two-passenger coupe and convertible. The convertible comes equipped with standard folding top, while its hardtop is the removable version option - type.

A new Turbo-Fire 350-cubic inch V8 with hydraulic lifters is offered along with the new 454 V8 and automatic Turbo Hydra-matic transmission available on all engine options.

1922-1972 50 YEARS OF SERVICE AT YOUR STERLING STORE FRONT & NEW MADRID ST.

OPEN SATURDAY NIGHTS TIL 7:00 PM

It's 1973, and Chevrolet roofs are opening, seats are swiveling, bumpers are retracting, hatches are flipping up.

Did you ever have so much to talk about that you didn't know what to say first?

We're happy to report that's us for 1973. But since everything must begin somewhere . . .

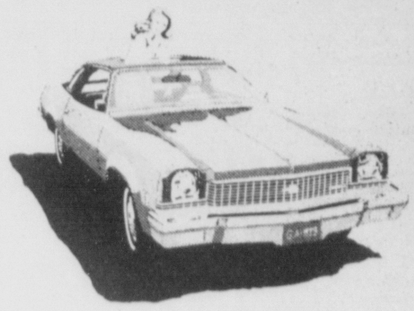
Isn't it romantic?

You see that rectangle beaming at you from above? That's a moon-roof. Not to be confused with a sunroof. (Although many people will undoubtedly be caught using it like one.) A power roof is available on Chevelle and Monte Carlo; a manual one on Nova.

Bumpers are exciting?

This year's are something to get stirred up about. One of our new bumpers, for example, is built around twin hydraulic cylinders. So on minor impact, the whole system retracts to cushion the shock.

It's standard on all big Chevrolet, Chevelle and Monte Carlo models. Nineteen different models to choose from.



New Malibu Colonnade Hardtop Coupe.

New Nova Hatchback Coupe.

Look what we hatched

You know us for our little Vega Hatchback. Now dependable Nova has one. Which literally makes it half trunk with the backseat down. It's a feature as practical as Nova itself.

We've been thinking about your legs

One of the few things people asked us to improve in our popular Chevelle was leg room in the backseat. Well, your knees will be pleased with the '73s. There's almost 3½ more inches in the sedans.

So what else is new

Naturally this is only a taste of what's new for '73.

Among other things, we're introducing larger gas tanks for longer cruising range, a new Exhaust Gas Recirculation system, a hatchback for wagons, and a highly refined flow-through power ventilation system.

Plus a reading light for front seat passengers, improved suspension systems, engines that give you performance combined with gas economy, reclining seats and scores of dramatic styling changes.

We invite you to see it all at your Chevrolet dealer's.

A HIDDEN FOOTBALL STAR

The football season is in full swing, but Maumee University is off to a disastrous start. After losing a game (57 to 0) Maumee, understandably, needs plenty of drilling. During one of these intensive practice periods, a ball is accidentally kicke;out of the field.

Leighton Olson,, stepson of Colonel Steve Canyon, is passing the place and is asked to toss the ball back. Instead, he dropkicks it for what would have been a perfect three points. When the coaches ask him why he hasn't come out the team, Olson tells them it is because he is too small. But this is NOT the real reason. Oley is forced to face that reason when he is ...

DRAFTED FOR THE AUTUMN FOOTBALL WARS!

Why has Oley concealed his football skill while his university was being drubbed unmercifully? Now that his prowess has been revealed, will Olson really get in there and "do or die" for his beleaguered alma mater? Find out in the fast-moving new story in –

Dear Editor:

Did you know that –

1. There are approximately 25,000,000 handguns in the U.S.A.

2. There are 6,000 homicides per year.

3. Statistics prove that about 3/4 of the homicides are by handguns.

4. Therefore out of 25,000,000 handguns only 4,500 wound up in the hands of murderers.

6. Only .018 percent of the handguns were used for murder.

7. 99.982 percent of all handguns were not used for murder.

Let's be practical – the citizenry should not be disarmed because of the acts of .018 percent of the owners of handguns. Just because a few housand people kill themselves and others in automobiles is no reason for taking automobiles away from the rest of us.

Illegal use of handguns – not ownership – should be the objective, so that the few murderous "mad dogs" can be put away quickly.

Get this message to your Congressmen and Senators today before they get carried away with all the shouting and disarm us.

Sincerely,
C.C. Moseley,

INTERLUDE

Ride the wind, the bounding waves,
Or countless miles of hi-ways.

But when you seek that depth of peace,
turn to secluded by-ways.
Let the restless travel on.

Contentment you will surely find,
close by a water fall.
A shady nook, an open book,
The distant song birds call.
A bit of nature to enthrall.

How rewarding if natures wild beauty could be given a free hand.
And not defaced by so called progress of man.

MEMORIES

of things that used to be.
The myster of a winding path,
The shade neath a wayside tree.

Time of changeing seasons,
When the heart was young and gay.
Building up the hopes and dreams,
step by step along the way.

The colorful days of autumn.
The greening up of spring.
The sound of flowing waters.
All in the pattern of woven dreams.

And when comes the golden years,
life seems dearer still.
Just putting together the memories
of a beautiful poem fulfilled.

FLOATING PARKING

DETROIT (AP) — Edmund Craig, 50, a part time inventor, thinks he has the solution to downtown Detroit's parking problems.

He has designed a floating, multistory parking garage to ease the riverfront car storage squeeze. Primary port for the floating garage would be on the Detroit River, docked near the site of a proposed $126-million domed sports stadium.

"There's no use wasting acres and acres of valuable land on ungodly looking parking lots," Craig said. He said the initial engineering plans call for a three-tiered garage set on pontoons or barge-type supports, accommodating at least 445 cars on each of the three decks.

Rotarians Hear Aussie Exchange Student

Rotary District 609 Gov. Horace Dunagan Jr. of Caruthersville challenged the local club to bring Rotary to more Sikestonians Monday night at Ramada Inn.

Club President Paul Jobe and Thatcher Scism, governor - elect for 1973, discussed club plans with Dunagan.

Dunagan also challenged the club to sponsor a Rotary Club in Charleston, become a 500 per cent club in Rotary Foundation and to plan an exchange program ner students.

Wives of members also met and heard Miss Linn Knox, an 18-year-old exchange student from Sydney, Australia, tell about her homeland.

Miss Knox, sponsored by Jackson Rotary Club, will be in the United States for one year.

Miss Knox told the women that the population of Sydney is three million people and that their culture is very similar to the United States. Sydney, a harbor city, is one of the largest in the world and was founded in 1788 as a New England penal colony.

There are only two seasons in Australia, Miss Knox said, summer and winter. Australians are outdoor people and can always be found in parks around the harbor. Nearly all homes have patios, she stated.

Shopping centers are not common in Australia, but small shops that specialize are. The favorite game in Australia is football but cricket also is played.

Sheep is one of the mainstays of the economy, Miss Knox said, but the country is rapidly switching to mining.

Miss Knox told the women that the educational system is very much ahead of the United States and that most of the students only go to school through the 10th grade because the pace is fast and the students work hard.

The only reason a student goes to school 12 years is to be able to attend the university.

All students wear uniforms and each school has its own color and style, she said.

New Parlor War Games

LONDON (AP) — A new parlor game went on sale in Britain today — you try to win the Vietnam war.

The idea of "The Pentagon Game" is to achieve the domination of Indochina on a squared-off map with counters for four players representing the Americans, the South Vietnamese, the Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese.

You can capture villages, bomb dikes, shuffle civilians around — but you can only bring in Chinese Communist troops if the United States invades North Vietnam.

Three British university graduates devised the game.

One of the inventors, 23-year-old sociologist Kim Cuthbertson, told newsmen: "The game isn't biased politically. It reflects the nasty things everyone is doing."

Co-op President Sees Rate Hike

E. S. Nelson of Wyatt, president of the Scott- New Madrid- Mississippi Electric Cooperative, told members attending the 35th annual meeting of the group held in Sikeston in August that a general rate increase for electrical service will be necessary in the near future to offset constantly escalating costs.

Referring to the cooperative's financial report issued to the members at the meeting, he said:

"I would like to assure each and every one of you that the Board of Directors is making an extended effort to keep the cooperative on a sound financial and business basis.

This isn't to say that there aren't problems — there are. Power bills have increased, labor is much higher, and everything that we buy in the way of materials, transformers, etc. are more costly within our operation.

These items are discussed on a monthly basis at our board meetings. If corrective measures are needed, they are started immediately.

"At the present time our source of power is adequate, however, within three or four years it will be necessary to increase our generation which will be due to the constant increased demand for more power to take care of your future needs. Such plans are now in the making.

"What does this all add up to? As you no doubt know, electric and telephone rates have been on the increase throughout the nation the last several months.

Rural Electric Administration has informed all rural cooperatives that it will be necessary to increase rates from time to time in the near future. So far, we have not had an increase in rates, but we are sure it will be necessary in the near future.

Whatever the rate increase should be, we assure you that electricity will still be the best buy. A penny will buy more usefulness in electricity than anything else.

Rally Cut By Tragedy

By CROCKETT SCOTT

"A rally is a time to sell." ... St. Louis stockbroker

Though the tragedy at the Olympics and the possibility of hostilities in the Middle EAst cut short the brief pre-Labor Day rally, central region and Mid-South stock market analysts see good prospects for a fall rally as election time nears.

War in the Mid-East, of course, would knock out such a prophecy. But if no war develops and the prospects of Mr. Nixon's election appear more certain, the odds favor a rally of considerable magnitude moving through wide areas of the lists; particularly the cyclicals, utilities and the oils, they note.

The fundamentals of the economy are good, and getting better, these analysts remind; and once the investor becomes convinced that the upturn in production is not just a flash in the pan -- that it very well can continue into 1973 -- and possibly much further into the future, then a rally is due.

Much of the analysts' enthusiasm comes from the recent meeting of top economists at Williamsburg, Va., where the word of a string economy continuing into next year was in general concurrence.

That inflation would be with us along with prosperity in 1973 should not be too much of a drag, believe the analysts; as inflation is a way of life.

The prediction from Williamsburg is that gross national product next year will be $1,259 billion, a jump of 9.3 per cent above the anticipated total of $1,152 billion for 1972.

Retail sales and new car sales also are encouraging, say the analysts; and despite a sluggish stock market, there are indications that the market very possibly could turn to the upside. One indication is that some of the laggard over the counter stocks after months of dormancy are beginning to show a little life.

An example is the Mid-South insurance firm of Cook, Treadwell & Harry which has gained nearly a couple of points in the last fortnight.

Another is the Houston abstract firm which also sells title insurance, Stewart Information Services. It too has tacked on a couple of points in the past several weeks.

Paine Webber Jackson & Curtis, Inc., 140 Broadway, New York, N.Y. 10005, has a study available on the trucking industry prepared by transportation analysts Howard L. Conklin and Jon L. Weller.

They note that both individual investors and institutions have exhibited more interest in trucking equities during 1971 and 1972; that by year end 1971 a total of 41 trucking firm shares were in public hands, up from 30 in 1960; and that shares outstanding advanced to 80.6 million from 26.1 million with aggregate market value rising to $1.8 billion from $302.3 million.

The study suggests there may be opportunities for investment in the trucking firms which exhibit consistent revenue and earnings growth. Your SEC registered representative's counsel should be sought in the process of making a selection.

For the consideration of the long-term investor, D. A. Davidson & Co., Davidson Building, Great Falls, Mont. 59401, has a study on Harvest Industries, a firm in business since 1946, and publicly held since 1960, with about 70 per cent of sales in animal feed and animal care supplies.

The study tabs what it calls the fragmented animal feed and nutrition business as "ripe for an expanding aggressive concern such as Harvest Industries," and notes that its management anticipates an approximate seven per cent annual increase in the animal feed and nutrition market and a six to eight per cent increase in sales from new products.

Estimates for thycurrent fiscal year sales of approximately $17 million, compared to $13.9 million last year with next expected to be 70 cents a share, up from 47 cents in 1971.

MR. AND MRS. CHARLES HATLEY of Cottonboll Inn at the Interstate 55 interchange in Marston attended Best Western Motels' orientation seminar for owners and operators of 34 member motels. The 46 attendees were guests of Best Western at the chain's Phoenix, Ariz., home office last week.

Boyer Returns From Seminar

Phil Boyer of Ralph E. Boyer Contractor Inc. of Sikeston recently returned from a five- day seminar held in Raleigh, N.C.

The construction management seminar, conducted by The Fails Management Institute in Raleigh, was the first of a series of uniquely programmed seminars for young men in the field of construction.

More than 50 young men representing 24 states, attended the workship held on the campus of North Carolina State University.

The course included segments on the construction industry: past, present, and future, construction economics and balance sheet analysis as well as estimating and a few sections devoted to analyzing each student's personal management skills, talents and capabilities.

PCA Offices Completed

DEXTER — The new Production Credit Association office building at the corner of South Walnut and Carter Streets is now completed.

The board of directors held its first meeting in the brick colonial building Friday and customers viewed the finished offices.

The P.C.A. office was located on Locust Street for several years prior to construction of the new office.

In addition there were sections presented on interstatement analysis, company organization and the closely- held corporation to give the student a greater working knowledge of the management skills necessary for the formation of future leaders in the construction industry.

The seminar is the first in a three- year program.

Chaffee Man Elected To State Board

CHAFFEE— At the Missouri State Convention of Independent Insurance Agents held at Kansas City, Joe P. Rice of Rice Insurance Agency was elected to the board of directors of the state association.

He will represent agents who are members of District 6 of the MAIIA in the following counties: Scott, Cape Girardeau, New Madrid, Mississippi, Bollinger, Texas, Howell, Shannon, Oregon, Iron, Reynolds, Carter, Ripley, Butler, Wayne, Madison, Dunklin, Pemiscot and Stoddard.

He will serve a three -year term, such terms determined by the number of votes a director receives, the longest term of three years going to the men who receive the most votes.

Hearnes Dedicates Memorial

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (AP) — A memorial, consisting of a seven-foot obelisk shaped like the Washington Monument, has been dedicated at the Freedom Foundation in Valley Forge to the 54 Missourians who have been awarded the medal of honor.

The memorial, surrounded by dogwood trees, shrubs and plants indigenous to Missouri, was dedicated by Gov. Warren E. Hearnes in brief ceremonies Saturday. About 250 persons attended.

There are two meditation benches beside the memorial and a flagpole for the state flag is nearby. The obelisk, which has the state soeal on one side and a tablet with the 54 names on the other, is made of Missouri carthage granite. The benches are marble.

Missouri is the 14th state to set up a memorial. The Foundation hopes that memorials for all states, Puerto Rico and the District of Columbia will be completed by 1976.

The foundation, located in this Philadelphia suburb where General Washington and his revolutionary troops wintered, has set aside 50 wooded acres to honor the nation's medal of honor winners.

The $10,000 necessary to install the memorial and insure its perpetual care was raised by a state Medal of Honor commission.

Bond Pledges Women To Fill State Jobs

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Christopher Bond, Republican candidate for governor, pledged today that women "will be actively recruited for top level jobs" in his administration if he is elected.

"Women do at least 90 per cent of the work involved in helping a candidate campaign," Bond told a luncheon audience of the Kansas City Women's Chamber of Commerce.

In his state auditor's office, Bond said, women hold top jobs and get the same pay as men.

"There is scarcely a field of endeavor in which women are not providing leadership today and Missouri must utilize that talent to provide better public services for its citizens," he said.

"Highly qualified women throughout our state serve in professional fields ranging from banking and medicine to education and government. Women who can provide such expertise must be recruited to work for Missouri."

Arrest Suicide

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — William Evans was supposed to be dead, but police arrested him anyway.

Last Tuesday, police said, Evans parked a rented car on the city's Highland Park Bridge and left a suicide note inside, apparently to throw off detectives who were on his trail.

But after a tip from an informant, police arrested Evans Monday.

He was charged with auto theft, forging auto titles and stealing credit cards and jailed in lieu of $9,000 bond to await a hearing.

Patrol Finds New Traffic Excuses

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Missouri highway patrolmen say they are getting some imaginative excuses when they stop drivers.

The patrol's public information office gave these examples today:

"I was just trying to get to the rest area before I had an accident."

"I just had my tires balanced and I wanted to see at what speed they would vibrate."

"My carburetor doesn't work right at any lower speed."

"My muffler is bad and I was trying to stay ahead of the traffic so the noise wouldn't bother them."

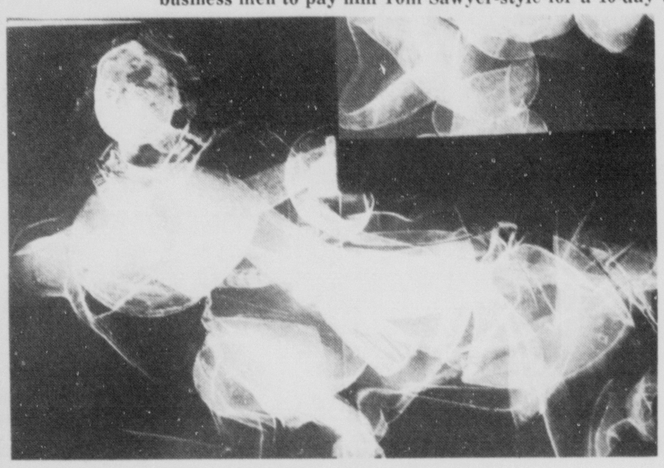
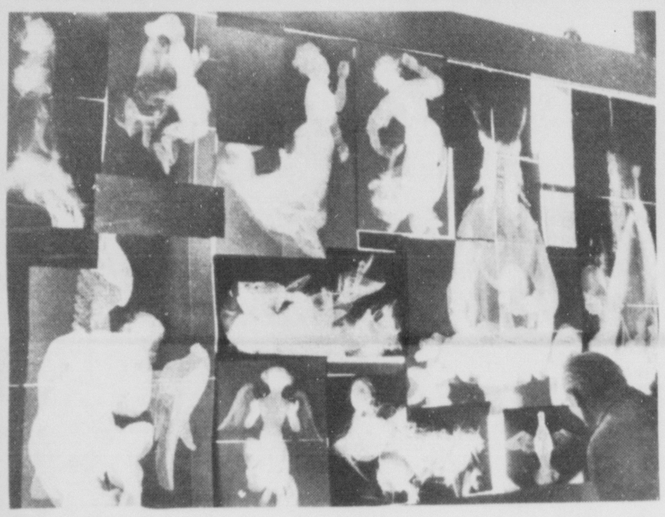
Ghostly Masterpiece

results when modern technology is applied to the restoration of a medieval art work. A series of 40 X-ray pictures taken of an internationally famed work, "The Annunciation," below, carved by Viet Stoss (1455-1533) turned out to be so artistically interesting that the pictures also went on display, below right, with the restored masterpiece in Nuernberg's St. Lawrence Church.





TO ACT or to politic? That could be the question being pondered by a pensive Shirley MacLaine in her latest role as co-chairwoman of the McGovern-Shriver National Advisory Committee.

1. In Memoriam

In Memory Of Our Son and Brother (Rickie Lee Holyfield)

Just when his days seemed the brightest
Just when all hopes seemed best
God came and took him from us
to his home of eternal rest.

Dear God forgive a selfish tear
A selfish wish that he was still here
There are others that we know
But he was ours, we loved him so,
It broke our hearts to give him up,

But he did not go alone,
For part of us went with him
the day God called him home.
Our hearts still ache with loneliness,
Our eyes shed many tears,
And God you know how much we still miss him,
At the close of one (1) sad year.
September 17, 1971

Coach Speaks To Kiwanians

Sikeston High School's new head football coach, Pete Cirrantano, was guest speaker at the Kiwanis Club meeting Tuesday night at Ramada Inn.

Cirrantano, a graduate of Northeast Missouri State Teachers College in Kirksville, became familiar with the Southeast Missouri area while playing football. He has had five years of coaching experience, including one and one- half years as an assistant at Arkansas State University in Jonesboro.

"I think Sikeston is a great community," he said, "and my associations here have been fantastic."

Cirrantano' philosophy is "to work at it" and these boys are "working at it", he said. His teaching technique is to discipline and teach self-respect.

Cirrantano told the club that the team is young, but "we should be there in three years."

The team won the first game against Farmington and lost the second outing at Perryville. This Friday.'s game will be against Charleston in the home opener.

"Our town is supporting us and our kids will give 100 per cent Friday night," he concluded.

Your plumbing contractor belongs to one of the oldest professions on earth, the Plumbing- Heating- Cooling Information Bureau points out. His very name comes from the Roman word "plumberius," which means a worker in lead, pipe having been made chiefly from that material in the days of Rome's glory.

Oldsmobile Story

LANSING, Mich. -- Oldsmobile Division's 1973 lineup feautres a new compact car, completely redesigned Cutlass models and a long list of engineering advancements.

From its compact Omega to the luxurious 98 and Toronado, Oldsmobile spans the automobile market with 27 models, two more than in 1972. All 1973 Oldsmobiles will be in dealer showrooms September 21.

Following are highlights of the 1973 lineup:

OMEGA

Oldsmobile's new entry, the Omega, is built on a 111 - inch wheelbase and has an overall length of 197.5 inches. It is offered in three body styles ... a two- door coupe, a four- door sedan and a hatchback coupe that has a rear door that opens upward to reveal a flat carpeted load floor extending from the front seat to the rear end when the rear seat back is folded down.

Front and rear bumpers are rigidly mounted to meet new requirements. The bumpers protect the car's safety systems in front - end barrier impacts up to five miles per hour and rear barrier impacts up to 2.5 mph.

The Omega's standard engine is the 250 cubic - inch six - cylinder and the 250 V-8 four- barrel is optional. Other Omega options include power drum and pwer disc brakes, variable ratio power steering and Turbo Hydra - matic transmission.

CUTLASS MODELS

All intermediate Cutlass models have been completely redesigned for 1973. The design of these cars is new and contemporary, but still readily identifable as Oldsmobiles.

The intermediate lineup features seven models... two Vista Cruisers, two Cutlass Supremes, one Cutlass 'S' and two Cutlass models. The F - 85 nameplate has been discontinued.

The front ends of these cars feature single seven- inch headlamps in place of dual lights. These single sealed beam units have more candle power on low beam than last year's dual headlight system.

The new energy - absorbing front bumper meets the five mph barrier impact requirements. Grilles are hinged at the bottom and retract with the bumper during a low- speed impact. The Cutlass and Cutlass 'S' have rectangular pattern dual grilles, while the Supreme and Vista Cruiser have a dual vertical bar design.

Rear - end design of the 1973 Cutlass models is new. Large vertical taillamps are mounted in the body, except on the Vista Cruiser where four bumper - mounted lamps are used. The Cutlass Supreme has a specific taillamp.

The rigid rear bumper on all Cutlass models meets the 2.5 mph barrier impact requiremtnt.

The 1973 Vista Cruiser is built on a 116 - inch wheelbase, with an overall length of 219.3 inches, one inch longer than last year. The roof glass dome is replaced by the "Vista Vent," a section of moveable tinted glass over the front seat. The "Vista Vent" is optional on Cutlass, Cutlass 'S' and Cutlass Supreme colonnade hardtop coupes.

The Vista Cruiser, available in two - and three - seat models, features a lift- open tailgate with a fixed window.

Two special packages, the Salon and 4-4-2, are optional for 1973.

The Salon is available with the Cutlass Supreme colonnade hardtop sedan. Many exceptional features comprise the Salon package to create a highly personalized car combing the comfort and appearance of a domestic car with the favor of a European road car.

The Salon option includes contoured, reclining front seats, steel-belted radial whitewall tires, front and rear stabilizer bars, a front compartment console, and a headlight dimmer switch actuated by a turn - signal lever.

The 4-4-2 is optional on the Cutlass and the Cutlass 'S' colonnade hardtop coupes. The package includes a specific grille, hood louvers, side striping, hood and deck lid striping. The specially adapted suspension includes front and rear stabilizer bars, higher rate springs and shock absorbers.

Front disc and rear drum brakes are standard on all intermediates. Power brakes are optional on all models except the Vista Cruiser where they are standard. Variable - ratio power steering is also optional.

88'S AND 98'S

Sixteen models are offered in Oldsmobile's 1973 88 and 98 lineup, including a new addition ... the Regency sedan. Introduced as a limited option on the 98 last year, the Regency has become a full - fledged model in 1973.

Among the special features of the Regency are extra-luxurious interior trim and upholstery, a 60/40 front seat and a specific clock.

Design modifications are evident in all new 88's and 98's. Hoods and fenders on these cars have been revised, and front end panels and parking lamps are new.

Also new is a hydraulic front bumper system with more impact- absorbing capabilities than last year's system. This bumper is built to protect the safety systems in a five mile per hour barrier impact in conformance with federal standards.

The 88's and 98's have new dual grilles that are hinged at the bottom and retract with the bumper on impact into the front end panel.

At the rear, the 88's have revised deck lids and rear quarters and new taillamps. A new rear bumper with integral vertical taillamps enhances the 98 models. Rear bumpers on the 88's and 98's are rigidly mounted.

1973 Oldsmobile Omega Hatchback Coupe

Oldsmobile for '73

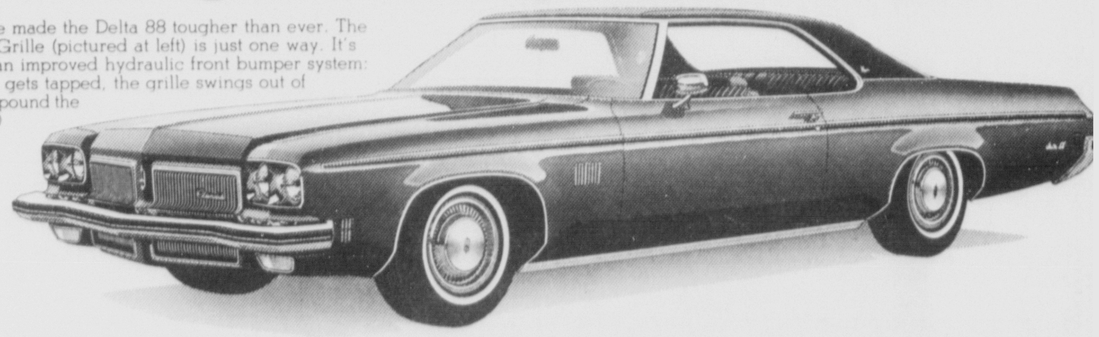
Cutlass. It's two new cars.

Cutlass S Colonnade Hardtop Coupe. Sportier this year. Roomier. Heavier. Yet surprisingly easy to own. Even if you order the new swivel bucket seats.

Cutlass Supreme Colonnade Hardtop Coupe (foreground). More of a little limousine than ever. You can see it in the formal roofline and new opera side windows. You can feel it in the spacious, quiet interior. And even in the ride we've patterned after our bigger Oldsmobiles.

Delta 88—with a new grille that swings out of harm's way.

For '73, we've made the Delta 88 tougher than ever. The Swing-Away Grille (pictured at left) is just one way. It's teamed with an improved hydraulic front bumper system: if the bumper gets tapped, the grille swings out of the way. We pound the seats 100,000 times, and drive the Delta 88 thousands of hard miles, to test durability. All to make sure it's more than just big, comfortable and smooth-riding—not just another pretty car.



Omega. The new compact Olds at a compact price.

It's a whole new kind of Olds. And the lowest-priced of all. Omega is a compact —but one with big-car thinking built in. It's nearly 500 pounds more car than some smaller compacts. Its wheelbase is longer, 111 inches, for a smooth ride. And you can feel the difference on the road. A deluxe interior with new "wet-look" vinyl trim is standard. So is full carpeting. And a 250-cu.-in. engine. Coupe, 3-door hatchback or sedan, it's a lot of Olds for the money.

See the '73 Toronado, Ninety-Eight, all the new ones at your Olds dealer's showroom now.

PP&K Registration For 8-13 Year Olds

Registration has begun for the 1972 Punt, Pass and Kick Competition in the showroom of Sikeston Motor Company.

In making the announcement, Clint Elledge, president of the dealership, said: "We're looking forward to a big local PP&K competion in Sikeston. We hope all the boys 8-13 years of age in this area will come in to register and take part."

Elledge pointed out that PP&K -- throughout its six levels of competition -- is free of charge, and that a boy need only have a parent or his guardian accompany him to the showroom to register.

"Our competition here will have first, second and third place trophies for boys in each of the six age groups, or 18 trophies in all," said Elledge.

"Increasing each boy's chances of winning is the fact that he competes only against other boys in his own age group," said the Ford dealer.

"Of course, there is no body contact in PP&K. It's punting, passing and place kicking for distance and points, just as the name says. First place winners in each age group in our competition will go on to the zone competition. And from there, top winners go on up the ladder through district, area, division and national finals," he said.

"This year, the national finals will be held in Dallas, Tex., at the Pro Bowl Game, Jan. 21. Finalists get an all-expense- paid trip to Dallas for themselves and their parents, plus a special tour of fabulous Dallas, a banquet of champions celebration, and the chance to meet some of the top players and coaches in professional football. Naturally, we hope some of our Sikeston PP&K winners will make it all the way to the finals," Elledge said.

The Ford dealer further explained that each boy upon registering receives a free P&K Tips Book. In the 1972 edition, there are competition tips by NFL stars Dave Lewis, Roger Staubach and Garo Yepremian plus allround suggestions from Coaches of the Year Don Shula and Tom Landry. The Tips Book also includes complete PP&K rules and helpful conditioning exercises for contestants.

PP&K registrations will close Sept. 29.

This is the 12th anniversary year for PP&K. From its inception, the youth activity has been sponsored by the Ford Dealers of America and the National Football League. In that time more than eight million boys have take n part in PP&K.

Rain Assists Boston

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The winner of this mad, mad, mad American League East pennant chase obviously will be the team that manages to play fewer games than the others in the final two weeks of the baseball season.

Boston was back on top of the pack today, thanks to some friendly clouds that dumped enough moisture on Fenway Park to force postponement of Tuesday night's scheduled game against Baltimore. The rainout meant the Red Sox couldn't lose—something Detroit and New York did quite thoroughly.

Detroit, which had taken the lead the night before thanks to an open date on the schedule, dropped a doubleheader to Cleveland 3-2 and 6-4 to slip into a second place tie with Baltimore, one-half game behind Boston. Fourth place New York lost to Milwaukee 7-2, but with the Tigers losing twice, the Yankees actually gained a half game on Detroit and remained 2½ games out of first place, now occupied by the Red Sox.

Elsewhere in the AL, Minnesota topped Texas 5-3, Kansas City trimmed California 7-2 and Chicago took Oakland 8-7 in 15 innings.

In the National League, Pittsburgh dumped New York 5-1, clinching a tie for the NL East title, Cincinnati reduced its magic number in the West to four by beating San Francisco 5-4, Montreal thumped Chicago 7-2, Houston downed Atlanta 53, St. Louis edged Philadelphia 2-1 in 10 innings and San Diego topped Los Angeles 5-2.

Bill Parsons throttled New York on six hits and George Scott and Johnny Briggs tagged consecutive homers for the Brewers. And, believe it or not, the Brewers felt the pennant pressure every bit as much as the Yanks.

"There's really more pressure on us than on New York, Boston, Detroit and Baltimore," said Scott, "because we don't want to be on a last place club the rest of our careers. Every win means something for us, if only for morale next spring."

The loss didn't do much for the Yankees' morale. New York still figures it has a break in the schedule with 10 of 12 remaining games against Cleveland and the Brewers, the East tail-enders.

Of course, after what happened to Detroit, the Yankees may have second thoughts over how soft a touch the Indians may be.

Steve Dunning did in Detroit in the opener, cracking a home run and scattering nine hits before Ed Farmer came out of the bullpen to nail down the victory.

After beating Mickey Lolich in the opener, the Indians completed the sweep as Graig Nettles tagged his 17th homer of the year in the nightcap.

Willie Horton accounted for three Tiger runs with an eighth inning homer.

Cesar Tovar hit for the cycle, a single, double, triple and homer, with the homer coming in the bottom of the ninth inning to move Minnesota past Texas.

Bobby Darwin tagged a tworun homer for the Twins.

Kansas City got six-hit pitching from Monty Montgomery to defeat California. Montgomery also contributed a double and a run-scoring single to the 15-hit Kansas City attack.

Paul Schaal had three hits for the Royals and Cookie Rojas and Lou Piniella added two apiece.

The A's and White Sox played a marathon, going through 15 innings, 51 players, and 4 hours, 51 minutes before Chicago won.

It took a home run by Jorge Orta to win it for the Sox after the A's had come from behind twice—once on a two-out, tworun single by Joe Rudi in the ninth inning and the other time on a two-run 13th inning homer by Dave Duncan.

It turned into a battle of attrition at the end and the Sox eventually left the A's clean out of troops. With two men on in the bottom of the 15th and two out, Oakland Manager Dick Williams had only one available player to pinch hit for pitcher Gary Waslewski. The last man was another pitcher, Ken Holtzman, and when he struck out, the marathon was over.

The vital victory kept Chicago's flickering West hopes alive. The White Sox are four games back and Oakland's magic number remains nine.

How To Ruin A Good Story

HERMITAGE —Come on, Steven X. White, you old cold -water -thrower, you!

Steve White is conservation agent for Pomme de Terre Lake. Maybe that's what gives him the facility for taking the wind out of a guy's sails.

Twice in July, White took a good story and ruined it. Once was when a local landowner showed up with plaster casts of prints which he was sure were those of a large cat. "Looked like some kind of dog tracks to me," White said.

Then some people showed up at the Corps of Engineers office at the lake with a bird which they thought was a cross between a rare duck and a turkey.

"Their rare bird looked like a cross between a mallard and a tame Muscovy," White says.

Geez! He probably thinks Santa Claus is a guy who lost his razor. Probably doesn't even believe in trolls. It's much more fun to be somebody who says, "I know what I know. Don't confuse me with facts."

Barnum's Beginning

P. T. Barnum, the world's most famous showman, began his career in 1835, with the purchase and exhibition of Joyce Heth, a Negro woman weighing only 46 pounds, alleged to have been George Washington's nurse and reported to be over 160 years old.

1973 PONTIAC

Pontiac for 1973 features a new sporty intermediate, fresh new styling and continued engineering improvement in energy - absorbing bumpers and emission control.

There are 33 models in the new Pontiac lineup including 13 full-size Pontiacs, two Grand Am and seven LeMans intermediates, four Firebirds, six Venturas and the Grand Prix.

The addition to the intermediate line is the stunning new Grand Am which incorporates classic styling with unique ride and handling characteristics. A distinctive body - colored front bumper and flexible rubber-like urethane front end panel combine functional styling with engineering to give an improved bumper system.

On most 1973 models, Pontiac has front bumpers which exceed the requirements of the Federal bumper standards by being completely self- restoring in a five- mile-per hour barrier test.

The new bumper system on the front of all full-size and intermediate Pontiacs and the Grand Prix features a new energy- absorbing unit mounted to the frame that can compress up to three inches and return to normal position when the force is removed.

This unit utilizes heavy telescoping steel chambers, pressurized gas and hydraulic fluid to absorb the impact.

Protective rub strips and bumper guards are available.

The new rear bumper on all Pontiac full-size and intermediate - size cars except Safaris is backed up with a high strength steel-boxed beam reinforcement. The bumper is supported with flexible steel bars to form a spring system.

Extensive changes have been made on the 1973 engines to meet more stringent exhaust emission standards with no reduction in engine performance or driveability. In fact, overall driveability and fuel economy will, in most instances, be significantly better.

A new EGR (exhaust gas recirculation) system helps reduce oxides of nitrogen to 1973 standards. This system introduces exhaust gas into the air fuel mixture in the intake manifold, when required, lowering peak combustion temperature with consequent reduction of NOX.

A new carburetor choke designed contributes to substantial reduction in hydrocarbon and carbon monoxide emissions. On the initial cold start the choke is on strong for improved driveability, but is pulled off more rapidly as the engine warms up for improved emission control and fuel economy.

Also new for 1973 is a duct system directing cold air to the carburetor. This increases maximum engine power and allows greater spark advance with a consequent increase in fuel economy.

The standard Pontiacs feature an all new front end with the grilles for 1973 extending the full width of the front, wrapping around the leading edge of the fenders.

The luxurious Grand Ville is offered as a two-door formal hardtop coupe, a convertible coupe and a four-door formal hardtop sedan. Grand Villes are built on a 124-inch wheel base (127-inch for Grand Safari) with an overall length of 224.8 inches. The Grand Safari wagon is available in two or three-seat models.

The Bonneville is offered as a two-door hardtop coupe, a four-door hardtop sedan and a four-door sedan.

Built on a 124- inch wheelbase (127-inch for the Safari), the Catalina is offered in five body styles - two - door hardtop, four-door hardtop, four - door sedan and the two and three-seat Safaris. The Catalina convertible and Catalina Brougham series have been discontinued. All full-size Pontiacs measure 224.8 inches long (except the Safari 228.8).

The Grand Prix carries through an interpretation of Pontiac's traditional front end split center theme.

The 1973 model is 2 1/2 inches wider and four inches longer than last year's model with a 116-inch wheelbase, and is 216.6 inches long.

Immediately noticeably in profile is a new fixed quarter window which blends with the classic styling and improves visibility. A distinctive "GP" emblem is included in this rear quarter window.

In the rear, the "boat tail" theme is accented by a pronounced rear crease extending through the rear window.

The stunning new Grand Am highlights the 1973 intermediates from Pontaic. This new sporty luxury car is offered as a two-door hardtop (112-inch wheelbase) and four-door hardtop (116-inch wheelbase).

The fixed rear quarter window on the Grand Am coupe features body-colored or top-colored louvers.

One of the most distinctive features of the Grand Am is its outstanding roadability. Use of steel belted radial tires with a specially tuned suspension provide a smooth ride and outstanding handling.

The intermediates have an all-new appearance with larger glass area and thinner corner pillars giving improved visibility all around while affording improved roof strength, tight body and glass fits and reduced wind noise.

Other intermediates are:

LeMans - Two-door coupe, four-door sedan and two and three-seat Safari.

LeMans Sport Coupe.

LeMans Custom Safari - Two and three- seat wagons.

The GTO - offered as an option on LeMans coupe and LeMans Sport Coupe.

Luxury LeMans - Two-door hardtop and four-door sedan.

Distinctive Firebird styling is highlighted by a new grille and front bumper for 1973.

Available in a two-door fastback coupe, this line comes in four models: Firebird, Espirit, Formula and Trans Am. All are built on a 108-inch wheelbase and measure 192.1 inches long.

A new improved Endura bumper has a four-inch thick foam center section with increased structural support to meet bumper standards.

FUNCTIONAL VENTURA HATCHBACK — The new Ventura Hatchback Coupe features a folding rear seat and a rear hatchback panel with a telescopic spring-loaded lift mechanism. Included is a space saver spare tire with an aerosol canister stowed under the floor. The compact economy Ventura is also offered as a two-door coupe, four-door sedan, in a new Custom series, and as an optional Sprint.

The compact economy Ventura is offered as a two-door Hatchback Coupe, a two-door coupe and a four-door sedan on the standard Ventura and the new Ventura Custom.

The optional Ventura Sprint comes in either a two-door Hatchback Coupe or a two-door coupe, and has its own distinctive sporty front end.

All Venturas are built on a 111-inch wheelbase.

The new Ventura Hatchback Coupe features a folding rear seat and fully-trimmed sidewalls in the cargo area. Included is a space saver spare tire with an aerosol canister stowed under the floor. The rear hatchback panel has a telescopic spring - loaded life mechanism.

Two new major options are offered for 1973. Radial ply tires are standard on the Grand Am and Grand Prix SJ, and are available on Formula and Trans Am Firebirds, the Bonneville and the standard Grand Prix.

The new 455 super duty engine is available on the Formula and Trans Am Firebirds, the LeMans coupes, Grand Am coupe and Grand Prix. This power plant provides excellent performance capability, improved driveability and cold weather operation, and improved durability during high rpm operation.

Inside, there are significant changes and improvements on the 1973 models.

The intermediates feature all new trim and instrument panels. The Grand Am sports new wide wale corduroy cloth trim.

Standard on the Grand Am and available on the Grand Prix are new seats that provide adjustable support on the driver's back.

The Grand Prix has new bucket or bench seats with a new "cockpit" theme in the instrument panel.

The Grand Prix and Grand Am introduce a new modular instrument panel wiring concept that results in greater reliability and ease of service.

Real "cross fire" mahogany wood accents the instrument panels and consoles on the Grand Am and Grand Prix, and also door panels on the Grand Prix.

The Grand Prix and Grand Am have a new turn signal dimmer. By pulling the turn signal lever horizontally, the driver is able to dim or brighten the headlights.

Wood inserts on Catalina door panels are new on that series.

The Bonnevilles highlight the luxurious Keswick cloth as new trim.

On the Grand Ville, three dimensional simulated wood carvings accent the door panels and instrument panel.

On the LeMans series, servicing of the instrument panel has been made much easier. The lower door panel comes off easier for window alignment and servicing the life mechanism.

The LeMans Safaris feature a new one-piece liftgate, manually - operated and hinged at the top. A remote liftgate release is available.

All 1973 Pontiac models will utilize computer selected springs. This procedure results in springs being selected specifically for a given vehicle according to body style, model and options.

A unitized ignition system is standard on the Gran Prix SJ and is optional on all four - barrel engines except the SD 455 engine. This system provides for extended spark plug life, a maintenance - free distributor, hotter longer spark plug fire and better cold and damp weather starting. Unitized ignition combined with the maintenance - free battery (standard on SJ) and an integral alternator (standard on all Pontaic V-8 models) provide essentially a maintenance - free electrical system.

Shock absorbers, both front and rear, have been revised on the Grand Prix, Pontiac, LeMans and Ventura series for improved ride balance.

Rowe Named NFL Star

ST. LOUIS (AP) — "If you're uptight and worried, you're not going to be able to think about the game of football," said mustachioed Bob Rowe, the Defensive Player of the Week in the National Football League.

Rowe, conceding he's the worrying type, discarded the pattern Sunday and led the St Louis Cardinals to a 10-3 victory over the Baltimore Colts in an NFL opener.

"One of my big things is having confidence in myself," said the 6-foot-4, 260-pound tackle, who deflected one Baltimore field goal try and blocked two others.

In addition, the 27-year-old product of Western Michigan contributed four unassisted tackles including one of the Colts' Johnny Unitas that help stymie a last-minute Baltimore threat.

"I just decided this is my year," said Rowe, the Cards' second-round draft choice in 1967. "This is my sixth year, and obviously I'm capable of playing in the league. Now's the time to play football.

"I just felt that I was good enough to make the ball club, and I had to prove to myself and to the coach that I was when I came to camp. I'm a worrier. I worry about whether I'm doing a good enough job and whether I'm doing my part."

Rowe, who in the Cards' final pre-season game recovered three Chicago Bears fumbles, began doing his part by deflecting a Jim O'Brien field goal attempt in the second quarter from the St. Louis 30.

His helmet was in the way that time, and later in the third quarter, with St. Louis leading by its final margin, Rowe cleanly blocked still another kick from the Cards' 38.

Baltimore was really not through, however, until Rowe sacked Unitas for a five-yard loss as the Colts were driving from the Cards' 30 in the game's final two minutes.

Rowe, two years a part of a Cards front four which shut out three straight opponents, called an adaptation to Coach Bob Hollway's zone defenses a major factor in his resurgence.

"I'm learning Coach Hollway's philosophy of getting off the line quickly," he said. "Ours was a reading defense under coaches (Dick) vVoss and (Charley) Winner. Now we try to explode.

"The zone's a hard defense for a quarterback to crack, because he has to hold the ball longer.

Grid Picks

NEW YORK (AP) — UCLA, already having beaten one college football giant with an opening-game upset of Nebraska, goes for another Saturday night when the Bruins take on Michigan's defending Big Ten Conference champions in Los Angeles.

The triumph over Nebraska hinged on five turnovers—three fumbles and two interceptions— and UCLA's Pepper Rodgers is hopeful of more of the same.

"To beat Michigan we need turnovers," he says. "Bo Schembechler has got to play some people who will give us the ball.

"Talk about Michigan not making errors," he went on, harking back to films of the Wolverines' 7-0 victory over Northwestern last weekend, "there was a fumble and I think Bo sent him to Siberia. The player left the game and I didn't see him return."

The highlight of this young season has been the return of ... UCLA.

Southern California at Illinois—Illinois' Bob Blackman is one USC alumnus who may want to fire the Trojans' coach this weekend—for winning. Southern Cal.

Oregon at Oklahoma—The Ducks waddle into Oklahoma's Wishbone this weekend and UCLA's next week. The Ducks will snap, not the Wishbone. Oklahoma.

Nebraska at Army—Army has a 73-6-3 record in opening games. Last year, though, the Cadets lost to Stanford and this year they'll lose to ... Nebraska.

Notre Dame at Northwestern—The last Northwestern coach to beat Notre Dame was Ara Parseghian. The last Notre Dame coach to beat Northwestern was Ara Parseghian. He did it by a 50-7 score last year and the Wildcats are sharpening their claws for revenge. Upset special for the week ... Northwestern.

Miami, Fla. at Texas—Better late than never for the Longhorns to open their season. Texas.

Washington at Purdue—Boilermakers are boiling after losing to Boiling ... er, Bowling Green. But they also may be looking ahead to Notre Dame. Washington.

grid quiz 5

by Dave Nelson, executive secretary, NCAA Football Rules Committee

A UCLA wide receiver on first down and 10 yards to gain runs directly at a USC defender who blocks the receiver before a forward pass is thrown. The receiver, in an attempt to protect himself from the block, uses his hands to push the defender. The pass is incomplete.

The official should:

1. Penalize UCLA 15 yards from the spot of the contact for offensive pass interference.

2. Penalize UCLA 15 yards from the spot of the snap for offensive pass interference.

3. Declare second down and 10 yards to go.

Answer: Number 2. Penalize UCLA 15 yards from the spot of the snap for offensive pass interference.

Rule: (7-3-8) Interference by Team-A or Team-B players is prohibited from the time the ball is snapped until it is touched by any player.

Rule: (9-3-3) The hand may not be used to deliver a blow, grasp, push, or pull an opponent by the teammate of a runner.

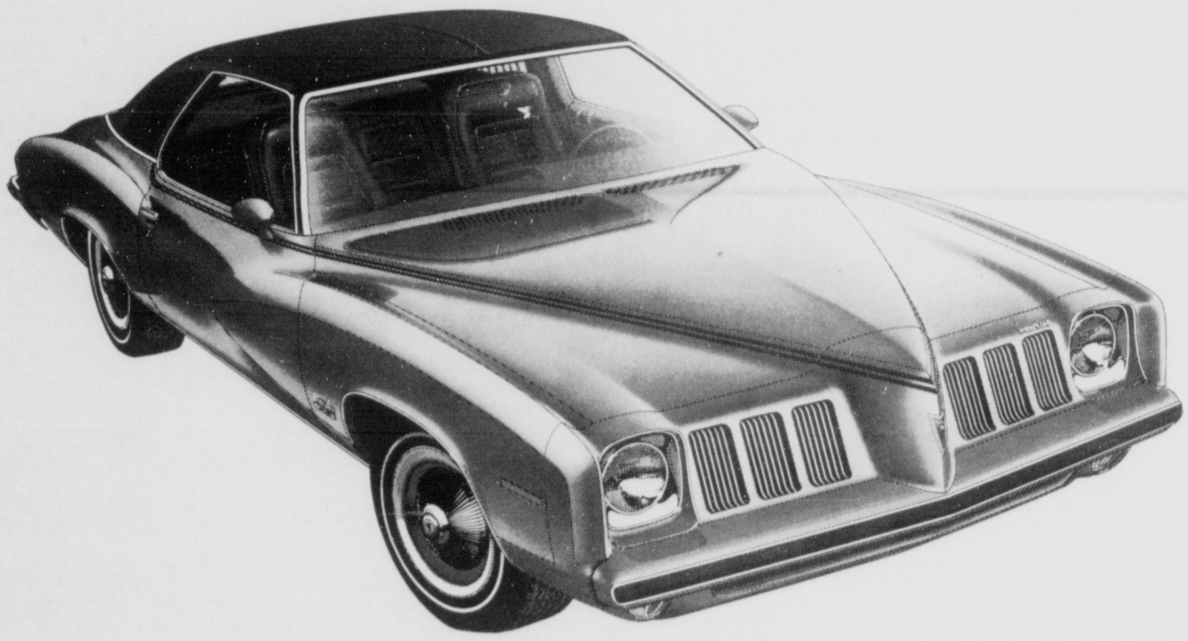
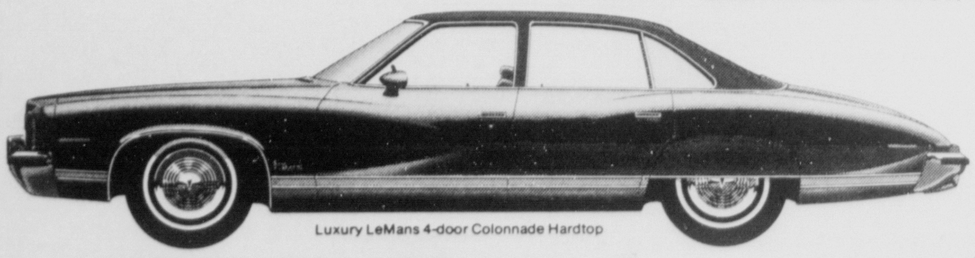
Who in America would introduce a new car like this?



Grand Am with Colonnade Hardtop styling



Luxury LeMans 4-door Colonnade Hardtop

Grand Prix Hardtop Coupe

And a classic like this?

Only Pontiac would.

Pontiac introduces the first Grand Am. It has the feel of a Grand Prix. The handling of a sports car. The characteristics you've admired in fine road cars. That could make it the newest American car ever.

The 1973 Luxury LeMans has been totally restyled. With great benefits. Improved bumpers. Excellent visibility. A strong, new roof.

The classic Grand Prix is designed around a single principle. Spare nothing, compromise nothing, the driver is all-important. You'll understand when you get behind the wheel.

Pontiac has more news, too. New comfort for Catalina, Bonneville and Grand Ville. A new low-priced Ventura Hatchback. For our Firebirds, stronger bumpers, nicer interiors. Shouldn't you see a Pontiac dealer? Soon?

A Story To Chew On

AURORA —Maybe the fellow was an artist, a rare individual with untapped talent, a poetic soul striving to break free.

Then again, maybe he was just drunk.

Artist Vincent Van Gogh cut off his ear in a moment of pique. Lawrence County conservation agent Keith Johnson recently met a man who threatened the same thing --only it was Johnson's ear he was after.

"Bob Walsh (Table Rock Lake supervisor of agents) and I were taking out of Table Rock late one night," Johnson says, "when we noticed two fellows fishing and drinking quite a bit. They weren't having much luck fishing and apparently got disgusted, for they threw their cans into the lake.

"We checked them and arrested them for littering. On the way to jail, one said he was 'mean enough to bite my ear off.'

"He then said that I'd probably charge him with disfigurement if he did that, so while he was at it, he might as well bite my nose off, too.

"Fortunately for me, I didn't let him do it and he was put in jail. When he left, he was $36 lighter as a result of a littering fine and, as far as I know, he hadn't bitten anyone's ear off."

Shooting Event Scheduled

MARSHALL —The Missouri State Rifle and Pistol Assn. will have its first Shooters Fair and Gun Show Sept. 30 at the Buck Snort Rifle Range near here.

The gun show, beginning at 9 a.m. both Saturday and Sunday, will be at the National Guard Armory in Marshall. The Buck Snort Range grounds are east from Highway 65 on Highway UU 3.2 miles to end of blacktop, then follow signs.

Among the many scheduled events will be the Missouri Bowhunters tournament at 9 a.m., shooting demonstrations, retriever dog demonstrations and a turkey shoot.

Other Species Score

JEFFERSON CITY — The bass has ruled the Master Angler roost long enough if applications for the Department of Conservation angling award are any indication.

Normally, the applications are for bass, but in the latest bunch there is only one largemouth bass which exceeds the rigorous minimum qualifying weight.

Most of the applications are for big fish which are not considered sport fish - - until you get one on the end of a fishing line. J. Don Beare of Ballwin caught a 14-pound bowfin at Duck Creek to qualify as a Master Angler.

Kenneth Ray Rogers, Cairo, joined the club with a two-pound, 15¼-ounce bullhead, caught in a farm pond near Higbee. The 21:11 buffalo Bill Sanders of Independence took at the Pomme de Terre dam qualified him, as did the 21:04 drum Johnny Robert Bruffett of Forsyth caught on Bull Shoals.

Mrs. Cleo Pickett, Springfield, missed a state record with her 33 pound drum, caught on Bull Shoals, because the fish (which originally weighed 37½ pounds) shrank below the listed record of 34 pounds before she had it authenticated.

Even more depressing for Mrs. Pickett is word from South Dakota which says that in 1971 Alvin Williams of Yankton, S.D., caught a 36.08 drum from the Missouri River in South Dakota which is the official world record -- so Mrs. Pickett's fish, had it been authenticated fresh- caught, would have topped the listed world record.

Sunfish anglers defied summer doldrums to qualify with big bluegill. Kenneth Ridgway, Clark, caught one 2:02 in a farm pond. Robert Helms, Savannah, caught a two-pounder in a farm pond, Alan Grayson, Steelville, took one 1:08 in a farm pond, and Timothy Sullivan, seven years old, Florissant, caught a one pounder at Hunnewell Wildlife Area.

Opie Nichols, Jefferson City, qualified with a 2:08 crappie caught on Lake of the Ozarks, while Jack Saar, Jefferson City, did it with a 2:08 crappie, also caught on Lake of Ozarks.

David Gould, Blue Eye, caught an eight-pound rainbow trout on Lake Taneycomo to qualify and Grant Spinning, Garden City, qualified with an 8:09 largemouth bass.

There were three outstanding smallmouth bass qualifiers: Russell Jacobs, Higginsville, with a 4:08 trophy caught on the Gasconade River; James Larramore, Lesterville, with one 4:04, caught on Black River; and Paul Wylie, Jefferson City, with one 3:12 caught on the Gasconade.

Minimum weights in pounds, by species, for Master Angler awards are: largemouth bass 8, smallmouth 3, spotted or Kentucky 4, striped 30, white 3, bluegill 1, bowfin 10, buffalo 20, carp 20, blue catfish 40, bullhead 2, channel cat 12, flathead 40, crappie 2.5, freshwater drum 20, gar 10, goggle-eye or rock bass 1, Kokanee salmon 2, muskellunge 15, paddlefish 50, northern pike 10, redhorse sucker 3, green sunfish 1, longear sunfish 1, redear sunfish 1, brown trout 7, rainbow trout 7, walleye 9.

Applications are available from most Department of Conservation field personnel or from department headquarers, North Ten Mile Drive, Jefferson City, Mo. 65101.

What's The Law

The Case Of The Practical Joker

By Jack Strauss LL. B.

Timmy and Tommy entered a small grocery store and, waving a .38 caliber pistol under the unflinching nose of the proprietor, Timmy demanded his money or his life. With a shrug of his shoulders, the shopkeeper advised Timmy to start shooting because he had no money, whereupon, Tommy shrugged his shoulders and left the store.

With such lackluster participants, Timmy decided to forget the whole thing and left also. But three days later he was picked up by the police and was charged with attempted robbery.

"That's the fella', all right," the shopkeeper told the judge. "He came into my store acting like he was dease dames."

"I can't be convicted without some proof that I intended to rob him," was Timmy's answer, "and there is no such proof. The fact is, the whole thing could have been a practical joke."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you convict the practical joker of attempted robbery?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that Timmy's actions were sufficient proof under the circumstances that he intended to rob the storekeeper. Pointing a gun at the proprietor and demanding his money left no other reasonable inference.

The laternate inference urged by Timmy, that he might have intended only to perpetrate a practical joke, concluded the judge, is best answered by the comment Molly used to make on "Dobber McGee and Molly" show in the '30s: "Tain't funny, McGee."

FRENCH BALLET

NEW YORK (AP) — The Ballet Theatre Contemporain of France will perform in the United States next November, the first French dance company to visit here since Roland Petit brought a company in 1954 and 1958.

Mme Francoise Adret, director of the four-year-old company, made the announcement at the French Cultural Services office that the company of 33 dancers will appear in New York, New Orleans, Miami and Atlanta. Mme Adret said: "If we have a success, we will come back to more cities next year.

The company was formed under Andre Malreaux, minister of culture, with the idea of export in mind, and is supported by the French government.

Is Content Country Singer

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — You won't have to look far to find singer Carl Smith—he's the one who looks like a ranch hand, sitting underneath a big tree with his wide-brimmed hat beside him. He's communing with nature.

"I'm very contented," he smiled, brushing the long hair back from his brow. "I live the life of Riley, truthfully. I just do what I want to do."

Wearing blue jeans, a t-shirt and tennis shoes, Smith, a giant in country music, admited, "I have ambition, but I don't have any ambition to be the No. 1 cat in the country-too much trouble."

"I was there once and it's a lot of aggravation," he grinned, glancing at his wife, Goldie, who at one time was the top female singer in country music.

During the past few years, Smith, 45, has cut down on personal appearances and now only goes on the road on weekends.

The Maynardville, Tenn., native spends every free minute around his 500-acre farm in Williamson County, chatting with the ranch hands, working with his horses, playing with his three children. Sometimes he drives the 20 miles to Nashville to cut another record that's almost guaranteed to be a hit.

"I'd like to be rich and unknown and retired," he confided before breaking into easy laughter.

Looking back over 22 years as a recording artist, Smith conceded he wouldn't do anything any other way, at least, "nothing I can talk about."

"Career-wise, I didn't think I would have changed anything. I've been very consistent. I've been very fortunate really. Things could have been better but they sure as hell could have been worse," he quipped.

He attributes his success to "guts," then gets serious long enough to say, "I have never understood why anybody would buy a ticket to see me and I have never understood why anybody would buy one of my records. It amazes me."

But when asked whether he would, he laughed, "Yeah, cause I'm pretty good."

"I don't particularly want an audience to remember anything-I just want them to forget everybody except me that was on the show."

Smith, who wants to be remembered as a "pretty good ole boy," said he hasn't changed in years.

"Musically, I've changed the style of my records in the last year by going to orchestration.

"During the years I've been recording I've done a little bit of everything from rock 'n roll to bluegrass to straight country and western swing, but I never had done this.

"I'm not really experimenting now — I'm just doing something I wanted to do."

Smith has never been too caught up in other facets of the music business. "I'm not the kind to be in the publishing business for example, because

New Lawn Mower Is Safe, Cheap

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A pair of ungainly yardbirds have done all the lawn mowing at Jack Armstrong's house for almost four months, and for next to nothing.

But this is not for everyone. You have to be director of a zoo, and it has to have some baby ostriches.

There was great joy at the Kansas City Zoo this spring when an Ostrich egg was successfully hatched. Armstrong moved the baby to his home for safe-keeping, since two-year-old ostriches are worth about $1,000. Armstrong also got a hatchling from another zoo to keep it company.

It was late in May that the zoo director discovered what efficient lawn trimmers he has. They crop right up to walks and walls, around trees and under the shrubbery.

Natural lawn care has not been an unmixed blessing. Ostrich droppings are just about what you'd expect from the world's largest birds.

Parks Will Charge Fees After January 1

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — After Jan. 1 it will cost money to get into any of Missouri's 56 state parks and historical sites, state Parks Director Joseph Jaeger Jr. said today.

The state Parks Board, trying to raise $30.2 million for a five-year capital improvements program, announced it will institute user fees next year.

Admittance to parks now is free.

Camping fees of $2, $2.50 and $3 will remain the same, a park board spokesman said.

Permits for year-round use for any park will be $10 apiece and will go on sale Dec. 1. An annual permit for a specific state park will be $3. A one-day permit, which would allow entrance to any number of parks during a 24-hour period, will cost $1.

The permits can be purchased after Dec. 1 from any state park or historic site office, at the Brookfield, Festus and Lebanon regional offices, the Columbia Historical Survey office or the Central office in Jefferson City.

Additional facilities are needed to meet a growing demand, Jaeger said.

The state parks can expect a 64 per cent increase in attendance during the present decade, Jaeger said. This would mean that by 1980 nearly 23 million persons would visit Missouri's state parks.

The proposed capital improvements program includes $5.5 million for campground developments, $2.1 million for concession development and $1.1 million for historical restoration.

"With the state's present fiscal outlook, it is simply impractical to expect that the needed revenue for state parks will come from the legislature," Jaeger said.

"The people who use the state parks will have to be the ones who help support them."

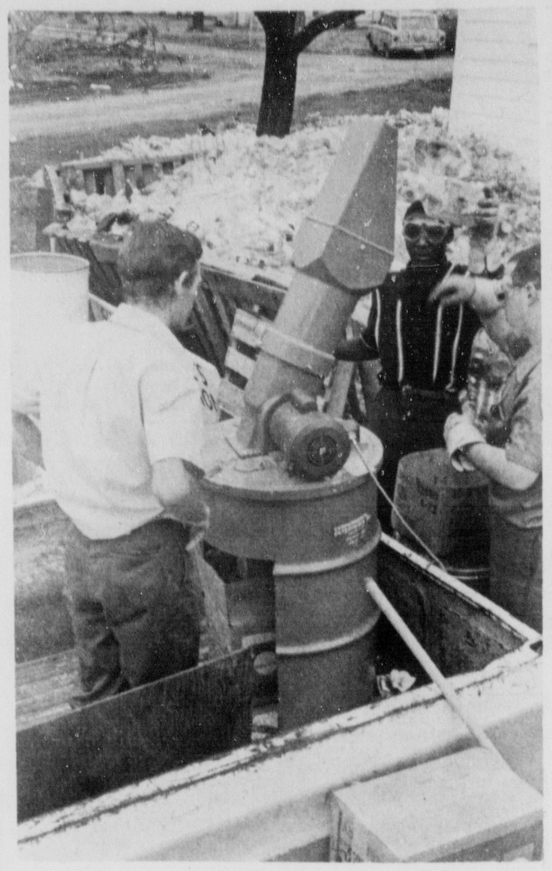
Coffee Corner by Cherie

How often I've heard people say, "Oh, I love my children at this age so, I wish they'd never grow up!" — and what if they didn't? Then, your child might be one of many in a sixty mile radius who is being taught ways in which to help himself earn a place in our society at the Community Shelter Workshop.

I am not much on some of our local or federal planned programs, but this group of handicapped people seemed so happy and so interested and so involved in what they were doing that I think any of you would be enthusiastic about this program.

I was asked this week to please write something in the "Corner" about the glass recycling program out at the Shelter; because the gentleman thought that through a column such as mine the women might be reached. Therefore, I promised to look into it, and today I went to see for myself what it was all about. I saw kindergarten age children in adult bodies ranging in ages from sixteen to fifty-six working at various jobs and all appearing to be as well groomed and cared for, and just as happy as those kindergarten children whose bodies fit their age. This is what impressed me and made me go away from this Workshop feeling good instead of being depressed as I was so afraid I would be. I had before me a group of people who were learning, who were working, and who were also getting a chance to be with others like themselves with which they could communicate and feel free with, instead of being by themselves or with adults who could never quite understand their problems. I talked with Mrs. Fredra King, a supervisor of the workshop, for a few minutes, and she said, "If I could only write, oh I could tell people how these young - old adults have come to us knowing nothing, and how much we've taught them," and I could tell just by looking at her when she said this and by watching her actions with these people how much this program and the results really meant to her.

One of the jobs these children (I know they aren't, but again they are, and if you don't mind I prefer to think of them as such), do is glass recycling. Our Jaycees bought the Workshop this machine, and the boys feed glass bottles into it, it comes out crushed, they box the crushed glass, it's sent to a plant where it's melted down and made into bottles again, and for doing this, the boys get paid so much per pound of glass. This will eliminate those broken bottles around your trash can, cause the city dump not to fill up as fast, and believe me, give you a wonderful feeling when you arrive at the Workshop with your load of bottles for the youngsters to take. We ask only that you rinse out the bottles and remove the lids — don't worry about the labels, they don't matter. They are also taking Stag beer cans and recycling those too; but just that brand only please. You may take your bottles out to the Shelter anytime and leave them (it's located behind the public kindergarten out by the airport), but if you go between eight and five, Monday thru Friday, the boys will unload them for you. Put a big plastic trash bag out and simply drop your bottles in and when that's full drive out and leave them where they'll do some good. Handicapped people deserve a chance, and remember, this could strike anyone of you at anytime — and what if YOUR child didn't grow up?



BONNARD NEWELL of Gray Ridge supervises the glass crushing operation at the sheltered workshop. Marvin Barker of Charleston, center, drops a bottle into the crusher as Wilson Crutcher of Essex grabs another clear bottle to crush. The machine can crush over 500 pounds per hour, depending on the condition of the bottles.

Senate Approves Crime Compensation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has approved legislation to compensate victims of crime and the "good Samaritans" who go to their rescue.

The amendment was attached to an omnibus crime bill which passed the Senate by a 74-0 vote Monday. The bill also would make it a federal crime to kill a policeman or fireman.

The bill now goes to a SenateHouse conference to resolve differences.

Arguing for adoption of his proposal, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said government for too long has neglected the victims of violent crimes and others injured while trying to aid them.

In an unusual parliamentary tactic, Mansfield's $15-million plan was passed twice—the first time on its merits and the second time attached to the House-passed omnibus crime measure.

Mansfield said he hoped by this maneuver to get his proposed compensation bill before House-Senate conferees for possible passage this Congress. The House has taken no action on the compensation plan.

The bill would pay victims for medical and burial expenses, loss of earnings and support, therapeutic costs and child-care expenses to enable one parent to work. Victims would not be repaid for property losses but intervenors—the so-called good Samaritans— would be.

The administration reportedly opposes the bill as being premature.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., DN.C., said it would further burden the taxpayer who he said "is innocent in this, too."

Another amendment to the omnibus crime package would make it a federal crime to kill, injure or assault a policeman, fireman or judicial officer because of his official position.

The vote was 46 to 23 in favor of the proposal by Sen. Richard S. Schweiker, R-Pa.

Another provision would establish a federally subsidized group-life insurance plan for state and local policemen, firemen and other public-safety officers. The cost was put at $22 million annually.

Sen. Roman L. Hruska, RNeb., also won passage of an amendment to extend until June 30, 1974, the Omnibus Crime Control Act of 1968, at an estimated cost of $1.74 billion for the extra year.

Two other crime bills passed by the Senate Sept. 5 were wrapped into the omnibus bill. One would authorize a $50,000 payment to dependents of policemen, firemen and other law-enforcement officers slain on duty. The other would make available antitrust-type civil remedies to victims of theft and racketeering, allowing them, for instance, to sue for treble damages.

Smokers May Have Back Seat In Planes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans, who are smoking more now than at any time in the last four years, may soon have to take a back seat on U.S. airlines.

Americans 18 and over will average 204 packs of cigarettes apiece this year, the most since 1968, the Agriculture Department predicted Monday. That's a two-pack increase over last year.

The average is for all Americans over 18, both smokers and nonsmokers.

Meanwhile, the Civil Aeronautics Board Monday proposed a new rule to require segregation of smokers to the rear of the aircraft on all airlines, including charter and local service lines.

The CAB said it will wait until Nov. 3 before making a final decision on the rule, and will receive comments on it until that time.

Most trunk airlines already segregate smokers, while charter and local service lines usually do not.

Consumer advocate Ralph Nader has asked that smoking be banned on planes on grounds it is hazardous.

The Federal Aviation Administration ruled that smoking by passengers was not hazardous, but noted that more than 60 per cent of nonsmoking passengers complained that smoking by others was a nuisance.

NIXON'S MAKE BELIEVE

The world of make believe is with us in full force now the presidential race is on. We are asked to believe on presidential imprimatur that inflation, crime and unemployment are well under control.

Mr. Nixon really takes us all for functional illiterates on the Vietnam question. He says, for example, that he will never abandon our prisoners of war (as if McGovern were proposing this) but as long as he continues the war he is not only abandoning them, he is endangering their lives and is daily adding to their number.

He says he will not join our enemies and impose a Communist government on our allies. Does anybody seriously question that the South Vietnamese people would prefer any form of government to being "democratically' bombed to death? What really is the difference between the Thieu government and that of the North except that Thieu masquerades as a democratically elected leader? It is time we admitted we have never had any overriding concern with the welfare of the South Vietnamese people, only with a continuing military liaison with its government.

And the President is at his pious best when he assures us he will not stain the honor of the United States by abandoning our ally. Is the Nixon Administration the only place in the world that is unaware that the stain, not to say the abomination, is already in full view of the world as we bomb this backward little country with the fury of men gone mad? The world would applaud our leaving this ravaged country to settle its own problems. We would not be forsaking an ally, only a military protege who has governed cruelly and undemocratically and then only by our pleasure and sponsorship.

And lastly, it is incomprehensible to me that Mr. Nixon can urge us to think of the Tanyas in China, Russia and America (don't know how we got on the list) "as we proudly meet our responsibilities for leadership in the world" and be oblivious of the thousands upon thousands of Tanyas we have personally created in Vietnam.

PEANUT BRITTLE ICE CREAM — Adapted from a recipe given almost 50 years ago by Dr. George Washington Carver.

Dr. Carver's Peanut Brittle Ice Cream

By Cecily Brownstone
Associated Press Food Editor

A marvelous way to treat ice cream was suggested almost 50 years ago by George Washington Carver, who gained national fame because of his scientific research at Tuskegee Institute. Dr. Carver in his 1925 bulletin, "How to Grow the Peanut and 105 Ways of Preparing it for Human Consumption," wrote:

"Make a quart of lemon or vanilla ice cream by the usual rule; when this is half frozen, take out the dasher and add 1/2 pound of peanut brittle or two or three bars of peanut candy previously put through the meat chopper."

In preparing this great dessert we used vanilla rather than lemon ice cream, the bought kind rather than the homemade. And peanut brittle instead of peanut candy bars went in. We also embellished the peanut brittle ice cream with a bittersweet chocolate sauce. If you try this idea we think you'll enjoy it as much as our tasters did.

PEANUT BRITTLE ICE CREAM WITH BITTERSWEET CHOCOLATE SAUCE

1/2 gallon vanilla ice cream
1 1/2 cups crushed peanut brittle, about 10 ounces
Bittersweet Chocolate Sauce, see below

Let ice cream stand at room temperature until it softens enough to scoop out easily — 10 to 15 minutes, depending on hardness of ice cream and temperature of room.

Scoop out ice cream by large spoonfuls and place in a large mixing bowl. After several scoops, sprinkle some of the peanut brittle over the ice cream. Continue scooping and sprinkling until the ice cream is all in the bowl. Stir just enough to barely mix, then return ice cream to container. Refreeze.

Top servings of the ice cream with Bittersweet Chocolate Sauce. If you are planning to serve all the ice cream at one time and want more chocolate sauce, make up two batchs of the recipe, but don't double it.

Makes 16 servings of the ice cream.

Note: To crush peanut brittle, place pieces of the brittle in a plastic bag. Arrange bag so that more than one thickness of bag covers brittle. Lightly pound with a mallet or the side of a meat tenderizer to break up to peanut size.

BITTERSWEET CHOCOLATE SAUCE

1/2 cup water
3 squares (3 ounces) unsweetened chocolate
3/4 cup sugar
1/4 cup butter
1 teaspoon vanilla

Into a small saucepan pour the water; add chocolate. Place over low heat to melt chocolate, stirring constantly. Gradually add sugar, stirring to dissolve sugar after each addition. Continue to cook, stirring, for 5 minutes. Remove from heat. Add butter and vanilla and stir until butter is melted. Set pan aside to cool completely; do not stir during cooling.

If sauce is to be served within a couple of hours, leave at room temperature. If made farther ahead, pour into a glass jar, cover tightly and refrigerate. Remove from refrigerator an hour or two before serving time and place in a pan of hot water (off heat) to soften. Or remove from refrigerator at serving time and place jar of sauce in a small pan of warm water; stir sauce over low heat until it softens.

Makes about 1 1/2 cups.

Go Pennsylvania Dutch

SMOKED HAM, a favorite of Pennsylvania Dutch folks, inspired the recipe for this Ham Loaf. Serve with spiced fruits, an ideal accompaniment for the meat.

The Pennsylvania Dutch have always had the courage to be themselves. Their way of life is simple, and they cannot be budged from their principles. These "plain people" make good use of their rich farmlands to produce the foods that laden their tables. They hold closely to the belief that food is God's reward for hard labor.

These friendly, warm-hearted folks love to eat! Their food is solid fare, more practical than imaginative, but always good. And there's plenty of its.

Over the years many tasty dishes have been perfected by Pennsylvania Dutch housewives through the blending of the traditional cooking from their ancestral homelands with their own home- grown products.

Smoked ham is one favorite of the Pennsylvania Dutch.

This recipe for Ham Loaf gets its tangy, spicy flavor from Apple Cider Vinegar and Mild Mustard. It will be a favorite of yours, too!

HAM LOAF

1-1/2 pounds ground pork
1 pound ground smoked ham
1 cup soft bread crumbs
1 cup milk
2 eggs
1 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
1/2 cup apple cider vinegar
1/2 cup water
1 tablespoon mild mustard

Heat oven to 350 degrees F. Combine first 5 ingredients; shape into a loaf (12" x 4" x 2") in baking pan (13" x 9" x 2"). Blend sugar and remaining ingredients; pour over loaf. Bake 2 hours, basting occasionally. Spoon excess fat from drippings; serve remaining sauce over ham loaf. Makes 8-10 servings.

Sweets and sours are served at almost every meal. Try this recipe for Spiced Fruit. It makes an ideal accompaniment for the ham loaf. cSPICED FRUIT

*1 can (1 pound 13 ounces) peaches or pears
1/4 cup apple cider vinegar
1/2 teaspoon whole cloves
1 (3-inch) cinnamon stick

Drain fruit reserving syrup. Add vinegar, cloves and cinnamon stick to fruit syrup; simmer 10 minutes. Add fruit; simmer an additional 5 minutes. Cover; refrigerate overnight to blend flavors. Serve chilled as a meat accompaniment or on the relish tray.

*1 can (1 pound 14 ounces) apricots may be substituted.

NOTE: Fruit will keep up to one month in refrigerator. Remove spices at the end of the second week.

NOBEL SOUGHT PEACE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The founder of the most renowned peace prize wanted to make war so horrible man would never take up arms again.

Alfred Nobel, whose annual prizes are financed by a fortune based on his invention of dynamite, once said:

"I wish I could produce a substance or invent a machine of such frightful efficacy for wholesale destruction that wars should thereby become altogether impossible."

The Swedish inventor and semi-recluse put his brooding thoughts that way to an Austrian noblewoman, Bertha von Suttner, a life-long friend and champion of peace movements during the period of aggressive imperialism that led up to World War I.

Army's senior outside end, Ed Francis of West Haven, Conn., caught 23 passes last season.

Reading Is A Fundamental Right

BY U.S. SENATOR
THOMAS F. EAGLETON

We think of America as a land of opportunity — an American nation with sophisticated technology and a highly developed society. Yet in many parts of the country there are still people who must truly be called "backward" for the whole reason that they cannot read.

They lack a fundamental skill — one absolutely necessary to survive the increasing complexity and diversity of American life.

Recently released test license tests, write checks, secures from the federal read newspapers, or help their government's Office of children with homework.

Education show that both America's future strength inner city and rural schools are depends on the ability of its suffering from a sharp decline citizens to make mature and in student reading reasoned decisions, but for too performance. long the government has

Throughout the country, hesitated in helping its citizens some 10 million children are equip themselves for their severely deficient in reading responsibilities.

Moreover, the most recent Nixon Failures information indicates that 18 Three years ago, the Nixon percent of the country Administration began to talk are functionally illiterate. That about a "Right to Read" is, their reading is so poor that program which James Allen, they cannot take driver's then U.S. Commissioner of Education, announced in October, 1969.

At the time, he pledged that $200 million would be invested in a far- reaching program to teach America's children to read.

But it soon became clear that the Administration's rhetoric once again would outdistance its performance. The "Right to Read" was largely an illusion. It soon turned out that most of the promised funding would go to other programs.

Almost three years have passed since this ambitious concept was announced. Dr. Allen, its main proponent and an outstanding educator, was forced to leave the Administration when he criticized the invasion of Cambodia and the handling of racial problems here at home. In the meantime, his dream of a right to read for every American has become a game of educational politics.

National Reading Improvement Act of 1972

To make up for these past failures, I hve introduced a bill into Congress entitled the National Reading Improvement Act of 1972, and I am hopeful that positive action will be taken on it very quickly.

Among other things, my bill would:

— Establish a coordinating office within the Office of Education to oversee the various reading improvements programs for adults and children.

— Authorize the U.S. Commissioner of Education to make contracts with state governments to develop reading programs for adults and children, and to improve on those that already exist.

— Authorize funds for the training and retraining of teachers involved in these programs, and authorize funds for the acquisition of teaching materials.

— Authorize the National Institute of Education to conduct research on the use of new technology in reading programs.

I am hopeful that this legislation — which is real, not an illusion — will receive careful consideration by Congress and by the organizations which represent teachers and parents. For every American, the right to read is one of the most fundamental, and one which this bill should begin to provide.

The grave problem of unemployment among Vietnam era veterans was starkly outlined recently at a "Veterans Information Day" in Washington that 1 attended alongwith a number of other Senators and Congressmen.

The program, held under the auspices of groups including the Veterans Administration and the National Committee — Jobs for Veterans, helped highlight the fact that far too many of our young men have been unable to find jobs when they have returned from overseas to the nation they served so well.

While some progress has been made in getting jobs for these men during the past year, the unemployment rate for returning veterans still is nearly 9%, meaning that over 300,000 vets across the country are jobless.

In Missouri the picture is marginally better, with a veterans unemployment rate of 8%. If we are to maintain their respect and make good use of the valuable services veterans have to offer, we are going to have to make it a top priority to find meaningful jobs for them.

'We Need A Doctor,' Missouri Town Writes

COLUMBIA, Mo. – "This city is in need of additional medical facilities, thus we the undersigned, a group of interested and concerned citizens of Dixon and surrounding community, having knowledge of the sincerity, desire and intent of Richard L. Breeden to procure the degree of medical doctor."

And there are the signatures of 990 citizens of Dixon, Iberia, Crocker and Swedeborg in rural south Central Missouri, "requesting favorable consideration" of Richard Breeden's application to medical school.

A letter from the Pulaski County Development Council accompanied the petition to the dean of the School of Medicine at the University of Missouri – Columbia. It explained that the council had conducted a county- wide survey and found that medical needs topped the list of concerns of the citizens. The community (population 1,473) now has one medical doctor 65 years of age and one osteopathic physician.

"The concern of my community coincides with my desire to practice medicine," 21- year- old Richard Breeden said, admitting that he is proud, yet a little embarrassed by the petition and his community's support. "The people of Dixon have placed an extraordinary amount of faith in me; I cannot disappoint them."

Richard Breeden is one of the 110 entering medical students at UMC this year, selected by the admissions committee fr575 Missouri and 950 out- of- state applicants.

But it was not just because his community backed him that he was accepted. Personal attributes, motivation, grades and likelihood of completing the difficult course are all taken into consideration in interviewing and assessing every Missouri applicant.

Breeden is representative of many of the new students. A 1972 graduate of the University (Columbia campus) in pre-med studies, his scholastic potential ranks him in the upper seventh percentile in quantitative ability. He had a 3.14 (out of4) cumulative grade point average although he worked throughout his college career, with the exception of his first semester.

His working hours ranged from 15 to 35 hours a week and he held jobs, at various times, as a keypunch operator, waiter, lab technician, physics tutor and Latin tutor. During summer vacations, he worked in a shoe factory, as a waiter, salesman for a potato chip company and ambulance driver. His father is a budget analyst, his mother a "housewife." He is the youngest of four children.

While the majority of the new medical students are in the 21-22 age bracket, 20 of them are 25 or older. Three are 33.

In the over-30 category is Lynn Leigh, from Parma in the Missouri Bootheel.

"Finally, it was a success, but I wasn't enjoying my work," Leigh explained. "My mother was the only M.D. in our community of 1,100 for 40 years, had something I wanted: a high degree of responsibility and trust. He did something I want to do. He practiced until he was 83."

So Leigh, now 31, who had received his degree in business administration at UMC in 1963, gave up his successful insurance and real estate business. Married and the father of two young children, he re- entered UMC last year to take chemistry and other science courses he needed before applying to medical school.

Mary Ann Cross, 21, comes from Hopkins, a village in Nodaway County in northwest Missouri. Valedictorian of her high school class and player on the all- conference girls' basketball team, she enrolled at Northwest Missouri State College. There she achieved a 3.44 average in science and 3.70 in non- science courses.

"In my small town there were always sick people who had no type of medical care available to them," Mary Ann said, emphasizing her desire to become a physician.

Not all of the 110 students come from small towns. The largest group is from St. Louis city and county, consistent with the percentage of population in the urban areas of Missouri.

Sixteen of the entering students are women, including a former nun who taught biological sciences to high school students. And there's an exuberant ex- cocktail waitress who was self- supporting throughout her undergraduate years; besides waiting tables she also has been a laboratory technician and research assistant – sometimes holding two or three jobs at a time.

One student has completed a doctor of philosophy degree, nine have masters' degrees and 36 attended graduate schools and have accumulated some hours following the bachelor's degree.

Only one three- year undergraduate non- degree applicant was accepted; he had a straight 4- point average at Washington University.

Another student, 29, was a college flunk- out 10 years ago but during seven years' Army service has acquired almost enough hours for a bachelor's degree, along with a mature approach to life. "I had no purpose in going to college when I was 18," he confided. "Now I am positive about what I want to do with my life."

A majority of the new medical students come from families with parents engaged in sales, clerical, labor and farm work and will need loan and scholarship aid, Dr. M. J. Rosenholtz, assistant dean for admissions, noted. He added that an aconiahingly large number express interest in family practice in rural Missouri when they complete their schooling.

"Missouri definitely needs these kinds of physcians," Rosenholtz said, "but our admissions committee is also looking for those students who will become the future teachers in medical schools, and for those future scientists- researchers necessary to solve the problems of prevention and cure of disease."

Allotments Mailed To Schools

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) – An allotment of $84,974,118 of state aid to schools under the school foundation program was mailed to county treasurers Friday.

It was the first of four distributions of state aid for this school year. Others will come in December, March and May.

The legislature boosted state aid to schools to $338 million this year and the September payment is about 28 per cent of that.

Last year the September allotment was $84,007,969 or about 29 per cent of the $304 million appropriated.

Last Moon Flight In December

WASHINGTON (AP) — American astronauts are scheduled to make their last lunar landing in the Apollo series of space flight exploration on Dec. 11, the space agency says.

It will be the sixth moon visit by man and will also represent the longest stay yet on the moon's surface. And it will be the first night launching of manned spacecraft.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Monday the evening launch hour was scheduled to make possible a lunar landing at the desired sun angle just south of the moon's Taurus mountains and Littrow crater.

Taurus—Littrow, a combination of mountain-dotted highlands and valley-strewn lowlands, was labeled by NASA as a keystone site to fill in major gaps in the developing model of the moon. The site was selected on the basis of Apollo 15 orbital photography and on the recommendation of Apollo 15 astronaut Alfred M. Worden.

The Saturn V rocket is scheduled to blast off from Cape Kennedy, Fla., at 9:53 p.m. EST Dec. 6. The lunar landing is scheduled for 2:55 p.m. EST, Dec. 11.

Mission commander will be Navy Capt. Eugene A. Cernan, 38, a veteran of 264½ hours in space. His two companions - civilian geologist Dr. Harrison H. Jack Schmitt, 37, the lunar module pilot, and Navy Cdr. Ronald E. Evans, 38, command module pilot-will be making their first space flight.

Cernan and Schmitt are scheduled to make three seven-hour ventures onto the moon's surface. They also will use the lunar rover, as did the astronauts on Apollo 16.

Sr. Citizens To Have Day At Mid-South Fair

MEMPHIS — Senior citizens will have their special day at this year's Mid- South Fair. It is Friday, Sept. 29, and during the hours of 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., all senior citizens will be admitted free to the grounds.

And that's not all. Once inside the grounds, the oldsters will have plenty to do and see. Probably the biggest project is the senior citizens talent show and all performers who would like to enter the contest are urged to contact Mrs. Helen Dixon, Memphis Park Commission, 2599 Avery, Memphis, phone number 324-3515.

A total of 75 candidates will make up the field for the 1972 Miss Youth Personality Contest at the Mid- South Fair.

The lucky girl will be selected on Sunday, Sept. 24, and she will immediately assume her pleasant duties of co- hosting with Miss Mid- South Fair, Ellen Jarrett, at various Fair activities.

The Mid- South Fair's Drug Awareness Poster Contest, open to anyone between the ages of 11 and 17 inclusive, will close its entry list on Thursday, Sept. 14.

Cash prizes totaling $100 will go to the first three winners in each of the two age groups (11-14 and 15-17). There will also be 10 honorable mention ribbons with free admission tickets to the fair.

Winning posters will be exhibited during the fair, Sept. 22-30, in the Drug Awareness Exhibit at the Youth Center.

Posters can be of any size or medium and should be taken or mailed to The American Red Cross, Memphis Area Chapter, 1400 Central Ave., Memphis 38104. All posters become the property of the Mid- South Fair. The contest and the Drug Awareness Exhibit are sponsored by Plough, Inc.
